NEW REPUBLIC IS RECOGNIZED

Officials in Panama Are So Instructed from Washington.

WAS NO BLOODSHED

Colombian General Said to Have Received $8,000 in Gold for Evacuating Colon.

COGHLAN GOES TO ISTHMUS

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

Colon, Colombia, Nov. 6.—The avoidance of bloodshed in Colon following the proclamation of independence, the maintenance of perfect order and the withdrawal of the Colombian troops from the city are looked upon as in great part due to the courage and ability displayed by Commander Hubbard of the United States gunboat Nashville, to the bravery of her officers and men and to the tact of Col. Shaler, superintendent of the Panama railroad. Col. Black of the United States engineer corps and Senor Porfirio Melendez, the new civil and military governor of Colon, also rendered signal service during the critical situation, which found its peaceful settlement in the embarkation of Col. Torres and his troops on the Orinoco. The embarkation took place just prior to the arrival of the United States cruiser Dixie, whose marines guarded the town last night. All of the Dixie's marines have now returned to their ship.

During the day Senor Cuadros, prefect of Colon, and Alcalde Guerriero were arrested and sent to Panama by train.

It is reported that there are several persons in Colon who are discontented with the new order of things, but it is said that they are being carefully watched. Everything here is now quiet and the population is rejoicing. All during the day fireworks were everywhere displayed.

Nashville Goes on Cruise.

The Nashville sailed this afternoon for a cruise along the coast, with the object of preventing the rumored efforts of the Colombian gunboat Cartagena to land troops in Porto Bello.

The critical situation of Wednesday began when the troops under Col. Torres took an aggressive position in the vicinity of the railroad building, and the lives of Americans for a time seemed threatened. Today's Panama Star and Herald says that, according to information in its possession, Col. Torres got the sum of $8,000 in gold from the treasurer of the new republic just previous to embarking.

No permanent appointments of local officers have yet been made by the government.

Shortly before the flag of the republic of Panama was formally hoisted over the prefecture here this morning the new civil and military governor, Porfirio Melendez, delivered an oration. He said, in part:

"The government of this new-born republic aspires to give the isthmus a definite and true era of progress, so that it may not remain behind in the advance of civilization. The supreme board, which I represent, desires nothing else but to found a government of and for all citizens. Let us unite in the spirit of truth without hatred or rancor towards any, and, after giving thanks to the Almighty for the happy consummation of this transcendent and bloodless act, assist me in saying with enthusiasm and decision, 'Long live the isthmus; long live the republic of Panama.'"

The consular corps at Colon was pres-

NINE ARE DEAD AFTER A FIRE

TWO HEROES IN LIST

FOUR BODIES RECOVERED

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Virginia City, Mont., Nov. 6.—Nine lives were lost today in a fire that almost destroyed the inner workings of the Kearsarge gold mine, six miles from this city. The damage to the surface buildings is slight, the principal damage being to the facing at the mine entrance. Among the victims is R. B. Turner, the superintendent of the mine.

THE DEAD.

R. B. TURNER, superintendent of Kearsarge mine.
GEORGE ALLEN, stationary engineer.
JOHN TOBIN, a miner.
JAMES POWERS, a miner.
LARRE DYE, a miner.
WILLIAM FLEMING, a miner.
ROBERT DONNELLY a miner.
TWO UNKNOWN MEN, miners.

All of the dead miners were from Butte and were single men. The Kearsarge mine is one of the largest and best gold mines in this state and is operated by the Alder Mining Company. The origin of the fire is unknown.

The flames were discovered shortly after 5 o'clock this morning and, in response to the general alarm sent out, the miners and laborers from the mines across the gulch hastened to the assistance of those in the burning mine. In vain the men tried to extinguish the flames in the burning tunnel house in order that rescuers might reach the entombed miners.

Finally Superintendent R. B. Turner, with John Hurley and another miner whose name has not been learned, forced their way through the flames to the air shaft and entered. Near the entrance they found the dead body of a miner, and this was brought to the surface. Again the trio entered, and Hurley, who was last, said he heard a scream of agony and then two dull thuds as the brave men in front of him pitched headlong down the shaft.

Hurley tried to go farther down the shaft, but the intense heat forced him back to the surface. Up until a late hour this afternoon the bodies of Powers, Tobin, Fleming and Donnelly were the only ones that had been recovered.

Turner had been connected with the company for several years as superintendent of the mine and was one of the best known mining experts in the northwest. He is survived by a widow and family, who reside in Virginia City.

Turner was acknowledged the leading authority on cyaniding in America. He was a member of the American Society of Mining Engineers. His father was formerly state auditor of Colorado. Turner had a foreboding that he would die before he was 36, as a brother, Frank Turner, met a violent death in Arizona some years ago when just 35, and other members of the family have been killed at that age.

GERMAN GARRISON MURDERED BY NATIVES

LONDON, Nov. 7.—The Cape Town correspondent of the Daily Mail reports that the German police post of Usibis have been surrounded and the garrison murdered, and that the German garrison of 60 white soldiers at Keetmanshoop have been attacked.

AN AMERICAN STEAMSHIP RUNS DOMINICAN BLOCKADE

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

PUERTO PLATA, SANTO DOMINGO, Nov. 6.—The Clyde line steamship Cherokee has run the blockade and is now discharging her cargo here. The government gunboat had orders to sink her if she tried to force the blockade. The government at San Domingo has directed that the cargo which was destined for Puerto Plata and Samana should be delivered at the capital so that the government could get the duties. The captain of the Cherokee refused to do this and protested to United States Minister Powell. Now that the Cherokee is discharging here the revolutionists will get the duties.

SAN DOMINGO, Nov. 6.—A Dominican warship stopped the Clyde line steamer Cherokee as the latter was nearing Puerto Plata and informed the captain that he could not enter the port. The Cherokee then proceeded for Samana and was also prevented from entering that port, the minister of war ordering the captain of the Cherokee to proceed direct to the capital.

On the arrival of the vessel here the government demanded that the cargo intended for Puerto Plata and Samana be landed at this port. The agent of the company and the captain of the Cherokee refused to comply with this demand and appealed to United States Minister Powell for protection. Minister Powell interviewed the president and argued that since the government of Santo Domingo had not advised the foreign legations of any blockade, it could not prevent the Cherokee from entering the ports of Puerto Plata and Samana, and insisted that the cargo should be landed at its destination. The president in reply reiterated his demand that the Cherokee's cargo be landed at San Domingo, but this Minister Powell refused to permit and declared he would hold the government responsible should any violent action be adopted toward the Cherokee.

When the Cherokee was ready to leave for Azua clearance papers were refused and it was again demanded that she land her cargo at this port. Minister Powell wrote a sharp note to the government demanding a permit for the Cherokee to depart. The government refused to allow a pilot to board the vessel and Minister Powell then instructed Capt. Archibald to take his ship out and proceed for Azua, keeping his cargo aboard and landing it at the ports of destination.

The energetic action of Minister Powell has caused a great sensation, especially as his proceeding lacked the support of an American warship. The Cherokee left the harbor without a pilot.

Minister Powell has informed the Dominican government that its proposition regarding the claims of the Santo Domingo Improvement Company, of New York is not accepted by his government, which insists upon the naming of the arbitrators without further delay.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—A cablegram has just been received at the state department from Minister Powell, dated at San Domingo city, today, stating that the insurgents are marching on that city, and asking that a warship be at once sent there. The cruiser Baltimore, which sailed from Hampton Roads several days ago, is now due at San Domingo and the state department believes that her presence there will be sufficient.

ST. THOMAS, D. W. I., Nov. 6.—The German warships here are coaling and it is reported that they have been hurriedly ordered to San Domingo, owing to the seriousness of the situation there.

BESSEMER BARS ARE CHEAPER

CUT OF $6 IS MADE

CHANGES SO FAR DECIDED ON

The reduction in the price of Bessemer steel bars from $32 to $26 a ton, Pittsburgh base, is announced in a special telegram from Cleveland last evening. The cut is said to have been made by the agreement of the leading producers, the United States Steel Corporation, Jones & Laughlin Steel Company and other independents. No confirmation could be had for the report here, as the officials in a position to speak were all in New York yesterday. This may possess significance.

The report is believed to have its origin among the Cleveland buyers of steel bars. It is a known fact that the purchasers of this class of product have been awaiting for months a reduction of price to be made before placing large orders. They are principally manufacturers of agricultural implements.

The action of the producers jointly on billets in making the reduction of $4 a ton is believed by the purchasers to be but the first of a number of cuts, the cut in Bessemer bars being one of the following reductions.

A special telegram from New York to The Gazette says an agreement has been reached between the United States Steel Corporation and the principal independent steel and iron plants for a uniform reduction in the prices of finished products. This reduction is to be made without demoralizing general prices, the cuts in every instance to be those authorized by the combination and all the companies to abide by them.

The new prices will be announced within a few days and will include approximately these changes:

	Present Price per 100 lbs.	New Schedule per 100 lbs.
Structural steel	$1 80	$1 50
Iron bars	1 40	1 30
Steel plates	1 60	1 50
Boiler plates	1 70	1 65
Steel beams	1 60	1 50
Tin plates, New York	3 89	3 79
Tank plates, Pittsburgh	1 60	1 50
Wire nails, Pittsburgh	2 00	1 85
Cut nails, Pittsburgh	1 90	1 85

The question of reduction in steel rails is to be finally passed on at the next meeting of the steel rail pool, which will be held within 10 days. Through these changes the companies interested expect to maintain trade stability to keep the business thoroughly in hand, preventing any accumulation of stocks.

Another special telegram from New York added:

"Following the cut in steel billets of $4 a ton announced on Thursday, announcement was made today of another reduction in the price of steel bars amounting to $6 a ton. Bessemer bars are now quoted at $26 a ton as compared with $32 a ton, the price prevailing before the decision of the leading manufacturers to reduce the price. Intimations were also given in official quarters that reductions would be made in the price of other articles in the steel trade which are controlled by pools which agree to maintain prices. These cuts are stated to be merely readjustment of prices following upon the cut of billets. Confirmation was also obtained of the sale of 100,000 tons of steel in England, and it was learned that the total export sales will be even larger than the amount mentioned."

BIGELOW RUNS OUT OF FUNDS

STREETS TO SUFFER

DEFICIT IN THE LIGHT BUREAU

Between 400 and 500 employes of the department of public works will be discharged this month by Director E. M. Bigelow. Over 100 of the men to be dropped are employed in the city parks and the rest in the bureau of highways and sewers. Two reasons are given for the reduction. One is the cold weather, which is said to make unnecessary the number of men now engaged in outdoor work. The principal reason, however, is the fact that the department of public works is short of funds. Assistant Controller E. S. Morrow said yesterday that the appropriation for the bureau of highways and sewers was about exhausted, but there was still some money left in the park fund.

The order for the wholesale discharge of employes of the two bureaus will go out this month, although some of the men may be kept until December 1. The chief clerk of the department said yesterday that it was the custom every winter to reduce the working force in the two bureaus. While this is done to some extent, there will be many more men dropped from the payroll this winter than usual.

The responsibility for the shortage of money that causes this condition of affairs rests largely with the finance committee of councils, which cut down the appropriation this year for the bureau of highways and sewers over $100,000, in addition, failing to make provision for the increase in the wages allowed the "white wings" and other laborers.

The appropriation last year for this bureau was $474,000 and this year was but $366,800. The department asked for an increase, estimating that it would cost $581,000 to pay all expenses to the end of the year. The appropriation for parks was not reduced, and consequently there is some money left.

The payroll for last month showed that there were 142 employes in all the city parks. The large majority of this number are laborers who are to be laid off for the balance of the year. At the controller's office yesterday it was learned that there were upwards of 300 men employed in the bureau of highways and sewers who will be affected by the reduction.

While it has been the custom, when the weather grew too cold for outdoor work, to reduce the street force, it is a fact that in some winters nearly the whole force was retained to clean the snow from the streets and the mud, resulting from the melting of snow.

This year the streets will probably be neglected, as there is no money on hand or in sight to meet expenses. Assistant Controller Morrow stated yesterday that there was no money in the contingent fund that could be drawn upon for an emergency, as even the contingent fund is exhausted.

Assistant Controller Morrow hopes to supply the deficiency in the street lighting fund by a transfer from the fund of another bureau.

Director Bigelow blames the controller and the finance committee for creating this deficiency. He charges them with including the balances from last year in the regular appropriation for this year and not making any provision for the payment of bills left over from last year.

BRUTE LYNCHED AFTER ATTACK

PROMPTLY PUNISHED

Mrs. Labouisse Had Terrible Experience in Mississippi Near Fashionable Resort.

MOB REVENGED HER INJURIES

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

New Orleans, La., Nov. 6.—Mrs. Labouisse, wife of Peter Labouisse, son of a millionaire cotton man of New Orleans, who gained millions cornering spot cotton a few years ago, was attacked Thursday afternoon at Pass Christian, a fashionable summer and winter resort 60 miles east of here, by Sam Adams, a negro 18 years old, who was lynched by a mob of white and negro men, who hung him to an oak tree a mile from the center of town.

Mrs. Labouisse was formerly the wife of S. Osgood Peel, a millionaire New Yorker, from whom she was divorced because of his infatuation for a young lady visiting Mrs. Peel, who was originally Miss Isabel Andrey Townsend, daughter of one of New York's wealthiest financiers.

Mrs. Labouisee, was gathering wild flowers with her maid after tieing her horse to a tree. While in the woods, Mrs. Labouisse was approached by a negro who informed her that her horse had gotten loose and was down near a branch thickly banked with trees. Thoughtlessly she followed the negro to find the animal grazing near the branch. The negro said he would catch the horse. The negro caught the horse and led it back toward where the lady stood. The negro had been seen previously to unhitch the animal.

The negro, as he led the horse toward her, stopped and asked what he got for catching the horse. As she replied, he seized her. He had a knife in his hand. The negro threatened to cut her throat if she screamed. But she struggled and screamed, and the negro being afraid to carry out his threat, fled.

Adams was captured and when the sheriff was taking him by a circuitous route to Mississippi City for safety, the mob overpowered the officer and lynched the brute.

GIRL ELUDES HER CAPTORS

TALE OF HYPNOTISM

SHE IS SICK AT RELATIVES

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 6.—Miss Clara Josephine Coffin, daughter of W. Ward Coffin, whose mysterious disappearance from her home in East Orange, N. J., last Tuesday caused her parents great anxiety, arrived in Omaha early today, and is now at the home of Postmaster Joseph Crow, whose wife is a niece of the girl's father. The young lady is prostrated by a nervous shock, which she says is the result of an attempted abduction from her home by two strangers, a man and a woman.

According to the young lady's account of her abduction she had been attending the high school in East Orange, and last Tuesday, there being no school, she went to the gymnasium for exercise. For the last month she had been passing a strange woman just near the school building. The woman had piercing black eyes and the girl says they had an extraordinary effect on her.

Tuesday the strange woman approached her, she says, and told her in a very commanding way to pack her clothes and follow her. In a half-dazed state, and acting under the hypnotic spell, the girl made the trip back to her home and without seeing any of the family packed her clothing and did as the woman had bidden. She had arranged to meet the girl at a certain place, and when Miss Coffin arrived on her return, there was a strange man in company with the woman.

The girl, according to the story she tells, was placed in a carriage and after the man and woman had entered they were driven at a rapid rate, finally landing in Newark, N. J. From there they were taken to the railroad station, and boarding a train, they soon landed in New York city. She next realized that the party was aboard another train and on its way to Chicago.

She was driven from one railroad station to another and when they again boarded a train the woman remained with her and the man occupied a seat in the coach next to the rear. When the train reached Cedar Rapids, Miss Coffin had recovered her senses, and slipped out and sent a telegram to Postmaster Joseph Crow, asking him to meet her. Meantime her captors had left the car, she says.

Postmaster Crow met the young lady as she left the midnight train on the Northwestern. As soon as Miss Coffin saw Mr. Crow she recognized him and fell into his arms, prostrated. He assisted the young lady, who is in a state of almost complete nervous prostration, to his home and placed her under the care of physicians. Miss Coffin is confined to her bed and is in a very weak condition.

IRONWORKERS VOTED FOR GENERAL STRIKE

Iron League Employers Refuse Demands and Coercion Is Now in Order.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Before "Sam" Parks closed his eyes in Sing Sing prison tonight members of his union had assembled in Maennerchor hall and voted to call a general strike of iron workers all over the county tomorrow. The fight will be centered in New York, but will affect all cities in the United States where members of the iron league are employing men.

The strike will be called tomorrow morning. The action was taken under the direction of Frank Buchanan, president of the International Association of Structural Iron Workers, who made the announcement when the meeting was over at midnight.

Mr. Buchanan stated that the local and executive committees of the ironworkers had made repeated efforts to come to an agreement with their employers in New York, but that they had been "turned down" at every point "and now," said he, "it is a fight to a finish."

COSTELLO TELLS THE STORY OF THE CUDAHY KIDNAPING

Associate of Pat Crowe Makes a Complete Confession and He Says That There Were Three Men in the Job.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ST. JOSEPH, MO., Nov. 6.—Thomas Costello, alias Thomas Murphy of Omaha, was arrested in South St. Joseph today by three policemen after a desperate struggle, during which Costello was severely punished.

He had quarreled with a woman who informed the police that he was an associate of Pat Crowe and was one of the kidnapers of the son of Millionaire Cudahy of Omaha.

Costello, while intoxicated, boasted in the saloon of his connection with the crime. Costello was taken into the private office of Capt. McNamara to whom he made what he said was a complete confession of his part in the Cudahy kidnaping.

Costello claims that the man Johnson, who is now serving time in Montana for train robbery, secured young Cudahy while he and Crowe, who planned the capture, waited at a little house on the outskirts of Omaha.

Costello says that a ransom of $25,000 was paid by the boy's father for his return. He says all three of the men in the job at one time worked at the Cudahy packing house at Omaha. Chief of Police Franst said he had verified Costello's statements and believed they are true.

MEMORIAL MRS. SCHENL

ACTION BY COUNCILS

Municipal Legislative Bodies Appoint Committee and Pass Fitting Resolutions.

WILL IS SENT TO PITTSBURGH

Pittsburgh councils have started a movement to build a permanent memorial in Schenley park to Mrs. Mary E. Schenley. A resolution to this effect was adopted yesterday at a special session of councils called to take action upon the death of Mrs. Schenley. The character of the memorial has not been decided upon. Both a monument and a memorial arch at the entrance to the park are suggested.

It is claimed by some that the city has no authority to appropriate money for a monument in the park, but has the power to build an arch at the entrance which could be constructed as a memorial to the woman who gave a large part of the park to the city. It is estimated that a suitable memorial will cost $100,000. Those who advocate a memorial arch claim it would be impossible to raise enough money by public subscription and that the only way the movement could be quickly and successfully financed would be for councils to appropriate the whole amount or to make up any deficiency there might be after contributions are received from the public.

Declined During Lifetime.

The proposition to erect a memorial monument was first suggested soon after Mrs. Schenley donated the park to the city and after a monument was erected to Director E. M. Bigelow. It is stated Mrs. Schenley disapproved of the suggestion to erect a monument in her honor during her lifetime. The project was revived in a fitting manner and at an opportune time yesterday by Councilman W. H. Stevenson of the Fourteenth ward, in which the park is located.

Mr. Stevenson moved that a joint committee of councils, consisting of three members from common council and two members of select, take charge of the matter. J. C. Wasson suggested that the committee act in conjunction with the Pittsburgh chamber of commerce. D. J. Sole, W. B. Wolfe and others suggested that every man, woman and child in the city be given an opportunity to contribute to the fund. Councils unanimously voted for the appointment of the committee.

The two branches of council met in joint session in the common council chamber. President John S. Lambie of select was ill, and Select Councilman John A. Murphy of the Twentieth ward presided in his absence.

Only One City Official Present.

Controller John B. Larkin was the only city official present at the memorial exercises. Mayor William B. Hays was reported to be ill in bed. Director E. M. Bigelow was in New York City, and the other department heads did not attend. Controller Larkin made a few appropriate remarks.

On the motion of Mr. Stevenson a joint committee of 12 members, seven from the common branch and five from select were appointed to prepare suitable resolutions. The committee consisted of Select Councilmen R. H. Douglas, W. J. Zahniser, W. E. Lang, J. W. Ruhlandt and Charles Stewart, and Common Councilmen W. H. Stevenson, John P. Starrett, G. W. McNeil, W. B. Wolfe, C. Wesley Cross, John P. Baldauf and John Lewis.

City Clerk Edwin W. Hassler was appointed clerk of the committee. Mr. Hassler drew up the resolutions which were approved by the committee and presented to councils by R. H. Douglas, who was elected chairman of the committee. Councils unanimously adopted the resolutions, which were as follows:

Resolutions of Regret.

With deep regret the people of Pittsburgh have learned of the death of Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Schenley, which took place at her residence in London, England, Wednesday, November 4, 1903.

While Mrs. Schenley was born in Louisville, Ky., on April 27, 1826, she was of Pittsburgh family and most of her years of childhood were passed in this city. Her material interests were largely centered here, and throughout life she revealed a constant love and solicitude for the welfare of this community. She was a worthy daughter of distinguished ancestry, and the heritage of patriotic fame left by her father and maternal grandfather was nobly supplemented by her affection for her native land and her ancestral home. Although dwelling for many years in a distant country the ties that bound her to the early home were never broken.

Mrs. Schenley's lasting memorial in this city was the magnificent park that bears her name. By deed dated October 30, 1889, she presented to Pittsburgh for public park purposes forever 300 acres of land of the tract known as Mount Airy, and at the same time gave to the city an option on 100 1-3 acres adjoining for the extremely low price of $125,000. The deed and option were accepted by the city in joint session of councils, on November 15, 1889. Her additional offer to sell to the city 10 acres now forming the park entrance for $75,000 was accepted by councils on November 28, 1890.

Never Fixed the Price.

It is worthy to be recorded that in the sales made to the city Mrs. Schenley declined to fix the prices, but permitted the figures to be named by a representative of the city, and the prices so named were much below the actual values of the land conveyed. In her deeds to the city Mrs. Schenley was always careful to have it stated that she was "a native of the United States."

In accepting the gift of Schenley park councils, in joint session, adopted a resolution setting forth their appreciation of the donation in the following terms: "For the first time in the history of our city, one has been found with sufficient interest in its welfare to present to the people a gift worthy of the rapidly growing wants of the city and one that cannot fail to be of the greatest advantage to all—to the toiler and his dependents and to the masses of our rapidly growing population—by providing for them a breathing place, rich in pure air and natural beauty, that will elevate and make brighter their lives. We know that words in but a feeble manner give expression to the feeling of gratitude that all

ADVANCE IS GRANTED

Forty Thousand Men Will Be Employed by the Industry by First of Next Month. Price of Manufactured Product Also to Be Advanced.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
PHILADELPHIA, PA., Nov. 6.

The joint conference of the window glass interests in this city has resulted in fully 10,000 glass workers having their positions restored and before December 1 it is estimated that fully 40,000 men affiliated with the industry will be back at work.

A new wage scale has been adopted which calls for an advance of 2½ per cent over last season's scale on single strength glass and 2 per cent on double. The most important part of the new scale is the concession made by the workers which will enable the manufacturers to shut out from 800,000 to 900,000 boxes of foreign window glass imported annually.

The few manufacturers and workmen who have disturbed conditions for the past two months, and have almost caused the ruin of the industry, will be forced into line. The special scales of C. P. Cole and others, calling for a reduction of 33 1-3 per cent in wages, have been knocked out, and instead an advance has been granted and the workers will receive the highest wages ever paid in the history of window glass making in this country.

The new scale becomes effective on November 10, and continues in force until June 1, 1904, and can only be continued beyond that date by the request of a majority of the manufacturers. The suspension of operations on June 1 also includes the machine-equipped plants of the American Window Glass Company. The settlement will permit the workers to earn more money in the fire of seven months than they would have earned had they gone to work on September 1 at a reduction of 33 1-3 per cent in wages, under the impression that the new blowing machine was responsible for the disturbed conditions in the industry.

At the close of the conference the manufacturers got together and discussed the proposition to form a general selling agency, and advance prices about 50 per cent over the rates prevailing at the close of the last fire. A committee was appointed to arrange for a meeting to be held in Columbus next week, at which the details will be arranged.

BIGELOW IN NEW YORK.

Said to Have Gone to Talk With Carnegie About Technical School.

Director E. M. Bigelow is in New York city. He stated before going that he intended to go east to join his wife and to return with her. It was also stated yesterday at the city hall that the director would probably pay a visit to Andrew Carnegie while in New York to discuss some matters pertaining to the technical school.

When Councilman W. H. Stevenson and W. E. Sankey saw Mr. Carnegie last winter it was agreed that a long bridge should be erected from Forbes street, over Junction hollow, to connect with the technical school site and the director is expected to give some advice on this subject.

RANSOM STORY DENIED.

Brother of Missing Millionaire Wentz Says No Word Has Been Received.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 6.—J. L. Wentz, brother of E. L. Wentz, the young millionaire of this city, who disappeared in southwestern Virginia some weeks ago, arrived here today from Big Stone Gap and denied that there was any truth in the story that his missing brother had been heard from.

"The rumor about my brother having written a letter saying that he was being held for $100,000 ransom is not true," he said. "We have received absolutely nothing from him. I have come home to attend to some business and my coming has nothing to do with any ransom money."

BURNED A MORTGAGE.

Double Celebration Took Place Last Evening at Emsworth U. P. Church.

To mark the tenth anniversary of the pastorate of the Rev. W. S. Harper, D. D., of the Emsworth United Presbyterian church a congregational reception was given in the Sunday school of the church last night that was attended by over 200 members.

A feature of the program was the burning of the mortgage which was given 10 years ago when the church was built. The money, $8,000, was borrowed from a Pittsburgh bank, and the last installment was repaid six months ago. In the last 10 years the church has raised over $32,000 and largely increased its membership. Dr. Harper reviewed the history of the church since the beginning of his pastorate in an address after which the company was entertained at an elaborate luncheon.

BARN BURNED DOWN.

Firemen Could Not Reach the Flames With a Line of Hose.

The barn on the farm of A. Lind, between Butler and Stanton avenues, near the Sharpsburg bridge, was burned to the ground yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock. Two horses, two sets of harness, together with a large supply of feed was destroyed, entailing a loss of about $700.

The fire department was not called out, as it was realized that it could not get a stream of water so high on the hill side. The horses were the property of Charles Barker, of Fifth street, who formerly lived on the Lind farm.

ent, but through the French consul as spokesman, the members said they were not there in any official capacity. The flag of the new republic was raised amidst much cheering and general rejoicing and simultaneously fireworks were exploded all over the town. The police bearing the flag of the republic of Panama then marched through the streets to their headquarters, over which also the emblem was raised.

The government of the new republic last night appointed Senor Porfirio Melendez civil and military governor of Colon, pending the appointment of new officials. Gov. Melendez has notified the officials that they may remain at their posts for the present, if they swear allegiance to the new republic. He has also notified the steamship agents that Colombian ports on the Atlantic are closed to all arrivals. This refers only to their non-acceptance of troops from coast ports.

A steam launch was dispatched last night to capture Bocas Del Toro in the interest of the new republic. No difficulties are anticipated there.

Americans Make Firm Stand.

The American employes of the railroad and others have been armed with rifles and revolvers supplied by the United States cruiser Nashville. Together with the latter's men the volunteers presented a bold front Wednesday and Thursday afternoons to the Colombians who were threatening the lives of Americans. Thanks to the stand taken by Commander Hubbard of the Nashville, the situation was saved.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—The United States government has recognized the de facto government of Panama. It was announced at the state department after the return of Secretary Hay from the cabinet meeting that instructions have been sent to United States Minister Beaupre at Bogota (assuming that he has not left the capital yet), and Mr. Ehrman, the United States vice consul at Panama and now acting consul there, to inform the governments of Colombia ad Panama respectively that the de facto government is recognized.

The decision to recognize the de facto government of Panama was arrived at after a protracted session of the cabinet today at which every member was present except Secretaries Root and Wilson. No other subject was considered. The president emphasized the importance of the recognition of the de facto government. With the withdrawal of the Colombian officials the isthmus was left entirely without a government unless that established by the secessionists should be recognized, and this step seemed necessary for the transaction of the routine business of the United States on the isthmus.

The Official Telegrams.

The following telegram was sent by the state department today to Mr. Ehrman, the acting consul general of the United States at Panama:

> The people of Panama have by an apparently unanimous movement dissolved their political connection with the republic of Colombia and resumed their independence. When you are satisfied that a de facto government, republican in form and without substantial opposition from its own people, has been established in the state of Panama, you will enter into relations with it as the responsible government of the territory and look to it for all due action to protect the persons and property of citizens of the United States, and to keep open the Isthmian transit, in accordance with the obligations of existing treaties governing the relations of the United States to that territory.

Immediately afterward an instruction was sent by telegraph to Mr. Baupre, the United States minister at Bogota, in the following terms:

> The people of Panama, having by an apparently unanimous movement, dissolved their political connection with the republic of Colombia and resumed their independence, and having adopted a government of their own, republican in form, with which the government of the United States of America has entered into relations, the president of the United States, in accordance with the ties of friendship which have so long and so happily existed between the respective nations, most earnestly commends to the governments of Colombia and of Panama the peaceful and equitable settlement of all questions at issue between them. He holds that he is bound not merely by treaty obligations, but by the interests of civilization to see that the peaceful traffic of the world across the isthmus of Panama shall not longer be disturbed by a constant succession of unnecessary and wasteful civil wars.

Just a Business Transaction.

It was authoritatively stated that though the recognition of the new republic is of a business character at first, consisting of an authorization throughout our consular officials on the isthmus to do business with the new government as they did with the Colombian government, this will in due time be followed by full political recognition.

This latter form of recognition will be deferred until the government at Panama has take nmore regular form. It is presumed here that the junta will very soon issue a call for a convention, which will adopt a constitution and provide for the selection of a president. Then it will be in order for ministers to be appointed between the two countries, which will constitute full political recognition of the new state. That condition will enable the conduct of negotiations that may be necessary to the successful execution of the project of the United States for the construction of the isthmian canal, and it is certain that existing concessions will not suffer.

It was said at the state department that as Consul General Gudger's leave of absence from his post at Panama expired within a week he would have sailed for the isthmus within that time, regardless of the recent stirring events.

Will Use the Mayflower.

Admiral Coghlan's flagship, the Olympia, on which he intended to sail originally for Guantanamo, is now at the Norfolk navy yard for repairs which will consume many days. So the admiral decided to leave without his flagship, and the navy department decided to assign to his use the president's own yacht, the Mayflower, which now lies at the Washington navy yard with the consul general also aboard. Lieutenant Commander Gibbons, her captain, is hurrying supplies aboard his ship. Admiral Coghlan will probably arrive in Colon about November 15, but he will not be the ranking officer on the isthmus, for Admiral Glass, commanding the Pacific squadron, who by cable announced his sailing yesterday from Acapulco for Panama, is said at the navy department to be due at that port about November 12, and he is Admiral Coghlan's senior.

Dr. Thomas Herran, the Colombian charge, is prepared to leave Washington on short notice with his family for Colombia. It may be stated that instructions withdrawing him will cause no surprise at the Colombian legation, where it is believed that the state department's recognition of the republic of Panama will cause intense feeling in Colombia. So far Dr. Herran has had no advices from his government.

The navy department has received a cablegram from Rear Admiral Glass, commanding the Pacific squadron, announcing the departure of the Marblehead, Concord and Wyoming and the collier Nero yesterday at Acapulco, Mexico, for Panama. The squadron is proceeding at full speed.

PARIS, Nov. 6.—The feeling in government circles here continues strongly favorable to allowing the revolution to take its course. The entire list of Panama securities today continued to move upward, the advance varying from 2 to 9 francs. The new 6 per cents, first series, advanced from 69.75 to 74.50 and the second series from 64.50 to 69. This was taken to indicate that the sentiment of the company of the bourse financiers was that the revolution was favorable to the interests of the canal.

OFFICIAL STATEMENT BY SECRETARY HAY

Treaty of 1846 Obligates United States to Preserve Integrity of Isthmus.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTTON, D. C., Nov. 6.—The secretary of state made today the following statement in regard to affairs on the Isthmus of Panama:

The action of the president in the Panama matter is not only in the strictest accordance with the principles of justice and equity and in line with all the best precedents of our public policy, but it was the only course he could have taken in compliance with our treaty rights and obligations. By our treaty entered into with New Granada in the year 1846, New Granada guarantees that "the right of way or transit across the Isthmus of Panama upon any modes of communication that now exist or that may be hereafter constructed, shall be free and open to the government and citizens of the United States." This is a right which we acquired by the treaty, not gratuitously conferred, but in return for an important compensation, for in the same article the government of the United States guarantees "positively and efficaciously to New Granada by the present stipulation the perfect neutrality of the before-mentioned isthmus with the view that free transit from the one to the other sea may not be interruped or embarrassed in any future time while this treaty exists; and in consequence the United States guarantees in the manner the rights of sovereignty and property which New Granada has and possesses over the said territory."

The close connection thus created between the two governments was well set forth by President Polk in his message transmitting the treaty to the senate. He said: "The importance of the concession to the commercial and political interests of the United States cannot be overrated. The route by the Isthmus of Panama, is the shortest way between the two oceans and from the information herewith communicated it would seem to be the most practicable for a railroad or canal.

Advantages Are Shown.

The vast advantages to our commerce which would result from such a communication not only with the west coast of America but with Asia and the islands of the Pacific are too obvious to require any detail. Such a passage would save us from a long and dangerous navigation of more than 9,000 miles around the Horn and render our communication with our own possessions on the northwest coast of America comparatively easy and speedy. The treaty does not propose to guarantee a treaty to a foreign nation in which the United States will have no common interest with that nation. On the contrary we are more deeply and directly interested in the subject of the guarantee than New Granada herself or any other country.

These considerations, the controlling nature of which were recognized so long ago, have become more and more important in every year that has elapsed since the treaty was written. Our acquisition of Hawaii and the Philippines has given them a greatly enhanced value. The control in the interest of the commerce and traffic of the whole civilized world of the means of undisturbed transit across the Isthmus of Panama has become of transcendent importance to the United States.

The right to this control we have never forfeited by any laxity of our own, either in the assertion of our rights or in the performance of our duty under the treaty. In 1853, Mr. Everett assured the Peruvian minister that we should not hesitate to maintain the neutrality of the isthmus in case of war between Peru and Colombia. In 1864 Colombia, which has always been vigilant to avail itself of its privileges conferred by the treaty, expressed its expectation that in the event of war between Peru and Spain the United States would carry into effect the guarantee of neutrality.

Treaty Frequently Referred To.

There have been few administrations of the state department in which this treaty has not, either by the one side or the other, been used as a basis of more or less important demand. It was said by Mr. Fish in 1871 that the department of state had reason to believe that an attack upon Colombian sovereignty on the isthmus had on several occasions been averted by warning from this government. In 1886, when Colombia was under the menace of hostilities from Italy in the Cerruti case, Mr. Bayard expressed serious concern that the United States could not but feel aggrieved that a European power should resort to force against a sister republic of this hemisphere as to the sovereign and uninterrupted use of a part of whose territory we are guarantors under the solemn faith of a treaty. The United States has not only constantly protected Colombia from foreign invasion on the strength of the rights and the duties created by the treaty of 1846, but has time and again intervened to preserve the freedom of traffic from disturbance in the course of domestic dissensions. In these cases we have intervened sometimes at the suggestion of Colombia, sometimes on our own impression of necessities of the case, but always to the profit of Colombia as well as of universal commerce. The position of the United States was clearly set forth by Mr. Seward in these words:

"The United States has taken and will take no interest in any question of revolution in the state of Panama or any state of the United States of Colombia, but will maintain a perfect neutrality in regard to such domestic controversies. The United States will, nevertheless, hold itself ready to protect the transit trade across the isthmus against invasion of other domestic or foreign disturbers of the peace of the state or Panama."

Treaty's Validity Not In Doubt.

There has never been any doubt of the validity of the treaty of 1846 to guarantee free and open transit either for American citizens or for the government of the United States. We have used the isthmus for the transit of troops and of fugitives from justice and a protocol was signed at Bogota on the 22d of February, 1879, acknowledging this right of transit for troops and extradited fugitives belonging to the United States, a right, as is declared in the protocol, "which is established in compensation for the guarantee of the sovereignty and property of the isthmus, to which the same government is bound."

It must not be lost sight of that this treaty is not dependent for its efficacy on the personnel of the signers or the name of the territory it affects. It is a covenant, as lawyers say, that runs with the land. The name of New Granada has passed away; the territory has been divided. But as long as the isthmus endures the great geographical fact keeps alive the solemn compact which binds the holders of the territory to grant us freedom of transit and binds us in return to safeguard for the isthmus and the world the exercise of that inestimable privilege.

It is therefore too clear for discussion that when, at the repeated solicitation of the government of Colombia, a treaty was entered into between that government and the United States for carrying into effect the long-considered plan of a canal across the isthmus to be owned and controlled by the government of the United States, it was no new proposition that was being adopted, but rather the carrying out of a long-cherished plan of both countries and the assertion of a right which had been long since conceded in principle by the government of Colombia. It was the universal conviction that the time had come for this gigantic project to be carried out.

Only Possible to the United States.

It was too great for individual or corporate enterprise. It could only be initiated and carried into a conclusion by a government of great power and vast resources, and the only government to which it was a possibility was that of the United States. By authorization of congress the president entered into a treaty with the government of Bogota for the construction of a canal by way of the Isthmus of Panama. Wishing to show every consideration to the government of Colombia the treaty contained provisions of extraordinary liberality. A large bonus was given for the privilege of constructing the canal, a liberal annual lease was added, and all this was in addition to the numberless benefits which would accrue to the Colombian government and people from the construction in their territory of this colossal work. The treaty was promptly ratified by the senate of the United States and rejected unanimously and without consideration by that of Colombia.

The suggestions which have been made to this government since the failure of the government of Bogota of a failure to renewal of negotiations have been too vague and extravagant to merit the serious consideration of the United States and they were such as to create the impression on the minds of the people of Panama that there was no reasonable prospect of the accomplishment of the object upon which their hopes and desires had been set for many years.

This brings us to the sudden and startling events which have so recently attracted the attention of this country and of the world. Although there has been no lack for many years past of numerous causes of discontent and anxiety among the people of Panama, it appears that the failure of the canal treaty convinced them that there was nothing more to be hoped for in their connection with the Colombian government, which had never proved entirely satisfactory.

The President's Course.

They went to work, with that talent for rpompt and secret organization to which there is no parallel among people of northern blood; they prepared the machinery of revolution in advance, and suddenly in a single day, without the firing of a shot—with the exception of a few shells that were thrown into the city from a Colombian steamer in the harbor of Panama—they accomplished their independence. A government consisting of the leading citizens of the state was at once organized and proclaimed to the world; a part of the Colombian forces joined the revolution; the rest returned to Colombia, and, so far as we are able to judge, the new republic begins its career with no organized opposition throughout the entire extent of the isthmus.

The course of the president in this conjuncture was marked out in advance by all our principles and precedents. He gave orders that traffic from one side of the Isthmus to the other should be kept unimpeded by either party and charged our officers on the isthmus to use their utmost influence to prevent any attack by one of the contending factions upon the other which would be calculated to cause a disturbance of traffic.

When it was reported to him that a government capable of maintaining order had been established and was working without opposition, he did what is always done under such circumstances. He directed our representative at Panama, as soon as he was certain that a government capable of maintaining the public peace had been established by the consent of the people, that he was to enter into official relations with it.

His Duty Is Plain.

He also directed our minister in Bogota to inform the Colombian government that we had entered into relations with the new provisional government of Panama, and he took occasion, relying upon the ties of friendship and the valuable services which we have so often rendered to the people of Panama and the government of Colombia, to commend to the respective governments the peaceful and equitable settlement of all questions at issue between them. He took occasion at the same time to give notice to the world that not only our treaty obligations, but the imperative demands of the interests of civilization required him to put a stop, which we hope will be a final one, to the incessant civil contests and bickerings which have been for so many years the curse of Panama.

Having regard only to the present crisis and the needs of the hour, no plainer duty was ever imposed upon a chief of state than that which rested upon the president of the United States in the interest of the isthmus, the people of Colombia, the people of the United States and the commerce of the world to preserve for the benefit of all free transit over the isthmus and to do all that lay in his power to bring a permanent peace to its people.

BRIGARD HINTS THAT COLOMBIA WILL FIGHT

Consul General at New York Says His Country Is in the Right.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—"There will be no republic in Panama," said Senor Artura de Brigard, the Colombian consul general, today.

"I don't believe the United States will interfere to prevent the Colombian government from restoring order in the Isthmus. Under the treaty of 1846 the United States bound itself not to take part in the international dissensions in our country, and I expect that the terms of that agreement will be kept."

"In case, however, the administration at Washington decides on recognition of the autonomy of Panama, what would happen then, Mr. Brigard?"

"I am not prepared to admit for a moment such a possibility," said the consul; "but in the event of its happening, Colombia would defend her rights."

"Do you mean that she would declare war against the United States?"

"I am not prepared to answer that question," he replied. "There is not the slightest suspicion in my mind that your government will force us to any such action."

"I am tired," he said, "of reading about the extortionate demands of our government. In my opinion, the amount offered by the United States is far too low, and it would not be right for President Maroquin to accept it. I do not think Colombia asked more than is fair.

"The talk about the excessive taxation under which the Panama people are said to be suffering is untrue. The tax rate in Panama, as in Colombia, is only 3½ per cent per thousand. On my house in Bogota, which is worth about $12,000 in gold, I pay only $350 a year. You don't call that high, do you?"

"Is there any truth in the rumor that the former governor of Panama, Senor F. Mutis Duran, who is now in this city, will be chosen president of the new republic?"

"I decline to admit that there will be any new republic," the Colombian minister said, smiling; "but should there be one, I consider him as likely to be selected for the honor as any one?"

PREPARING A FLEET.

League Island Navy Yard Receives Orders to Send Ships to Caribbean Sea.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 6.—The quiet of League Island was changed to bustle and excitement today by orders from Washington instructing Admiral Sigsbee to assemble a battalion of marines and to prepare three ships, the cruisers Prairie and Yankee and the gunboat Castine, for speedy departure.

These vessels will be despatched to southern waters, probably Kingston, Jamaica, so as to be within a day's journey of Colon. The whole Atlantic training squadron, of which these ships are a part, will assemble at Hampton Roads, and from there depart for the Caribbean sea.

MORGAN PREDICTS TROUBLE ON ISTHMUS

Says Colombia Will Fight the United States to Maintain Her Rights.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—Senator Morgan said today that soon after congress convenes in extra session he will introduce a resolution calling on the foreign relations committee of the senate to obtain from the state department a detailed report of the relations between the United States and Colombia under the treaty of 1846. According to Senator Morgan, the attitude of this country is not justified by a careful construction of the provisions of the treaty and is at variance with precedents laid down by the United States. In discussing the situation today he said:

"This is the fourth time the United States has landed troops on the isthmus under cloak of the treaty. Heretofore it has been for the suppression of rioting and for the protection of Colombia. Now that it is against the wish of Colombia, it undoubtedly will provoke a just protest.

"Colombia means to go to war. Of that I am certain. This government will find it will have a series of complications on its hands not unlike that offered by the Indians when they were met with the territorial aggression of this government, and the trouble the Colombians will make will be similar to that of the Philippines, with the conduct of warfare far more difficult. I believe, however, the administration will not have this matter to decide. It is a question for congress, and that body is not likely to shirk the responsibility."

CLAIM COLUMBUS POLICE ARE PROTECTING THIEVES

Detectives Report to Mayor That Robbers Are Shielded by Officers.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 6.—Pinkerton detectives reported to Mayor Jeffrey today that a gang of burglars which has recently robbed eight houses in the fashionable residence district of Columbus of jewelry valued at $6,000, has been working for weeks under police protection. The mayor announced tonight that the police department will be completely reorganized at once.

Two of the citizens whose residences have been robbed within the past week are Charles L. Kurtz, the Republican leader, and Daniel H. Somers, president of the board of public safety, and one of the two executive heads of the police department.

The Pinkerton men, who were brought to Columbus by a burglary insurance company which has suffered heavy losses, have discovered the hiding place of the plunder. Their report to the mayor was not made public in detail. Many arrests are expected tomorrow.

Popular Actor and His Wife Give a Reception for Their Friends.

Mr. and Mrs. William Ingersoll gave an "at home" to several hundred of their friends last night at the Monongahela house. This is the first reception they have given since their marriage last February. The reception rooms of the hotel were decorated profusely with palms and many other varieties of potted plants. Mr. and Mrs. Ingersoll received. Among the guests were: Miss Irene Bentley, who is playing at the Alvin this week, and her mother; Col. Hulings of Oil City; Mr. and Mrs. Wales of Munhall; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wayne, Miss Eva Taylor, and other members of the new Grand Stock Company; Mr. and Mrs. Furman South, Dr. and Mrs. B. S. Ralston, Mr. and Mrs. Balsinger, and Dr. and Mrs. Rhinehart. The guests were generally from Pittsburgh and vicinity.

THREE MEN BADLY HURT.

Breaking of a Scaffold at the Homestead Works the Cause.

By the breaking of a scaffold at the new 140-inch plate mill of the Carnegie Steel company, at the Homestead steel works yesterday, five men were injured, three of them seriously.

Frank Namt, aged 20, of Munhall, was injured about the head and body and left leg. Stephen Wallace, aged 26, of Homestead, has a scalp wound and his right leg is injured. George Weitneuel, aged 36, of Homestead, was injured about the head, arms and face.

These three were taken to Mercy hospital and the others were sent to their homes. The men were erecting heavy steel beams for the roof of the new mill and the scaffold on which they were working fell to the ground, a distance of 30 feet.

Don't Want to Lose Postoffice.

A lively fight over abolishing the Munhall postoffice and introducing free delivery from the Homestead postoffice is promised. A petition protesting against the plan is being circulated.

QUALEY TELLS STORY OF HORSESHOE CONCERN

Somerfield Planned "Sick Engineer" Method of Selling Worthless Stock.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—In the part of chief witness for the prosecution, Ignatius L. Qualey, originator of the Horseshoe Copper Mining Company, testified today before Judge Davis in the criminal branch of the supreme court. He told how "Larry" Somerfield, who is on trial on the charge of swindling under the guise of the company, had managed matters so that hundreds of thousands of dollars were taken from the pockets of gullible ones.

He was a quiet witness and under cross-examination he was not swerved from his original story, first told in a confession to District Attorney Jerome. The defense admitted most of what he had testified to as to his formation of the company and the distribution of the stock at insignificant prices to influential men whose names were desired for the company's success. Qualey said he had put $30,000 into the company before he knew there was such a man as Somerfield.

In the latter part of 1901 he had written all the company's advertisements and this was before he met Somerfield. In these advertisements he had said the shares were worth $5 each; had declared that this was true at that time and that after the incorporation of the company some of the directors had disposed of their holdings for double that price. He admitted that the stock sold through the agency of the "ill engineer," which was Somerfield's plan, went at a much higher price than the stock sold by the company.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—The wedding of Miss May Goelet, the only daughter of Mrs. Ogden Goelet, and Henry John Innes-Ker, duke of Roxburghe, will be solemnized on Tuesday afternoon, November 10, at St. Thomas church in this city. Bishop Doane of Albany and the Rev. Ernest M. Stires of St. Thomas will officiate. But 200 cards of invitation have been issued for the ceremony in the church, and at the conclusion of the wedding only a small reception will be held at the home of Mrs. Goelet.

The wedding dress is of white satin, veiled with point valenciennes lace and trimmed with wreaths of orange blossoms. The bride will wear a tulle veil and her only jewel will be a diamond and emerald pendant, a gift from the groom. She will be attended by eight bridesmaids: Lady Isabel Innes-Ker, Miss Beatrice Mills, Miss Martha Johnston, Miss Alice Babcock, Miss Marian Haven, Miss Terese Iselin, Miss Pauline Whittier and Miss Nina Thayer of Boston.

The Hon. Reginald Ward, son of the late earl of Dudley, will be the best man, and the ushers, the Hon. Hugo Baring, Harold Brassey, Robert Wharton Goelet, cousin of the bride; Rogers Winthrop, Henry Bull and William Woodward. The wedding presents thus far received are costly. Mrs. Goelet's gift is a pearl and diamond tiara with two large diamond bow knots which were bought at the sale of the French crown jewels. Besides the ornament which the bride will wear to the altar, the duke of Roxburghe will also give her a diamond tiara.

FRICK FOR PRESIDENT.

Brokers' Wires Say Pittsburgher Is to Head the United States States Steel Corporation.

Nearly every broker's wire brought from New York yesterday a report that Henry Clay Frick has agreed to accept the presidency of the United States Steel corporation. No details were given, the rumor alone being sent. Not even what plans have been formed by President W. E. Corey were told.

There will be no belief in the report here until some one in a position to speak does so. Mr. Frick has been approached before on this matter, and it is believed has at least once refused to consider the proposition when his considering it would have meant his choice.

In the turn that has been taken in the affairs of the big corporation in the last few months, Mr. Frick has come to be regarded as a Rockefeller ally, rather than a Morgan ally in its management, and it is claimed that at the board meeting at which the dividend on the common was cut from 1 per cent quarterly to one-half of 1 per cent he made the motion, this plan being one favored by the Rockefeller interests. He is a very large holder of the corporation's securities.

VOTED TO STRIKE.

Chicago Street Car Men to Make Determined Stand for Union Demands.

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—By a vote of 1,624 to 158 the employes of the Chicago City Railway Company have indorsed a strike, if necessary to enforce the demands of their union. A meeting of the executive board of the union was at once called and representatives will call upon the officials of the railway company with the ultimatum.

The joint board of affiliated locals, representing all of the employes of the street car company, will meet tomorrow night to consider the vote and final action on whether or not a strike shall be called will be taken. Unless some concessions are made by the officials of the street car company before that time it now seems impossible to avoid a general strike.

ANOTHER FINE TREAT BY THE ORCHESTRA TODAY

The first of this season's afternoon concerts by the Pittsburgh orchestra will be given at the Carnegie Music hall today, beginning at 2:15 o'clock. The program is the same as that given on Thursday evening including the favorite Beethoven eighth symphony, the stirring Wagner bacchanale and the number from Mr. Herbert's suite "Columbus," with orchestra and organ, which was so marked a feature of Thursday night's concert. Louise Homer never sang as well in Pittsburgh as on Thursday night; she sings the same selections today.

MILLVALE PRINCIPAL ACCUSED OF CRUELTY

J. C. Reed Johnston, principal of the First ward public school, Millvale, was arrested yesterday on the double charge of cruelty and assault and battery, preferred by Agent P. L. King of the Anti-Cruelty society before Justice A. J. Needling. Mr. Johnston gave $200 bail for court. It is alleged that the principal abused 12-year-old Earl Davis, a son of S. E. Davis of Millvale.

POPE ACCEPTS THE INVITATION

His Holiness Will Bo Represented at the St. Louis Exposition.

WILL SEND VATICAN EXHIBIT

However, Precedent Does Not Allow of the Possibility of Sending a Member of the Sacred College—Effect of Fire on Library.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

ROME, Nov. 6.—An official note has been written by Mgr. Merry del Val, papal secretary of state, under instruction from the pope, accepting the invitation to be represented at the St. Louis exposition. The letter says:

"His holiness highly appreciates this act of deference on the part of the distinguished president and the importance of the enterprise which is arousing such interest in the United States. The pontiff wishes me to say how anxious he is to do anything in his power to promote the welfare of the great American people and to show his sincerest sympathy in the development of every enterprise which may be conducive, under the blessing of God, to the true progress and honor of so noble a nation.

"While the rule of precedent does not allow of the possibility of sending a representative from Rome in the person of a member of the sacred college, his holiness is willing to consider the proposal of being represented in some way at the coming exposition. Anyway, as far as conditions will permit, his holiness is disposed to send an exhibit which will serve as a token of his lively interest in the success of the enterprise now under consideration."

The vatican is receiving anxious inquiries from all over the world as to the losses by the recent fire and the amount of damage done the library. The librarian, Father Ehrle, today made the following statement:

"The fire did not reach the library nor my apartment, nor the rooms where manuscripts are repaired, but was in an adjoining garret which was almost empty. Absolutely nothing belonging to the library was burned, as the manuscripts which were being repaired were hurriedly removed at the first notice of fire.

"Whatever was destroyed was the property of M. Marie, the restorer of ancient manuscripts, including the Codex Marchallianus, which was not the original, that being still untouched in the library, but a portion of a phototypical reproduction belonging to M. Marie. The so-called ancient papyrus was the papyrus of Herculaneum of papyrus carbonized by the eruption of Vesuvius which destroyed Herculaneum, presented to M. Marie by the Italian government in order that he might try to unroll it. But it was no great loss, as the government possessed many similar specimens."

DENIES ALL REPORTS.

President Langfitt States the Rumors That Caused Suspension of Federal Bank.

President J. A. Langfitt of the Federal National bank made public yesterday a detailed denial of the various reports which were started concerning the bank and brought on the necessity for closing its doors. He denies them all absolutely. These reports are that a broker said he would unload 1,500 shares of Federal stock he was carrying for Mr. Langfitt; that a director had stated he had overdrawn his account $80,000, and later $150,000; that the board of directors was at loggerheads; that the accounts were in bad shape, owing to ill health of the cashier, and that the bank had paid larger interest accounts than had been considered safe.

The last rumor, he said, was everywhere, it being alleged that the Federal was paying 4, 5 or 6 per cent on daily balances, whereas the highest rate ever paid was 3 per cent. The books of the bank and the statements of everyone interested, officers and employes of the bank and the persons with whom it did business, agree on this, he said, and it has been proven by examination of the bank's accounts by the receiver.

In conclusion he said: "As the reports are and were totally false from the beginning to end and the proofs that they are untrue are readily accessible, are we not entitled to have those criticisms withdrawn and the circulation of these stories stopped, in the interest of truth and fairness?"

TOOK AN AERIAL FLIGHT.

Collision Sent a Railroader Through Roof of Caboose, but Did Not Injure Him.

Two freight trains on the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad collided last evening at 6:30 o'clock at Beck's run. A through freight was taking water when a local crashed into the rear. The caboose was demolished, but the occupants escaped uninjured. Bernard McGuire, an engineer, was asleep in the caboose when the crash came. He was hurled through the roof of the car and landed nearly 50 feet away. He was scarcely scratched.

An hour after the wreck a dilapidated two-story boarding house collapsed near the scene of the collision delaying traffic several hours. The bulk of the debris covered the railroad tracks.

The crown sheet of the engine on through freight No. 285 was blown out at Groveton at 8:30 o'clock. The engine crew escaped injury.

TWO MEET DEATH NEAR SAME PLACE

Horace McElroy, a Prominent Alleghenian, Killed at Railroad Crossing.

WAGNER HAS SIMILAR FATE

Both Accidents Occurred on the Panhandle at Crafton and Both Men's Lives Were Ground Out Within a Few Hours of Each Other.

The lives of two men were suddenly terminated by railroad trains running at a high rate of speed last night. One man was killed at a little after 6 o'clock and the other within 50 yards of the spot, a few hours later. Bystanders say both trains were going at a terrific rate of speed.

Horace McElroy, 29 years old, a prominent young Alleghenian, son of Samuel McElroy, president of Allegheny common council, was the first victim. He was instantly killed at the Steubenville avenue crossing of the Panhandle railroad in Crafton shortly before 6 o'clock last evening. The Steubenville accommodation, due in Crafton at 5:40 o'clock, was nearing the crossing when the young man started across the tracks. He evidently became confused, and in trying to cross ahead of the engine he was struck and carried on the pilot for 200 yards before the train was stopped. When picked up he was dead.

There seems to be no accounting for young McElroy's presence in Crafton, except that he had probably gone there for recreation. For months the young man had been sick, and almost every day took long walks or street car rides in an endeavor to improve his health. Shortly before 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon he left his home, No. 1811 Fremont street, saying to his mother that he would probably take a long street car ride, as the air was cool and bracing.

Two years ago Horace McElroy started to travel around the world. The trip was undertaken in a search for health. The western climate proved beneficial, and for more than a year he lived in or near San Francisco. Then he went to sea with a close friend, the captain of a vessel, and was persuaded to remain for almost six months in Honolulu, where he was secretary to the president of the banking firm of Bishop & Co. His stay in Honolulu proved disastrous to his physical condition, and last March his father went there and brought him back. They arrived home on March 29. Since that time Horace had done nothing.

Horace was a graduate of Allegheny High school and for several years was connected with the Bell Telephone Company in this city. He is survived by his parents, his brothers, Charles S., Fred and Edward. The latter is assistant superintendent of the bureau of surveys of Allegheny city. His sisters surviving are Mrs. Nellie Dittler and Mrs. Alice Ramsey.

Within 50 yards of the spot where McElroy was killed, a few hours earlier, Charles Wagner was ground to death beneath a train. At 9:30 o'clock Wagner was crossing the tracks at a point near Craft avenue when the express from the west ran him down. The body was horribly mangled and death was instantaneous. Wagner was employed at the home of W. A. Zahn, the Crafton insurance man. Wagner was about 45 years old and single.

COMMITTEES APPROVE WAREHOUSE SCHEME

Recommend Passage of Bills for Vacation and Widening of South Side Streets.

Three council committees yesterday approved the necessary ordinances to permit the River & Railroad Terminal Company to build its proposed large warehouse system on the South Side. The public works committee voted to send to councils with an affirmative recommendation the ordinance widening Cabot Way, between South Third and Fourth streets, to 40 feet, which improvement the company offers in lieu of Bingham street, between South Third and Fourth streets. For the widening of the street the company presented petitions of owners of property on the street.

J. J. Buchanan, the principal promoter of the warehouse scheme, made an explanation to the committee, stating that it was proposed to vacate Bingham street, which lies between Cabot way and the Monongahela river, in order to acquire a larger site for the warehouses. He said that the company proposed to erect a bridge from the warehouses to extend over Cabot way at a clearance of over 20 feet, the bridge to afford access for teamsters from Carson street. He said no property owner would be damaged and that the company assumed all possible damages.

The joint surveys committee held a meeting immediately afterwards and approved the ordinance for the vacation of Bingham street. The joint corporations committee then met and approved the ordinance giving the company the right to build a bridge from Carson street, over Cabot way, to connect with the warehouses. On motion of J. C. Wasson the ordinance was amended fixing the lowest clearance of the bridge at 200 feet and the ordinance, giving the company the right to build a railroad siding into the warehouses, was amended, on motion of W. H. Stevenson, making it subject to the license tax levied by the linear tax ordinance. The ordinance changing the name of Cabot way to McKean street was also adopted by the surveys committee.

The surveys committee sent to councils, with a negative recommendation, the ordinance changing the name of Pride street, in the Sixth and Seventh wards, to Mercy street.

Was Roped Out of the Ohio.

Michael Solake of Benton street, while crossing the Ohio river on the ferryboat Steel Queen, plying between McKees Rocks and Lower Allegheny, yesterday morning, leaped into the river. Carles Hagerty, a deck hand, pulled Solake out by means of a loop of rope which he threw over Solake's head.

The Hotel Schenley Houses the Exhibit of Japanese and Chinese Works of Art.

It is flattering to the reputation of Pittsburgh for its taste and appreciation of the best in [illegible] to bring such a marvelous collection of art goods here for sale as that which Yamanaka & Co. are now exhibiting at the Hotel Schenley.

The word "art" has been misinterpreted by many importers who have brought exhibits from the far east, the work having been made up mostly for the European and American markets, while Yamanaka & Co. have not only aimed to please, but have imported strictly artistic work for this exhibit. The exhibition, which starts this morning and continues through Monday and Tuesday in the grand ballroom of the hotel, will convince you of this fact and will be well worth your time, as this is the first time this art work has been shown in this country.

Antique wood carvings are very rare in this part of the world and will create quite a sensation when shown in Pittsburgh. It is sad to think how the old Japanese temples and palaces must have been stripped of their wonderful ornaments and furnishings, and it must be allowed that these objects never look so well as in their own surroundings; still, here we have on exhibition many pieces of wood work and ivories which are well adapted to any interior and which have the added value of usefulness.

The screens, embroideries and old hangings, both Japanese and Chinese, are most beautiful; in fact, New Yorkers have never seen a collection that in any way equals this one, and it will probably be a long time before Pittsburghers will be privileged with another exhibit of this kind. Among other things shown are silver-enamel, cloisonne, bronze, porcelain, carved furniture, and pottery, giving to the grand ballroom a most pleasant and artistic air that makes one feel as though they were visiting in the far east.

CHOPPING BLOCK WILL BE ERECTED

BIGELOW BLAMES VERNER

He Says That the County Chairman Defeated the Ticket by Holding Up Baltimore & Ohio Ordinances—Preparing for a Fight in the First Ward.

The time of the Bigelow machine boss, little and big, is devoted these days to an endeavor to ascertain how it happened. The result will be the erection of another municipal chopping block and Mayor William B. Hays will swing the ax. For the most part it will be the small payroller that will be ripped.

When it comes to carrying districts and delivering wards, a number of the big fellows fell far short of turning in the goods. These men will hold their jobs because they have a "pull." Neither Thomas S. Bigelow, Mayor William B. Hays nor Murry A. Verner can crow much about the showing made in their wards.

This morning the first raid on the little fellow is scheduled to occur. Verner is to have a meeting with a committee from the Twentieth ward organization. The bosses from the Twentieth claim to have found a number of traitors on the payroll and will demand their heads.

The Breck committee in the Fourteenth ward met last night to discuss plans for keeping what little is left of the organization together. Among other matters taken up was the advisability of having the ward payroll revised. The Bigelow leaders think that it would be a good idea to have some appointees in the Fourteenth ward that will go to the polls on election days.

Hundreds to Be Ripped.

It is estimated that at least 300 men on the city payroll are to be discharged. Among the number will be many who deserted the Republican organization for a job. These men lost the little influence they originally possessed, and on Tuesday found that they had nothing to deliver.

Thomas S. Bigelow said yesterday that Verner's opposition to the Baltimore & Ohio railroad ordinances caused the defeat of the Citizens ticket. Then he added:

"That was a mistake. Mr. Verner has learned now by experience, and I do not think that he would make such a mistake again."

In speaking of the councilmanic fights, the head of the machine said that he supposed the Citizens would put up candidates that will be indorsed by the Democrats.

The shoving of the responsibility for the defeat onto the shoulders of Verner is not so amusing to that gentleman as it is to the public generally. His part in the blocking of the railroad legislation made a great many votes for the Republican ticket, but the Bigelow family had the Citizens ticket right well burdened before Verner got fairly started to add to the load.

The Democrats do not take kindly to the suggestion that they will join with Bigelow in February to elect councilmen. A great many of them decided Tuesday that they would not allow County Commissioner James A. Clark, Tim O'Leary and W. J. Brennen to trade them in any longer. Thousands of Democrats refused to participate in the election and there would be a smaller number follow these leaders next February.

May Dump Fleming.

In some of the wards the councilmanic tickets are being got into shape. In the First, John A. Joyce is the candidate for common councilman. He will have the support of Alderman S. J. Toole, and that means that he will be elected. There is talk of George S. Fleming trying to succeed himself in select council. He has been living in the Fourteenth ward for a year or more, even though he still retains his seat in councils. The friends of Toole want him to select another man for the place. They are also opposed to him giving any assistance to Thomas Delaney, who is now in common council and has ambitions to sit in the higher branch. Delaney is said to be a resident of the Twenty-first ward. Both Fleming and Delaney have to have the support of Toole in order to win. Of late both men have obeyed the orders of the bosses of the Bigelow machine and fought the alderman. It is quite likely that he will decide that he does not owe either of them anything.

Peter Snyder, one of the assistant fire chiefs, used to be a rather strong man in the First ward, but on Tuesday he failed to develop much of a following. Like Fleming, he is a resident of the Fourteenth ward and a school director in the First. His term in the school board expires next spring and he will not be reelected.

In the Fourth ward preparations are being made for a fight. P. A. Mannion has announced his candidacy for common councilman on the Republican ticket. John Martin, the present member, will try to be returned by the Citizens. Mannion is very strong and will be able to secure the support of many factions in the ward. Alderman Charles F. Anderson comes up for re-election in February. His friends are endeavoring to secure a clear field for him, but a number of men are talking of running against him.

Chairman Ford Cheered.

Eight hundred enthusiastic Republicans from Sharpsburg, Etna and Aspinwall, with two brass bands, red fire and tin horns, last night celebrated the victory of the Republican party and tendered County Chairman Thomas J. Ford a rousing ovation at his home in Butler street, Etna. Early in the evening torchlight processions paraded the streets of Sharpsburg and Etna, displaying banners proclaiming the death of the Citizens party and the triumph of the G. O. P.

At 8:30 o'clock the two processions joined forces and marched to the home of Mr. Ford. In response to their cheers Mr. Ford, accompanied by his wife and a party of friends appeared on the front porch of his residence and in a short speech thanked his friends and expressed the hope that they might again cheer the Republican party to victory in the February election.

Mr. Ford's remarks were greeted with a rousing cheer and he then introduced Richard Ayres, of Sharpsburg who addressed the crowd speaking of the recent victory as a triumph for the country districts, as the election would have been lost but for the country vote. Members of the Sharpsburg and Etna councils were present and congratulated Mr. Ford.

There was a big Republican jollification last evening in the Turtle Creek valley. The largest street demonstration since President McKinley's election was held. W. H. Summens was chief marshal of the parade, which numbered between 700 and 800 marchers. The parade started from Brinton, led by the Westinghouse Electric band of East Pittsburgh, and followed by the Republican clubs of Turtle Creek, Wilmerding, the John Dalzell club of Braddock, 200 strong, the Afro-American club of Braddock and East Pittsburgh, 250 strong, and several hundred other Republicans. There were a number of decorated floats and appropriate banners.

Anderson Wants a County Job.

Percy Anderson of the McKeesport detective force, may be promoted to the position recently vacated by Detective J. P. Morrisey, former chief of police in McKeesport, as county detective. Anderson is one of the latest appointees of Mayor George J. F. Falkenstein. A petition has been presented to District Attorney Haymaker urging the appointment of Anderson, and he has the support of Mayor George Falkenstein and Chief of Police Louis E. Rotzsch.

BRIDGE TO BE MOVED OUT TO HIGHLAND PARK

Director E. M. Bigelow Proposes to Remove Handsome Stone Structure That Now Stands at Entrance to Schenley Park.

Since the death of Mrs. Mary E. Schenley, Director E. M. Bigelow has announced that he will remove the handsome stone bridge at the main entrance to Schenley park, off Forbes street, and rebuild it over Haight's run, Butler street extension. The bridge now spans the ravine which runs through the 11-acre tract upon which Director Bigelow held options secured from Mrs. Schenley. The director intended to buy this 11-acre tract and annex it to the park, but he says his option expired with Mrs. Schenley's death and he sees no chance of it being renewed.

Without this property he believes the entrance to the park over the stone bridge of little use and proposes to pick up the bridge, stone by stone, and take it out to Straight's run, near Highland park, where he says a bridge is more needed. He said the bridge was too ornamental and useful a structure to be obscured at its present location after the abandonment of the project to extend Schenley park towards Bouquet street. It is his plan after the bridge is removed to build a new entrance to Schenley around the ravine and away from the line of unsightly sheds that stand on private property fronting the drive-way over the bridge.

The proposition to remove the bridge will probably arouse opposition from the Fourteenth ward councilmen who are naturally loath to lose any public improvements which they now have and they may take steps to force the public works director to leave the bridge where it stands.

RADICAL CHANGE BY CONTROLLER

IT WILL PREVENT MISTAKES

Payroll for the Carnegie Institute Employes Is Now Made Out and Counter-Signed at the City Hall to Conform With the Law.

A radical reform in the office of the city controller is proposed and may be put into effect at an early date. The controller is seriously considering the project of abolishing the position of paymaster and discontinuing the issuing of all warrants to the city payroll in his office.

Under the present system every city employe gets his warrant every month from the city controller. This he takes to the treasurer's office and gets it cashed.

Assistant Controller E. S. Morrow has conceived the idea that it would be a better plan to allow the departments to attend to the distribution of warrants themselves, through their various bureaus. It is claimed that this would prevent an employe getting another man's warrant, as has several times happened recently. Whenever the wrong man has been given a warrant the clerk in the controller's office has been compelled to make good the amount out of his own pocket.

The first step in the reform of the paying system in the controller's office was started recently. Formerly the warrants for the employes of the Carnegie institute, who are paid by the city, were made out by the president of the institute without being countersigned by the mayor or controller. Mr. Larkin claimed that the law required that the warrants for the institute should be made out in the same manner as warrants for the departments of the city and the practice was stopped.

Now every warrant for the institute is made out in the mayor's office and signed by the mayor and the controller. The warrants, however, are still distributed at the institute to save the employes the trip to the city hall. The controller believes that if this system was extended to other departments the employes could also be saved considerable time and trouble by having their bureau officers pay them.

Woman's Organization of the African M. E. Church Is in Session.

The Women's Parent Mite Missionary Society of the African Methodist Episcopal Church of America is holding sessions in the Bethel church, Wylie avenue and Elm street. The convention will continue for three more days. Mrs. W. B. Derrick of New York, the president, presided yesterday morning and afternoon. A paper on "The Value of Missionary Literature" was presented at the morning session by Mrs. Annie L. Anderson of Newark, N. J., and a long discussion followed.

At the afternoon session Mrs. M. S. C. Beckett of Baltimore read a paper on "Some Methods By Which We Can Raise Missionary Money." The report of the committee appointed to consider the recommendations of the president's address, the principal of which were that a field secretary at a salary of $500 a year and expenses be appointed, and that the board of managers shall be selected from the 14 districts of the society, was read and, after some discussion, approved.

BRADDOCK ELKS ORGANIZE.

New Lodge to Be Instituted in Turner Theater in Two Weeks.

Braddock lodge, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, which has been organizing for the last two months, will be instituted in the Turner theater, Halket avenue, Braddock, on Monday evening, November 19. The lodge will start with a membership of 80. Fifty of the members who reside in Braddock are members of McKeesport lodge No. 136, Allegheny lodge No. 339, Wilkinsburg lodge No. 517 and Pittsburgh lodge No. 11 of this city, and will demit from their own lodges to form the Braddock lodge.

District Deputy Grand Ruler F. T. McCallister of New Kensington lodge will occupy the station of exalted ruler, assisted by the officers of the Homestead lodge, sitting as the grand lodge.

POINTS TO YOU.

How Coffee Sets Its Grip and Is Never Suspected.

It is surprising how many people never suspect that coffee is causing all their trouble until they are finally knocked out or some disease caused by coffee has become chronic and almost incurable.

Even in chronic cases the chances are a shift from coffee to Postum Food Coffee will build the sick one up and in time effect a cure.

Sometimes this happens with surprising promptness. A lady of Syracuse, Neb., says: "Last spring a year ago my doctor told me I would have to stop drinking coffee. I had heart trouble so bad that the least excitement would cause me to choke up so I could scarcely get my breath, and I was so nervous I could not bear to have the children move around the house.

"Doctor told my husband to get Postum for me, but before he did so we moved to the country and I fell back on milk and water, but even such exertion as climbing a flight of stairs caused my heart to hurt me so I would feel sick and faint.

"This continued all summer until in the fall we again moved to Syracuse. There I got some Postum and began to feel so much better after using one package that I continued its use altogether and I am now better in health than I have ever been before in eight years. I am stronger and fleshier than I ever was and have not had the headache but three times since I began to use Postum a year ago. The change certainly seems wonderful, for I have had no return of the heart trouble at all and I never get tired telling what Postum has done for me." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

EX-GOVERNOR M'CORKLE IS ENTERTAINED HERE

Dinner Given in His Honor by Col. Schoonmaker—C. & O. Officials Favor New Link.

Before returning home ex-Governor W. A. MacCorkle of West Virginia, George W. Stevens, president, and C. E. Doyle, general manager of the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad, were tendered a dinner last evening by Colonel J. M. Schoonmaker, vice president and general manager of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, at his home on Ellsworth avenue. Relations between these two important coal roads have become so closely identified that recently Col. Schoonmaker made a trip over the C. & O's. territory with the view of carrying out an old-time plan of building a link between the systems. While in Charleston he was entertained by ex-Governor MacCorkle, and the dinner last night was partly a return of favors.

President Stevens and General Manager Doyle have been here for two days inspecting the Lake Erie and the new Monongahela railroad, over which line it is proposed to reach the C. & O. The new branch was gone over yesterday, and this morning the party will leave here for Cumberland, and thence over the West Virginia Central & Pittsburgh via Elkins. The proposed route of the connection will be studied today by President Stevens, and it is thought that within a short time plans will materialize whereby the Lake Erie will get a southern and eastern outlet.

Ex-Governor MacCorkle was the principal speaker at the dinner last night. His words were more of an exchange of courtesies, his theme being the relationship between West Virginia and Pennsylvania, which, he said, antedated the Civil war. Others present at the dinner were Major Barton Grundy of Richmond, Robert Pitcairn, Gen. Charles Miller of Franklin, G. M. Miles of New Orleans, William M. Hall, Judge J. J. Miller, J. B. Yohe, Albert H. Childs and B. C. Vaughn.

Automobile Express Company.

Homestead business men, headed by P. S. Coulter, propose establishing an automobile express between Pittsburgh and Homestead about December 1. A contract was made yesterday with the Grant Stearn Truck Company of Orange, N. J., for an automobile capable of carrying several tons. The machine will have a bed measuring 5x14 feet, and it can be arranged to carry 50 passengers. Other machines will be ordered should the undertaking prove a success.

The Angelus Piano Player The World's Entertainer

You may have often envied people who play the piano skillfully.

You may justly think that if you had the musical education certain great performers have had you would be equally proficient.

But don't despair. Your lack of such musical training is supplied in every detail by the Angelus piano player.

This wonderful instrument is not a "piano player," as its name erroneously implies, and it is not an attachment or anything "you wind up," as some people believe.

The Angelus simply is THE MEANS by which you play the piano.

It supplies the musical education and the hours of daily practice all human piano players must go through to reach and maintain the acme of pianistic skill.

Naturally the more music you have in your heart the better equipped you are to play the piano by means of the Angelus, but a novice, who may have never touched the keys of a piano and may have little natural love for music, is capable of rendering either classical or popular music with pleasurable results.

The person who has any fondness for music whatever is permitted by means of the Angelus to give a piece of music the interpretation he feels it should have. If he is an educated musician these results will be ideal.

His mastery of the piano will be perfect.

The Angelus relieves the eyes and the fingers of the onerous burden of playing and gives the mind and heart entire freedom in the execution of the music itself.

WILL CELEBRATE GREAT VICTORY

OLD SOLDIERS WILL NOT WAIT

Present Organization on the North Side to Be Retained and Made Stronger. Chairman John H. Henderson's Letter of Thanks to the Workers.

A meeting of the Allegheny City Republican executive board will be held tonight at headquarters. Plans for a big ratification meeting will be discussed and a date for the jollification set. It will be some night next week and will be held in Carnegie music hall. Prominent speakers will address the crowd, and Thomas G. Sample will make an address to the old soldiers of Allegheny.

It had been the intention to hold the big meeting tonight, but it was found impossible to complete plans and arrange for speakers in so short a time after the election. The Veterans' association, however, will go ahead with its meeting tonight, and hundreds of Republicans who were not in the war will be present to add enthusiasm to the affair.

The city committee of the Republican organization will meet early next week with Chairman Francis J. Torrance presiding, to perfect plans to retain the present excellent organization of Republicans in Allegheny. The fact that with the men now working for the party the Citizens majority in the city last Tuesday was held down below 2,000, despite the work of the vast payroll army, has encouraged the organization leaders, and it has been decided to hold intact the present working forces, with a few changes.

Chairman John H. Henderson yesterday mailed letters to every member of the county and city committees and the chairmen of the ward and district organization committees, thanking them for their work and congratulating them on the success they had. A copy of the letter follows:

> You are to be congratulated on the loyalty and energy manifested by you in the campaign just closed. You contributed largely to the victory won by the Republican party in Allegheny county. In the two preceding elections our party was defeated in our city by the Democratic-Citizens fusion by heavy majorities; in February last by almost 9,000 votes. Through your fidelity and active efforts this majority has been reduced about 8,000; and this, too, while you were battling with the city hall ring, who were backed by the pay-roll, and supplied with large sums of money for campaign purposes. The Republican party in our city never in its history had so many active and unselfish men connected with its organization; men who devoted their time, labor and money unselfishly to make the party of Lincoln again supreme in Allegheny and in Allegheny county.
> The efficiency of our city organization has been thoroughly tested in this campaign, and it is hoped that every member of it will realize the great importance of keeping it in a live condition and in first-class working order. This is the essential thing. Let us fill all gaps, strengthen all weak places and be ready to show a firm and solid line of battle for the next campaign. Let our aim be to correct abuses, to secure a good government for the people, under Republican auspices; and we will make the next election a Waterloo for the fusion opposition.

LARKIN FINDS BASIN STILL LEAKS BADLY

Controller Makes Another Personal Inspection of the New Highland Reservoir.

Controller John B. Larkin has made another inspection of the new Highland reservoir and reports that it is leaking badly and is in an unsafe condition. The controller said he had heard for a month past that the reservoir was in a worse condition than when the leaks were discovered, and he determined to see them for himself. Instead of coming direct to his office in the city hall yesterday morning he took a car to Highland park and walked around the embankment of the basin.

He said he found the water gushing out of the embankment on the northwest side at a fearful rate. He noticed that the contractors still had their railroad siding and hoisting engines on the ground ready in case it might be necessary to make more repairs. Under the terms of the contract between the city and contractors, the city was privileged to retain for one year after the completion of the work a certain percentage of the money due the contractors. This provision was made for the benefit of the city in the event of any defect being found with the work.

The time is approaching for the money to be paid and Controller Larkin is bent upon making another investigation before he pays this money over. If the controller finds that there is enough evidence to justify him refusing to pay the balance on the contract he will do so and the whole matter may get into the courts again.

The controller said one man had estimated the leakage from the reservoir at 5,000,000 gallons a day. He said he found that people in Heights run, below the reservoir, had abandoned their homes, fearing that the walls of the basin might give way and flood the valley. He noticed a thick deposit of mud inside of the basin above the surface of the water which he thought indicated that the water was constantly falling through leakage in spite of the efforts of the pumps at the Brilliant station to keep the basin full.

The Heyse Drama.

Paul Heyse, the author of "Mary of Magdala," that Mrs. Fiske will present at the Duquesne on Monday, is one of the most prominent of German playwrights. He has written a large number of plays, most of which are in the repertoires of the leading German stock companies. He is the author also of many novels and short stories, that have obtained popularity. "Mary of Magdala" is the first of his plays to be presented in English.

Knife Flourisher Punished.

Magistrate Frank Harkins, at police station No. 5, Allegheny, yesterday fined Charles Raper, of Shady avenue, $10 and costs, or 90 days to the workhouse. It was alleged that Raper on Thursday night secured a large bread knife and threatened to cut persons who were on the street. He was flourishing the knife when arrested.

Children's Day Among the Toys

Today our great Toy Bazaar in the bright and cheerful Basement in the East Store is given over to the children. Send them along, and come yourself, if you enjoy seeing children in their happiest moods.

We never prepared so elaborately for children as this season now leading up to the Christmas holidays. We never had such a roomy place to exhibit toys, nor did we ever have a place so convenient of access as the present Toy Store. This Basement Store is filled with the most ingenious toys that the German peasants of the Black Forest, as well as the toy makers of France and Austria, could invent.

Speaking to parents, if you see anything in your rambles through this childish wonderland that strikes your fancy, just hint that you would like us to lay it aside until Santa Claus comes and we will do so with pleasure.

Our Assemblage of Medium to Finest Furs. Simply a question of the grade of fur you have elected to purchase—the full range of all the finest furs produced is here and ready, whether it be a neat, comfortable and inexpensive Scarf, or the still comfortable and splendidly luxurious fur of the Russian Crown Sable. A right good idea of the diversity in price of medium grades of furs is herewith given:

Sable Fox Scarfs, fine quality, one tail with cord and tassel, an extra length, $9.00.
Isabella Fox Neck Pieces, extra length, two tails, silk cord and tassels, $10.00.
Sable Fox Neck Pieces, fine quality and extra length, one tail, two claws, $12.50.
Sable Fox Neck Pieces, very large size, three tails, $15.00.
Isabella Fox Scarfs, large tail and two claws, finished with cord and tassel, $17.00.
Isabella Fox Scarfs, with very long tail and two claws, fastens with chain, $20.00.
Isabella Fox Scarfs, having long tail and two claws, something real fine for the price, $22.00.
Sable Fox Neck Pieces of extra length and extra fine fur, large tail and two claws, $25.00.
Isabella Fox Neck Pieces, finished with three tails and neck chain, something very handsome for $25.
Isabella Fox Neck Pieces, large tail and two claws, silk cord with two long tassels, $40.00.
Plain Persian Coats, 24 inches long, size range from 34 to 44 inches, lined with extra quality of satin, very special at $150.00.

Women who have in mind the buying of a Sealskin Coat are advised that we show none but Alaska Seal Coats. No other seal is considered by us. Alaska seal is best in every way. Our prices for coats of Alaska seal are about what you would be asked to pay elsewhere for such common seals as those of Copper Island or Lobos Island.

It may be as well to note that we have muffs to match all furs, and the prices are correspondingly low.

Finest and Handsomest of Men's Neckwear. The very fine means made-to-order. Shall we make you up one or more? Any shape desired, $1.75. You select the silk.

We are selling more fine neckwear than ever—doing the business best—why shouldn't we?

If your choice is among the made-up Scarfs there is ample range at $1.50. English Squares worn as a Puff or Four-in-Hand.

And at $1.00 the choosing is even greater, all the plain colors, all black and all white, not to mention the multitudinous combinations. The showing includes all the correct shapes.

In Neckwear at 50c

There's too much to tell of in detail. If we do say it ourselves, you never saw such another collection of new and fine and correct neckwear for 50c. Mostly in silks—some in satin. As to colorings, they are chaotic; as to patterns and shapes, no good style is missing. A trained taste was not hampered in gathering the assortments. Included are folded English Squares, liberal in size, can be worn as a Four-in-Hand or Club.

A Great New Lot of Liberty Silk Scarfs. The snappy weather and our new importation of beautiful plain and printed Liberty Silk Scarfs arrived the same day. Nothing more to the purpose could be suggested than these splendid clinging folds of Liberty silk to be worn with the new styles of coats and wraps. The Scarfs are prettier than ever and lower priced than ever.

Plain Scarfs from $1.50 each up to $5.00.
Printed Scarfs from $2.50 each up to $9.00.

Our line of seasonable Ruffs, Stoles and Boas is larger and more comprehensive than we had planned to offer, but the demand put new light into our eyes.

Of Liberty Silk, from $4.00 each up to $25.00.
Of Ostrich Feathers, from $15.00 each up to $100.00.

Men's Underwear in Greatest Variety. Temperature suggests underwear changes. No house has a larger or superior stock. We fit all sizes of men perfectly—it is a specialty with us. Stout and thin, short legs and long arms, and vice versa, we cope with satisfactorily. We also meet the condition of your pocketbook satisfactorily.

Gray Merino, $1.00 and $1.50 a garment.
Drab Merino, $1.75 a garment.
White and Brown Merino, $1.75 and $2.00 a garment.
Heavy Natural Wool, $1.25 and $2.50 a garment.
Heavy White Wool, $2.25 a garment.
Ribbed Balbriggan, $1.25 and $1.50 a garment.
Ribbed Merino $2.00 and $2.50 a garment.
We are headquarters for Dr. Deimel Linen Mesh Underwear. It sounds rather facetious to talk of linen undergarments for winter, yet we have the winter weights of Deimel Linen Mesh, and they sell for $3.25 a garment.
Underwear that is favored by many men is Wright's Health Undergarments made of an extra quality of wool, fleeced. Does not shrink, does not irritate. $1.00 each.
We are agents for Dr. Jaeger's Sanitary Woolen Underwear, carry all weights and sell the garments at their catalogue price.
Koted Silk Underwear, knitted on inside with a coating of pure silk—a startling improvement on wool. Immaterial how laundered, will not become hard and irritating like wool. Exclusively here for Pittsburgh and Allegheny, $2.50 a garment.
Sole agents in Western Pennsylvania for the two leading English Underwear manufacturers, Allen, Solly & Co. and I. & R. Morley. Representative lines of all their productions. Eastern retailers carry these fine goods but their prices are very much higher than ours.

Men's Medium to Finest Grades of Winter Socks. The half hose business is done here on lines of direct buying from manufacturers. There is nothing like getting your goods from first hands, otherwise the customer always has to pay the middlemen's profit.

Special lot of Black Cashmere Socks, finished with neat silk embroidered figures, 35c a pair, or 3 pairs for $1.00.
Finer qualities, 50c, 75c, $1.00 up to $2.50 a pair.

Men's Bathrobes That Are Less Priced. The comfortable terry cloth kind, $5.00. Perhaps some other store could get such robes as these to sell for $5.00, but no other store around the bigger town does get them. Go where you will, you will find lots of robes for $7.00 not any better.

Excellent terry cloth is employed in the making, cut comfortably throughout, sleeves properly put in, skirts the right length, seams neatly finished—withal, a fine negligee garment for the very small sum of $5.00.

French Bath Robes, $5.00 to $20.00; many decided novelties.

Men's Best Gloves From Abroad and Home. The best manufacturers of England, France, Germany and America contribute to our superb glove assortment for men. Collectively, they are the dressiest gloves we can procure. The range is a broad one, both as to grade and price.

Dent's Walking Gloves, $2.00 a pair.
Fownes' Walking Gloves, $1.50 and $2.00 a pair.
Morley's Walking Gloves, $1.75 a pair.
Perrin's Gloves, $2.00 a pair.

Saturday, November 7, 1903.

We print in another column a letter from Capt. Charles Becker. It is self-explanatory and indicates the desperate methods employed to avert the deserved rebuke administered to the Democratic-Citizens machine on Tuesday—especially by the old soldiers. How many other names may have been on that circular without authority we do not pretend to know. We do know the resentment of Capt. Becker is fully justified and quite natural.

Judge Cleaveland appears to have decided all law points against William J. Bryan in the Bennett will case and all moral points in Mr. Bryan's favor. This adjudication is distinctly unfavorable to the late presidential candidate as a lawyer, but is complimentary to him as a man of sterling integrity. Thus the court of law passes upon the free silver apostle much the same sort of verdict that has twice been given in the court of public opinion, namely, that his faults are of the head and not of the heart.

A Columbus theatrical manager, who expelled a delegate in congress from his theater on the assertion that "all coons look alike to me," was soon afterward willing to apologize for his mistake. The gentleman expelled was Prince Kilianianolie of Hawaii. The manager, however, was not more unreasonable than those southern politicians who have raised the "white supremacy" issue and are abusing President Roosevelt because he invited Booker T. Washington to sit at his table. Those people would, no doubt, have objected just as strenuously to the social recognition of the queen of Sheba by King Solomon, the wise.

Gen. Greeley's annual report, dealing with the construction of more than 1,000 miles of telegraph in Alaska, is an interesting document as well as a high tribute to the devotion of members of the corps in the face of difficulties. All except one of the civilian employes engaged on the work deserted to the gold fields in search of fortune, but the enlisted men and officers never faltered in their arduous duty. In addition to rigors of the climate, the wires had to be strung through a region without roads, the material being transported on sledges in the winter over trails that would have been impassable at any other season. The lines, however, are a great addition to the signal service.

Since the campaign is over, the contraction of the force of public employes has begun. It is usual at this time of year to reduce the number of outdoor men in several of the bureaus, and this year the curtailment in the department of public works is more than ordinarily severe because councils did not appropriate sufficient funds. The immediate effect in the bureaus which have no funds will be the neglect of public work that ought to be attended to. Incidentally the men who are dropped first will be those who did not render a full measure of political service, and, also incidentally, it is just possible the appropriations might have held out a little longer if the payrolls had not been padded with extra workmen just prior to the election.

Councils passed appropriate resolutions upon the death of Mrs. Mary E. Schenley, donor of Schenley park and the old blockhouse, and wisely provided for a permanent committee on memorial. What form the memorial shall take has not been decided. That is a matter for careful and deliberate consideration. A monument has been spoken of, to be placed in the park, and another good suggestion has been made by Assistant Controller E. S. Morrow, namely, that councils should authorize the erection of a memorial arch at the entrance to the park, next the Carnegie institute. Possibly both of these might be realized, the one to be done by the city officially and the other by public contributions. Pittsburgh has much for which to be grateful to the memory of Mrs. Schenley.

By reason of the extremely light vote polled in the state, the next Democratic convention will have but 246 delegates, 200 less than this year's convention, the delegates being apportioned according to the number of Democratic votes cast. This should be an entirely satisfactory development to Chairman Hall, for it will enable him to rent rooms for holding the convention at a less price. Mr. Hall balked on the price asked for the Harrisburg opera house for this year's convention and rented the board of trade rooms. The next convention will not need as spacious quarters. By and by a back room on the second floor will suffice for the naming of a ticket and the adoption of a state issues platform. There are hardly enough Democrats in the state to make it worth while to hire a hall.

There is a threat of revolution in an unusual American quarter, namely, the Danish West Indies. A report from St. Thomas says the people are highly dissatisfied with the royal decree imposing much heavier taxation upon them and are seriously considering resistance. Denmark will have no one but herself to blame if the islands are lost. They have not been self-supporting for many years and the inhabitants have desired annexation to the United States. On account of these conditions the United States made an offer to purchase them four years ago. The Danish ministry was willing and urged the sale upon the Danish parliament. The upper house agreed, but the lower house rejected the proposition, declaring that if the government was unwilling to longer pay the bill for maintenance it should levy heavier taxation on the islands. This is what has been done, and it is this taxation the people are protesting against. Possibly an uprising on their part may bring the Danish legislators to their senses.

Panama Independence.

The Panama revolution has ample justification. The reasons set forth in our own Declaration of Independence are to a large extent applicable. Colombia has gotten much from Panama and done nothing for it, and so indifferent are the Bogota politicians to Panama's welfare that one of the objections urged to the ratification of the canal treaty is that it would benefit only Panama and be of no use to the rest of the country. It is a fact that Panama is so separated from Colombia that it is quite another country. Although there is land connection between Panama and Colombia, along one narrow strip there is no land communication. All trade and travel between Panama and Colombia go by ocean routes. Both by nature and interest political independence is indicated for Panama if she has the power to achieve it, and it plainly appears that she has.

Revolution may be regarded as a constitutional right in Colombia. At the time the Panama canal franchises were granted the Constitution distinctly provided that the general government should preserve a strict neutrality in case of war between the states composing the union. The general government was mainly an agency for the management of external relations. Constitutional theory has, however, had very little to do with Colombian politics. In practice the government has been conducted on

"The simple plan
That they should take who have the power,
And they should keep who can."

But so far as Colombian constitutional law is worth anything the Panama revolution may claim legal justification in addition to its foundation upon natural equity.

The practical sovereignty of the isthmus has long rested with this country, under treaty obligations antecedent to the formation of Colombia, which dates back only to 1861, its predecessor being the republic of New Granada. The United States is under obligation to keep the isthmus open to the transit of commerce and nearly every year has had to land marines in performance of that duty. Any efforts which Colombia may make to reduce Panama to obedience are subject to the paramount duty of the United States to prevent any obstruction of commerce. This effectually precludes any blockade and practically makes military operations impossible upon any considerable scale, as the United States cannot allow the Panama railroad to be taken for military use. Colombia is really powerless to do anything and hence the sudden collapse of all resistance to the revolution.

The prompt recognition of the de facto government of Panama by our government is compulsory. The authority of Colombia is extinct and the only authority which our government can now address in regard to the situation at the isthmus is the Panama government. In due time that government will be duly organized and the Panama canal negotiations will be carried on with it hereafter. The new government will favor the construction of the Panama canal, but it would be good policy on the part of our government to proceed at once to acquire the franchises and property of the Panama Canal Company without waiting for the aid or consent of any other nation.

Open Confessions.

The obituary notices which appear in the columns of the organs of the Democratic-Citizens combine with regard to the attempt to capture some county offices on a platform of broken promises continue to be entertaining and even instructive. The obituary is so different from the prospectus and from the declarations of the achievements of the political circus during its previous exhibitions as to furnish abundant food for thought and add to the gaiety of the voters of Allegheny county, if not exactly to that of nations. We were told the evening before the day of the election that abuses had been remedied, that franchises had been taxed, that expenses had been reduced, graft abolished and the contract system purified, though there was before the people at the same moment the declaration of the Orphans that none of these things had been done, and that instead there had been a persistent blockade of legislation for the public good, while worse things than a mere blockade of good legislation was on the slate for post-election fulfillment. Now the siren song of the organs that denied these allegations and pointed with pride has been changed, and instead of militant virtues that called for halos and triumphs and a large vote it is told in somber tones that defeat was earned and that the burial was all that could have been expected under the circumstances.

However, the unhorsed are pointed to hope of a political resurrection if they will learn from the scare that has been given them to be good. They must show in Pittsburgh councils that they have repented "All depends upon the course pursued in Pittsburgh councils." It is declared that it ought to be in the power of the Citizens to do a number of things that the people favor, in addition to "compelling the entire Citizens representation in councils to stand up openly, squarely and aggressively for all the reform principles laid down in the platform on which they were elected." "Let it be shown to the people that the reform movement is no sham." "If the Citizens party, profiting by the lessons of the county election, proceeds honestly to live up to its professions there may be no need of a new independent organization," and there may be more cakes and ale and usufruct of the offices, etc.

All this differs materially from the boastfulness that preceded Tuesday, and the assertions that public confidence had been earned, whereas it is now admitted that it had been forfeited and rebuke earned. It is illuminating and enlightening. Let it be continued for the information and instruction of the people.

The Business Situation.

The public clings to the iron market as the barometer of general trade, and inasmuch as the iron market is in a depressed condition, a rather pessimistic feeling prevails. This was manifested during the closing days of the week in fresh liquidation in the securities of the United States Steel Corporation, which carried prices to a still lower level. The trouble with this barometer of trade, however, is the difficulty of reading it. The fact that premiums on the prompt delivery of iron and steel products were disappearing was known to experts in the trade months ago, and students of human nature also foresaw further concessions and lessened buying on a declining market. The cut in the Steel dividend last month was based, not upon materially reduced earnings for the current quarter ended September 30, but upon the prospects for the future. The present condition was foreseen, and in the view of some authorities has already been discounted by stock market values.

While reaction is now in progress in commercial and industrial circles, and while a spirit of caution has been produced among bankers by recent events in various parts of the country, it is well to bear in mind that there is nothing in the situation to warrant apprehension of a return of anything like the depression that prevailed in 1893-96. As compared with 1901-1902, the buying power of the public in industrial centers is likely to be diminished during the next six or eight months, because the tendency in all lines of trade will be inevitably toward a reduction in the cost of production; but the buying power of the great agricultural classes of the south and west was never so great as it is at the present time. The burden of debt upon the farmer and planter is also extremely light. This is in striking contrast with the situation as it existed during the free-silver-tariff-revision period of a few years ago, when all classes were equally affected and all financial, commercial and industrial business equally depressed.

The past week has witnessed the beginning of the delayed movement of gold imports. This would have begun earlier in the season but for the backwardness of the crops and the abnormally high price of cotton, which practically shut the foreign manufacturer out of the market and at the same time compelled the shut-down of domestic mills. The movement of gold hither at this time is very opportune, since it will tend to offset the shipments of currency to the interior, which have been very heavy during the past two weeks. Rates for money have ruled firm, but they are not exorbitant, and there has been no evidence of serious monetary stringency.

One of the best evidences that the trade depression in the east has not reached the west and south has been furnished by the report of earnings of railroads traversing those sections. Notwithstanding comparison is made with a period of great activity last year and the year before, the increases in gross receipts are enormous.

With the per capita of money in circulation at the present time the largest in the history of the country; with government finances in better shape than ever before; with the granaries of the west bursting with the largest average crops ever harvested, and with security values at the lowest average for five years, there is certainly no cause for alarm because of the natural reaction in the iron trade.

Hazers Dismissed.

Hazing at the naval academy at Annapolis has been given a severe rebuke by the dismissal of three cadets by Secretary Moody of the navy department. These young men were found guilty of inflicting severe punishment, as a part of the initiation to the school, and though they may have been well fitted in other ways for distinguished naval careers they will be compelled to turn their energies to some other calling. The young men are to be pitied, though they brought the punishment upon themselves. The case is not to be considered so much as a personal humiliation of the three who have been dismissed as an exemplary discipline to discourage a custom at the naval school. Some others have probably deserved dismissal who have not been dismissed.

It is to be hoped this example will have a good effect at Annapolis and that it may be noted elsewhere. The hazing of young students by their seniors in college practice is a barbarism that ought not to be tolerated. An initiation of harmless fun at the expense of the freshman could easily be overlooked by college authorities, but hazing that may result in death or lifelong injury cannot be condoned. It is not a mere "prank of youth," but the development of a spirit of rowdyism discreditable alike to the participants and to the school. It is high time for severe repressive measures to be taken, and Secretary Moody is to be commended for setting the pace.

Andrew Carnegie once said: "Steel is either a prince or a pauper." Wall street appears to think its pauper days are at hand and cannot see far enough ahead to know its princely days will soon return again.

Objections to McClellan for the presidency on the ground of youth and inexperience and foreign birth are hardly worth discussing. The chief objection to him is that he won't do, and that is the one that counts.

The defeated candidates of last Tuesday can at least congratulate themselves that so far as they are concerned the handshaking is at an end. That is where they have an advantage over the winners.

The Colombian senators who held up the Panama canal and the Pittsburgh councilmen who held up the Baltimore & Ohio railroad both seem to be in the same boat.

The Colombian government is now devoting itself to guessing whether it was wise to discourage the bird that wanted to lay the golden egg in its back yard.

The doctors of the Hill Top have formed a union and threaten to strike unless paid higher rates. Patients who can't afford it will simply have to get better.

The few snow flurries of yesterday accompanying a stock market that isn't owned by the bulls is again suggestive of that snowball diet.

Michigan Claims Credit.

The Michigan legislature of two years ago though shorn in many of the cardinal virtues, was long on horse tails, and for the sake of mercy and decency enacted an anti-docking law, making it a statutory offense to bob an equine's fly brush and hang up what was left with a pulley and weight to complete the animal's misery and disgrace. The fame of the Michigan anti-bob tail law spread. President Roosevelt heard of it, gave it his expressed approval and ordered that no "docked" horses be added to his stable. Secretary Root now supports Michigan and the president and goes to the extent of issuing an order that the practice of "docking" be discontinued in the United States army as not only a cruelty to the horse, but a repulsive disfigurement. The fact is, if nature had planned a bob-tailed horse she would have attended to it herself.—Detroit Tribune.

Decline of Socialism.

The Massachusetts Socialists do not seem to have maintained their strength in the election which has just taken place. Their vote of nearly 40,000 last year is said to have fallen off about 25 per cent and instead of the three members of the legislature which they formerly possessed they have been able to elect only one. This showing will be regarded with relief by the managers of both the great parties. It apparently indicates that the Socialist vote, which, if it had continued to increase, would have been a decidedly dangerous factor, has begun to disintegrate from natural causes.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

A Canadian on Canada.

A commentary upon the Canadians and especially the British Columbian reception of the Alaskan boundary decision is furnished by the Victoria Colonist interview with R. E. Gosnell of the bureau of provincial information. Mr. Gosnell says: "I never anticipated a result materially different from what has come about. Canada's case on the main contention, though the arguments were prepared with ability and great ingenuity, was not essentially a strong one." And Mr. Gosnell has long been recognized as an authority on the subject.—Portland Oregonian.

Zebrula and Mule.

The zebrula may be livelier, but the thoughts of the mule are "long, long thoughts." Horses may come and zebras may go, but the mule will go on forever. He has the sanction of age and the promise of the future. He carried Abraham and Solomon. He was at the building of the temple, and was traded in the fairs of Tarshish. The zebrula never will supplant him. The fate of the dodo already threatens the zebra. When he is gone, whence the zebrula?—Chicago Tribune.

The Right of Appeal.

The primary object of the judiciary should always be justice, not expedition in disposing of litigation. If the present rules of practice tend to a congestion of business in the appellate courts it would be more reasonable to grant those courts relief by increasing the number of justices than to take from litigants the right to have the records of their cases reviewed.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

The "Old Lady" at the Head.

The "Old Lady" is on horseback again in Pittsburgh, and she is not riding a side-saddle either. We thought her doomed to sit on the fence and watch the procession as it passed by. But behold she is caracoling right at the head. One can't always just exactly tell what is going to happen at an election.—Uniontown Genius, (Dem.)

WHAT HAVE YOU DONE?

You are going to do great things, you say—
But what have you done?
You are going to win in a splendid way,
As others have won;
You have plans that when they are put in force
Will make you sublime;
You have mapped out a glorious upward course—
But why don't you climb?

You're not quite ready to start, you say;
If you hope to win
The time to be starting is now—today—
Don't dally, begin!
No man has ever been ready as yet,
Nor ever will be,
You may fall ere you reach where your hopes are set—
But try it and see.

You are going to do g[illegible] things, you say,
You have spl[illegible]ns;

The Quiet Observer.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

She thought herself about the sweetest thing on earth, and he agreed with her. In fact, he claimed to know whereof he spoke, and she had no hesitancy in referring to him concerning this matter, for she knew that he knew just how sweet she was.

Don't ask how he came to know, for you know yourself that you don't like anyone who kisses and tells.

So just be satisfied with the statement that she thought herself about the sweetest ever, and that he supported her in it to the last.

Of course, you understand that her thinking herself sweet, sweetness itself didn't make her the embodiment of the sweetness, for you are not entirely exempt yourself. And no doubt he lives who will support your claim valiently.

Then what is the use of any girl claiming to be the sweetest yet? True she may find some mighty good fellow to support the claim, but there are others each with one or many witnesses ready to testify in her favor.

Isn't it good for us all that there is so much womanly and girlish sweetness in this world that one cannot possibly get away with all of it? If such a thing were possible there are those among the dear creatures who would cabbage the whole lot and get away with it along with some good fellow.

* * * *

Mr. Quiet Observer:—Ever since Uncle John wrote you that letter on the kissing question I have been waiting for some one to pitch into him and claw him good; but rather than that he should miss a combing down I take up my pen and will try to scratch him a bit myself.

He says it is a very sloppy sort of business. That depends, of course. In all probability it would be so in his case, but he isn't the only man in the world. There are sloppy men, and sloppy women, and these don't deserve to be kissed. They are not kissable.

I am sorry to have to say it, but really I can't help thinking Uncle John is one of these. And what a pity for some parts of his letter were right good, so good in fact, that I am quite sure he was not always of his present opinion, nor always unkissable. Were he to come out fair and square, and tell the whole truth and nothing but the truth, we would learn that he has been just as bad as other men, and loved and kissed the same as others.

Being a woman and old enough to know a few things and always with sense enough to take care of myself, I may be allowed to say a few words on this subject, and to say this in all seriousness.

If girls were taught that a kiss is a serious thing, as well as sacred and pure, they would not be so reckless with them, nor would kisses be held so cheaply. They ought to mean a great deal.

I can see no harm in a properly trained girl allowing her sweetheart to kiss her good night, even if the good night ceremony is long drawn out, for the kiss is only a form of the language of love.

I will admit that it may be and that it is often abused—shamefully abused—but that should not count against it being rightly used.

To be quite candid, I will say that I would be very sorry to find myself unkissable, or to discover that I was as badly soured as Uncle John. Probably I am not as old as he, and I know I am not as cranky.

Wonder what ever happened to so sadly upset Uncle John? It must have been something terrible, for I can detect many points in his letter that go to satisfy me that he was once not only kissable but loveable.

Can it be that he does not consider himself fit to be kissed?

I knew a man once who became very sloppy, chewed tobacco, smoked a strong pipe, drank beer, and used bad language, thus unfitting himself to be kissed.

One day a sweet Quaker cousin came on a visit from Indiana and as is the custom among Quaker cousins, she ran to meet and greet him with a kiss. She met him, but didn't kiss. He noticed her disappointment, or disgust, maybe, and from that day to this his lips have been ever clean, and he is no longer the sloppy man he once was, and his Quaker cousin can meet and greet him without holding her breath and shuddering.

Sabe, Uncle John? CAROLINE.

What Sage was it who once said: "There are no ugly women; there are only women who do not understand how to make themselves beautiful?"

Beauty lies chiefly in the eye of the observer; and though a moderately good face and figure are the essentials of any claim to good looks, still every type or gradation of type has so many admirers that it is impossible to draw a picture of beauty, and say this, and this only, is perfect loveliness.

Sarah Bernhardt, though so thin that a wit on seeing a painting of her, a favorite hound lying at her feet, made that by her art she makes her audiences forget her lack of beauty in the exquisite grace of her movements and the perfection of her acting.

It is doubtful whether Cleopatra, with her dusky skin and Moorish features, was really beautiful, according to western standards of beauty. More probable is it that the "Serpent of the Nile" enslaved Marc Antony, as well as the great Caesar, by means of the insinuating grace of persuaveness of her prototype who in like manner brought about the first fall.

Ever since the beginning of civilization poets and artists have peopled the world of imagination with models that have helped largely to form and stimulate the taste for what is graceful, good and beautiful. Let us glance at a few of their heroines whose names have become synonyms for sweetness and beauty.

Milton's Eve is a tall, stately blonde,
Grace was in all her steps, heaven in her eyes—
In every gesture dignity and love.

* * * * *

Shakespeare's women convey to the mind a most perfect image of their loveliness, although he rarely, if ever, describes them with more than a word or a phrase. Yet Imogen, fair and golden haired appears before us clad in all the purity of grace of the "fesh lily" to which he likens her.

Tom Moore's beauty of the harem has coal black hair and eyebrows that sweetly rise

In jetty arches o'er her eyes;
Gently in a crescent gliding—
Just comingling—just dividing.

A true picture of Oriental beauty this, where the eyebrows must join slightly to inspire beauty. Indeed, the whole description seems laden with the "spicy breath of the east."

Spencer's heroines convey an idea of the sort of beauty we are wont to attribute to saints and angels. Take, for instance, the following extract from his description of Una:

Her angel's face
As the great eye of heaven shined bright,
And made a sunshine in that shady place—

We seem to see the heavenly purity of her soul reflected in her eyes.

* * * * *

And so one might keep on and on, in the vain endeavor to fix upon paper the different ideals that have been pursued like will o' the wisps by generation after generation. As a rule the beautiful is only beautiful in our eyes in so far as it resembles the one we hold most dear.

And though beauty is doubtless a priceless gift still it is a false idea that it is only the pretty woman who is sought after. If this were so, what would become of the great majority of women? In spite of the chivalry that terms us the "fair sex," beauty is no more common among women than among men. And yet, does this prevent the greater number from becoming happy wives and mothers? No. It is the character of a girl that attracts or repels. A plain face, if not absolutely ugly and alighted up with kindness, generosity and intelligence, will always make its way in the world, while a beautiful one, if it lacks these qualities of heart and mind, can only charm and dazzle for a short while.

There is much truth in the trite old aphorism with which our grandmothers were wont to rebuke vanity:—

Talked of in New York

GEORGE C. JENKS.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Bishop Potter is not so very much disappointed over the result of the election in this city. He does not like Tammany methods as a whole and he would have preferred the victory of Mayor Low. But, as he is quoted, he admits that this cosmopolitan community leans toward a wide-open town. He puts it this way: "If a man works overtime on Saturday and gets no wages until midnight, he is apt to become dissatisfied if not permitted to purchase what he needs on Sunday without breaking the law." This is the situation in a nutshell. New York always becomes restive after a period of virtue as represented by a sharp observance of the Sunday law, and the repression of illegal forms of amusement such as gambling. The "good" people are in the minority. The element which enjoys a few drinks of intoxicating liquor on Sunday as a relaxation from the strict carrying on of business and work through the week is strong enough to place in office the men who will not be too stringent in enforcing the laws made by out-of-town legislators. That is why Tammany won on Tuesday. There are other reasons given, but any New Yorker who is honest in his opinions will admit that the people are tired of being good for two years and look for a little fun under Tammany. Bishop Potter is a liberal man and though as a clergyman, he cannot openly approve of Sunday amusements and Sunday drinking, he does not blind himself to the obvious fact that the majority of New Yorkers like to trot with a loose rein.

Lawyer Fails to Get Redress.

Justice Scott of the supreme court is sympathetic and he coincided with the jury which said it was sorry for a 200-pound lawyer who failed to recover $20,000 from the city because he had been thrown upon his head from his runabout. His horse had taken fright at an automobile and the wheels of his vehicle caught in a hole in the asphalt 10 feet long. The lawyer thought the city was responsible for his injury because it had allowed the hole to be there, but the jury thought otherwise, and now the lawyer is hunting for the owner of the automobile.

Croker's Place Is Filled.

Tammany men in the rank and file would like to shout "McClellan for governor in 1904," but Charles F. Murphy frowns upon it. As a 'prentice hand Murphy is exhibiting so much of Richard Croker's caution as to lead to the conviction that he studied that astute leader's methods to good purpose. The talk about Murphy needing Croker or anyone else to teach him how to run Tammany Hall is not so insistent as it used to be. Last Tuesday's victory has placed Murphy on a pinnacle.

Mighty Theologs Ready to Clash.

The Rev. R. C. Fillingham, who came over here to fight ritualism, and who had some rather peppery correspondence with Bishop Potter in which Fillingham had a shade the better of it, has written to the people in New York that he is still in the ring, or words to that effect. When he left New York a few months ago he said he would be back. The high church Episcopal clergymen here are getting ready for him and there may be a schismatic and polemical battle when the British vicar returns which will make the late political campaign look like a pink tea.

Not Enough Places to Live.

The howl for apartments at a reasonable rent is becoming louder from day to day. Many new apartment houses have been built in the last year or two and tenants are found for them as soon as they are habitable. The fact that people will pay from $1,000 to $2,000 a year for suites is pointed to as proof that high-class apartments are wanted and that tenants are willing to pay the price. The truth is that they are not willing to pay the price, but they cannot avoid it. That is the situation.

Van Wyck Has Good Eyesight.

Robert Van Wyck, formerly mayor of New York, has been heard from. He says he has been vindicated by the Tammany victory. To which irreverent persons, who remember a certain scandal connected with him when he was head of this city government, respond with the single word "ice."

Outcry Against the Baby Carriage.

Harlemits who do not own babies are making an outcry against the number of "perambulators" to be seen in the streets on any fine day. One man, an old bachelor of course, declares that he counted 68 baby carriages passing a corner in One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street in five minutes. No race suicide in Harlem, evidently.

Princeton the Center of Activity.

In the absence of a football game at the Polo grounds tomorrow, lovers of the sport will go to Princeton, a special train having been put on for the trip. Princeton and Lafayette will try conclusions and it is expected that a good argument will be put up. Princeton has a very strong team this year while the Layfayette men are not weaklings. Football enthusiasts think the contest will be as exciting as that between Columbia and Yale last week.

Kennel Show Closes.

This was the last day of the exhibition of the Ladies' Kennel association at Madison Square garden. It has been an entire success. Besides the showing of valuable dogs, including many from Pittsburgh, there have been performing dogs, music and other entertainments on the side. The ladies managing the show are delighted.

Accommodations for the British.

English visitors to New York find many conditions in this city which should make them feel at home. Stores which make a specialty of articles of English fashion and manufacture are so common that a Londoner might almost imagine himself at home if it were not for the climate. Now there is an "exclusive English residence hotel" in one of the swell cross streets on the West side, uptown, which advertised "furnished chambers," with a tariff of "ten to twelve pounds monthly." Thus a patron need not even trouble to turn his English gold into American notes. Then think of the serene comfort of living in "chambers." Why, Piccadilly could not do more.

Sam Parks Is Sentenced.

Sam Parks has been sentenced to two years and three months in Sing Sing. He made up his mind to take his medicine when he found that even the truculent Osborne, his counsel, could not save him. It is the general impression that the other indictments against Parks will not be pushed, but that, when he has served his present sentence, if he lives so long, he will be allowed to go his way. There does not seem to be any disposition to "hound" him, although he has said that he is a victim in that way.

Learning What Liberty Means.

Lectures in Yiddish and Italian will again be a feature of Sunday afternoons and evenings in the East Side school houses. The audiences are mostly new arrived immigrants, who are taught in these discourses all that can be impressed on them about the nature and purposes of this government. As most men who come to the United States to stay permanently intend to become naturalized, lectures of this kind cannot but be of great benefit.

River Improvement.

Until Congressman T. E. Burton of Cleveland, chairman of the rivers and harbors committee, brought forward a proposition that localities should pay the cost of public improvements, no one soberly considered anything but national interest. Few are now willing to put river improvement on any but a national basis. Ohio river improvement and Mississippi river improvement affect too large a share of the population to be relegated to state or local authority. They are of as much importance, certainly, to the nation as improvement of the lake channels and harbors which has been done at national expense with Mr. Burton's advice and consent.

+ + + +

The following editorial from the Manufacturers' Record, Baltimore, is pertinent to the subject:

"'Resolved, That safe communication between the Gulf of Mexico and the interior, afforded by the navigation of the Mississippi and Ohio rivers and their principal tributaries, is indispensable to the defense of the country in time of war, and essential also to its commerce.

"'Resolved, That the improvement and preservation of the navigation of those great rivers are objects as strictly national as any other preparation for the defense of the country, and that such improvements are deemed by this convention impracticable by the states or individual enterprise, and call for the appropriation of money for the same by the general government.

"'Resolved, That the deepening of the mouth of the Mississippi so as to pass ships of the largest class, cost what it may, is a work worthy of the nation and would greatly promote the general prosperity.

"'Resolved, That the project of connecting the Mississippi river with the lakes on the north by a ship canal, and thus with the Atlantic ocean, is a measure worthy of the enlightened consideration of congress.

"'Resolved, That millions of acres of the public domain lying on the Mississippi river and its tributaries, now worthless for purposes of cultivation, might be reclaimed by throwing up embankments, so as to prevent overflow, and this convention recommends such measures as may be deemed expedient to accomplish that object by a grant of said lands or an appropriation of money.

"At first glance one might imagine that these are the resolutions adopted at last week's convention at New Orleans for the furtherance of the improvement of the Mississippi river under government auspices. But they are not. They were adopted at a convention held at Memphis, Tenn., in July, 1845—a convention as national in its scope and as thoroughly representative in its character as the one held at New Orleans on October 27, 1903. The meeting at Memphis was of about 600 delegates from Pennsylvania, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas, Tennessee, Iowa, Kentucky, Missouri, Indiana, Illinois, Alabama and Ohio. John C. Calhoun of South Carolina presided, and while reiterating his opposition, in accord with his views of the strict construction of the Constitution, to the conduct by the general government of a system of internal improvement, his opinion on the subject of the improvement of the Mississippi river under federal auspices was strongly expressed in his opening address as follows:

"'In relation to the great highway of western commerce at least, the great inland sea of the country—the Mississippi—he did not for a moment question that government was as much obligated to protect, defend and improve it in every particular as it was to conduct these operations on the Atlantic seaboard. It was the genius of our government, and what was to him its beautiful feature, that what individual enterprise could effect alone was to be left to individual enterprise; what a state and individuals could achieve together was left to the joint action of states and individuals; but what neither of these separately or conjointly were able to accomplish, that and that only, was the province of the federal government. He thought this was the case in reference to the Mississippi river.'

"Nothing has happened since 1845 to weaken the force of those resolutions or to undermine the position of John C. Calhoun as to the national import of the Mississippi river improvement. Developments have been but strengtheners of the opinions then set forth. They have increased the necessity for the improvement and have cultivated a stronger public opinion in favor of such improvement. That fact was most manifest at New Orleans last week, and it is deemed so significant and so far-reaching that the Manufacturers' Record proposes to publish as a special supplement with its issue of November 19 the full stenographic report, including every address made, of the proceedings of the convention as a contribution toward the development of the great area of the United States to be affected directly and indirectly by comprehensive and standard work by the government upon the Mississippi and its tributaries. Arrangements have been made for a very wide circulation of this supplement among leading business men of all classes throughout the entire Mississippi valley territory, which extends from the Alleghany mountains on the east to the Rocky mountains on the west, from the lakes on the north to the gulf on the south."

The Record prints on other pages a number of letters from boards of trade and business bodies in the Mississippi valley and accessory regions, indorsing the national improvement of the Mississippi. One of these is from the Pittsburgh Coal exchange and another from the Chicago drainage canal board.

How, Indeed?

To the Editor of The Gazette:—The last delivery of mail on Monday, the evening before the election, brought me a circular issued by the Citizens party, containing on its last page an address "To our comrades, the soldiers of the Civil war." Looking over the list of signatures to find, if possible, the names of any of my comrades who might have strayed into the folds of this new abode "re-reforming party," I was astonished to find the name of "E. A. Becker, Co. B, Ninth Pennsylvania volunteers," being the twenty-sixth name in the first column of signatures.

With pardonable pride I acknowledge that two of the name "Becker"—and never any other—belonged to that organization from the date of its organization, April 17, 1861, to the date of its muster out, May 29, 1864, namely, my lamented brother, Elias Becker, who met death February 8, 1897, under the trolley car at the corner of Fifth avenue and Stevenson street, Pittsburgh, whilst in company—or after leaving—of the Rev. Frederick Ruoff, of the Smithfield street German Evangelical church of which church (he) my brother was the well-known janitor for years. Looking over the files of your esteemed paper you will find in issue of February 4, 1897, all details of this sad accident. The only other Becker of that company is myself. How did my lamented brother's name get on that list? Who can answer?

PARTY CONGRESSIONAL CAUCUSES FIXED FOR TODAY IN WASHINGTON

THE SLATE WILL GO THROUGH

Cannon of Illinois Will Be the Unanimous Nominee for Speaker—Democrats Will Put Up Mr. Williams of Mississippi.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Room 10, Postal Building,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 6.

The first step in organization of the new congress will be taken tomorrow when the caucuses of two parties will be held. The Republicans will caucus in the hall of the house at 8 p. m. Representative Babcock of Wisconsin will probably preside and with the exception of speaker the present officers of the house will be renominated. There will be no candidate for speaker except Joseph G. Cannon of Illinois and his election is a foregone conclusion. Major Alexander McDowell of Sharon, Pa., clerk of the house, will be re-elected without any opposition, as will the doorkeeper and sergeant-at-arms. Nearly all of the Republican members of the house are now in the city and will participate in the caucus. Representatives Dalzell, Porter and Brown of Pittsburgh are here and will be present tomorrow night, but Mr. Shiras is not expected to arrive in Washington until Sunday.

At 1 p. m. the Democrats will caucus in the house. Until recently there were two candidates for the leadership of the minority, Representative Camp Clark of Missouri and Representative J. Sharp Williams of Mississippi, but Mr. Clark has withdrawn leaving a clear field for Mr. Williams. The nomination of the Democrats for speaker is not entirely an empty honor. While there is no hope whatever for him to be elected, yet his selection as the candidate makes him the floor leader in the minority, an honor that is appreciated in the house. It has been arranged that at the caucus the men who now hold minority appointments on committee will be designated for reappointment. A large number of Democratic members have not arrived in Washington so that the attendance at tomorrow's caucus will probably be light. As there is no opposition to Mr. Williams the slate will go through.

Cannon Don't Laugh Now.

"Uncle Joe" Cannon, who is to be the speaker, is having his own troubles over committee appointments. Time was when Mr. Cannon laughed at the bother that pursued Crisp and Reed and Henderson over this self-same question, but now the humor has entirely departed from the situation, according to his view. If there is anything funny in distributing five vacancies among 15 applicants "Uncle Joe" fails to see the point of it. That is the situation with reference to the ways and means committee. There are five vacancies and the applicants number about 15. Sereno E. Payne of New York will retain the chairmanship and John Dalzell of Pennsylvania will continue as the ranking member without a doubt. Iowa wants Representative Cousins put on the committee and Michigan has two candidates, Watson and Overstreet, while Kansas wants to see Mr. Curtis placed on the committee, and other states have from one to three candidates, and so it goes. Another hard problem for Mr. Cannon is the chairmanship of the committee on post-offices and post roads. Mr. Overstreet of Indiana has been suggested for the place, but his friends say that he has not asked for it, being merely a receptive candidate. Mr. Cannon was at the capitol today, but his modesty prevented him from using the speaker's room, so he received "the boys" in his quarters, the appropriations committee room. He has talked over the question of appointments with many of the leaders and has listened to arguments and received applications, but through it all he has given no hint of what he intends to do.

No Danger of Dispute.

There was danger of a serious breach between the senate and the house at the outset of extra session. It was over the question of the form in which the Cuban treaty shall be approved by congress. Senator Aldrich and other Republican leaders of the senate have insisted that the matter should come up in the form of a joint resolution, while the house leaders have advocated having it put in the form of a bill. The reason given in support of the contention for a joint resolution is principally that such a measure would not be open to amendment, and thus would prevent dilatory tactics on the part of the Democrats, an argument that would have no force as applied to the house, for in that branch with its committee on rules, debate and amendments can be controlled. In the senate it is different. There debate is unlimited and if the dignity of the Democratic senators would permit they could cause indefinite delay by amendments and oratory. But it was stated today by a member of the committee on ways and means that the house would insist upon its prerogatives and that the matter would come up in a bill. The contention that all measures affecting the revenue of the country must originate in that branch is really responsible for the treaty being submitted to the approval of congress and the senate having yielded that point, it will no doubt be compelled to allow the house to say in what form it shall approve the treaty. It is stated that Senator Aldrich and his colleagues have receded from their position and have said that it would be left to the house to determine in what form the approval may be given. Even if an amicable adjustment of this question is reached, it is believed that before the session is over the two branches of the legislative department of government will clash over this very question of the prerogatives of house which the representatives feel the senate have for years been violating.

Another Boom for Gorman.

Senator Gorman's candidacy for the presidency received another boom today. It came from Ex-Senator George Turner of Washington, who has just returned from London, where he served as a member of the Alaskan boundary committee. Mr. Turner said: "Gorman is a natural leader. He is probably the best tactician on either side in the senate and would make a splendid president. If the election were to be held today, either he or Parker would lead the ticket, I believe. As to Cleveland, his nomination is not to be thought of. It would wipe out the Democratic party west of the Mississippi."

Tip for Manufactures.

There may be a tip to Pittsburgh manufacturers in the report of H. G. Squires, minister to Cuba, to the department of commerce and labor in which he says that there is a great field for increased commerce between this country and Cuba. Ninety per cent of the wholesale houses on the island are owned and controlled by Spaniards, who make annual trips to Spain to buy their goods. Mr. Squires says that with the change of Spanish to Cuban rule and the investment of several millions American dollars in Cuban lands, the trade of the island will seek a new outlet, and it naturally looking to the United States as the nearest and most advantageous market.

ISLANDERS ARE INCENSED AT TAX

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

ST. THOMAS, W. I., Nov. 6.—Dissatisfaction with the report of the royal commission favoring an enormously increased taxation is growing daily. There is now a possibility that the people of the islands may take matters in their own hands and that revolution will follow.

A crowded meeting ,called by the most influential citizens for a discussion of the new recommendations of the Danish commissioners, ended in great disorder following the chief speaker's advice that the people rise in revolution, as did the American colonies against Great Britain beacuse of the tea tax.

There has never before been such a demonstration in the history of the islands. It is thought here that the immediate result will be speedy overtures from Denmark to the United States with a view to bringing about the long-talked-of sale of the islands to the republic. The most influential people here say that anything will be preferable to present conditions and there is much talk of taking matters into their own hands and appealing to the United States for intervention as did the Cubans when they were being trampled to the ground by Spain. In the present excited state of popular feeling it is impossible to predict what course matters will take. That a change of some kind must come quickly is conceded by the most conservative. On all sides one hears expressions of satisfaction that the American congress is to convene shortly, as if in that fact relief was to be looked for.

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 6.—It is with the greatest concern that the government learned today of the grave situation in the West Indian colonies. It had been hoped that the people in the islands were prepared to receive the report of the commissioners regarding the increased taxation in a spirit of greater loyalty than today's dispatches have proved to be the case. Although the suggestion of revolution is hooted at, yet it is evident that the situation is causing the government profound anxiety. The popular feeling is one of impatience. It is generally believed that negotiations with the United States for the sale of the islands will be reopened as soon as practicable. It has long been the popular impression here that the great republic of the west would sooner or later absorb the whole group of West Indian islands and the occurrences of the last few days will undoubtedly result in severe pressure being brought upon the government to reopen negotiations with the United States.

GLASGOW ADOPTS THE WESTINGHOUSE BRAKE

After Two Years' Experimenting Large Contract Is Placed for Equipment.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—After two years of exhaustive experiments and trials, the Glasgow corporation has decided to adopt the Westinghouse magnetic brake on all the cars of the electric traction system of that city. More than 700 cars will be equipped. Similar contracts have been awarded the Westinghouse interests by the Leeds corporation and the Battley municipality of the Yorkshire electric lines.

Another British order is for Westinghouse gas engines, which are to be directly connected to the Westinghouse generators for installation in the manufacturing plant of Mauder Bros. of Wolverhampton. The engines are to be of three-cylinder vertical type.

A South African contract is at hand for car equipment. The Pietermaritzburg municipality have ordered several complete equipments of the standard Westinghouse pattern. Each equipment will include two No. 90 series parralel controllers, the same number of 35 horse power motors and all the auxiliary apparatus, comprising automatic cut-outs, lightning arresters, etc. These equipments will be used on British made cars for the Pietermaritzburg trolley system.

LETTER FROM GROVER.

It Secured Appointment of Charles F. McCelland to Government Place.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—(Special.)—It now appears that the appointment of Charles F. McClelland to the board of general appraisers was finally settled in the president's mind by a letter from ex-President Cleveland. Mr. Cleveland wrote to President Roosevelt that he had been told by his "old friend, Charles F. McClelland, of West Chester county," that he was about to make an application for the appointment and added: "Mr. McClelland is now a member of the senate of New York. I have known him a great many years; and I shall depart from a rule I have laid down sufficiently to say to you that I cannot believe any mistake would be made if Mr. McClelland were appointed."

This letter appears to have clinched the business for McClelland.

MILES FOR GREENE'S JOB.

Former Army Commander-in-Chief Mentioned for Tammany's Police Commissioner.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—(Special.)—Gen. Nelson A. Miles looms up as a possible successor of Gen. Greene at Tammany's commissioner of police. Gen. Miles has recently retired as lieutenant general of the United States army, and some of his friends scoff at the idea of his accepting an appointment as Tammany's police commissioner. Nevertheless his name is on the tongue of nearly all the big Tammany politicians who spend their time slate-making at the Democratic club and the tip is out that if he will accept, the place will be offered him.

Gen. Miles, though a former resident of Massachusetts, spends most of his time at the Waldorf-Astoria and he was among the first to congratulate Col. McClellan on his victory.

SEALED LETTER NOT IN THE WILL

MORAL PHASE SUSTAINED

Decree Announces No Undue Influence Was Used to Obtain the Bequest of $50,000 and That No Injustice Was Done the Relatives.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Nov. 7.—William J. Bryan reached this city late today from Lincoln, Neb., and at once went to the offices of his attorneys where he read the decision in the Bennett will contest which Judge L. W. Cleaveland handed down earlier in the day. The court finds that the sealed letter about which there has been a contest, providing for a gift of $50,000 to Mr. Bryan and family, was not incorporated in the will. In presenting copies of the decree to the attorneys representing Mrs. Bennett, the widow, and Mr. Bryan, Judge Cleaveland said:

I find that the question of whether the will was properly executed was not raised. I find that the testator had sufficient testamentary capacity. I find that there was no undue influence by Mr. Bryan over Dr. Bennett. It was claimed that the sealed letter in the will was sufficient as to the sealed letter, yet the language in the document itself plainly indicated that the will was executed before that letter was written.

Has Confidence in Bryan.

There was in existence before the will was executed a duplicate of the sealed letter. That is considered in support of the contention that that paper was a part of the will. The sealed letter was found with the will. I find that there was no undue influence, but that the sealed letter was not incorporated in the will.

The court further said that he expressed no opinion as to whether the sealed letter which gives $50,000 to Mr. Bryan and his family can be incorporated in the will. "It may be urged," he continued, "that it can be used, but as to that the court has no opinion to express."

After reviewing the evidence the text of Judge Cleaveland's decision says:

The testimony of Mr. Dowell, who had known him for a quarter of a century, shows that the testator was a sharp, able business man, a man of decided opinions from which he was not easily turned aside. But whatever presumption, if any, might be raised by reason of Mr. Bryan's drafting the will has been, in the opinion of the court, abundantly overcome by the evidence. Mr. Bryan testified that the idea of a bequest in his favor so far from being suggested by him or Mrs. Bryan, was a complete surprise to both; a statement in which the court has entire confidence in view of Mr. Bryan's frankness on the witness stand and his evident desire to fully disclose all his relations with the testator and all the circumstances surrounding the drafting of the will. It must also be remembered that the testator had ample opportunity to change his will at any time during the last three years of his life and without the knowledge of Mr. Bryan.

Bennet Not Influenced.

Mr. Bennett did not in his will forget any of his heirs-at-law and made ample provision for the support of his wife. Taking the total amount of the specific legacies in connection with his estimate of the residue as expressed in the sealed letter, he evidently thought he was giving his wife $100,000 or more, absolutely, out of an estate which he apparently thought would approximate $300,000. The Bryans were not the only legatees outside of the widow and his heirs-at-law, but the testator, besides making liberal public and charitable bequests, made generous provision for relatives who would have received nothing but for the will.

Measured by Mr. Bennett's devotion to Mr. Bryan and to the principles for which both had contended, the bequest of $50,000 to the Bryans, to take effect after the testator's death does not seem more unusual than the gift of $3,000 offered to Mr. Bryan when they were comparative strangers and actually paid during Mr. Bennett's life.

This court finds that neither the twelfth clause of the will nor the letter therein referred to was procured by undue influence. The other question to be considered is whether the letter contained in a sealed envelope, and referred to in the twelfth clause of the will, was so incorporated by reference as to be made a part of the will. Even though the law in this state is, as it seems to be in most jurisdictions, that such a paper, under certain conditions, may be incorporated by reference, this letter is objected to on other grounds. Even if it be conceded that the twelfth clause in this will refers to the extraneous paper as being in existence at the time of the execution of the will, the authorities agree that the paper referred to must in fact be in existence at the time of the execution of the will.

Letter Is Rejected.

Was the letter in the sealed envelope in existence at the time of the execution of the will? This question is answered by the first sentence of the letter itself. It reads: 'In my will just executed, I have bequeathed to you,' etc. True, the typewritten draft was prepared in Nebraska two or three days before the execution of the will, but this typewritten draft was not designed to be the letter to be referred to in the will and cannot be considered as such.

The judge cites legal authority in support of his contention that the letter cannot be regarded as a part of the will and goes on: In view of the plain recital in the letter itself it is difficult to see how, without an utter disregard of the authorities, this letter can be incorporated into the will and this court therefore finds that the sealed letter cannot be admitted to probate as a part of the will. It is not, however, the province of this court in probating a will to construe its provisions. Hence the twelfth clause, whether operative or not, will be admitted to probate as a part of the will, and in thus refusing to probate the sealed letter as a part of the will, this court does not wish to be understood as expressing any opinion as to whether the letter, without being probated, can have legal effect as a declaration of the trust created by the twelfth clause of the will.

After Mr. Bryan had conferred with his lawyers he said:

Pleased With Decision.

"The decision of Judge Cleaveland is in my favor on all the moral questions raised by the heirs and against me on the technical law points only. The judge finds that no undue influence was exercised on Mr. Bennett and that no injustice was done to the relatives.

"He holds, however, that the letter to Mrs. Bennett cannot be probated with the will, but he expressly disclaims any intention to decide whether or not the twelfth section can hereafter be held operative in establishing a trust; he says the construction of the will is not in question at the time of the probate. The court in effect declares that the bequest would have been good if it had been made direct as Mr. Bennett suggested, but that under the decision the letter cannot be probated in the absence of proof showing that it was actually in existence at that moment when the will was executed.

"If the bequest fails it will not be the fault of Mr. Bennett, but my fault, and this point will be determined by the higher court, although my attorneys have not yet decided in what form the question will be raised. I am much better pleased with the decision than I would have been if the court had decided for me on the legal point and against me on the moral question involved. His decision on the question of undue influence is full, emphatic and all that could be desired. It is a complete answer to all the insinuations of the unfriendly papers."

Judge Cleaveland tomorrow will hear motions from the attorneys for Mr. Bryan and for Mrs. Bennett and the heirs upon the form of the decree to be entered. The motion for an appeal to the superior court will then be made by Mr. Bryan's attorneys. They are in conference with him tonight in regard to the nature of their claim for an appeal.

Mr. Bryan said tonight that he will remain in New Haven or within call of his attorneys until the appeal to the superior court is perfected and that he will not go to Europe for some time.

INCREASED EXPORTS OF LOCAL PRODUCTS

11,000 Tons of Wire, Wire Nails and Pipe Shipped Abroad in October.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—The United States Steel Corporation exported through New York and other eastern seaboard ports last month nearly 11,000 tons of wire, wire nails and pipe, which were manufactured at the plants in Pittsburgh and vicinity by the American Steel and Wire Company and the National Tube Company. October shipments abroad represent an increase of some 65 per cent compared with similar exports during September, when but 6,590 tons were exported.

The largest export shipment of wire last month went to Australia, 3,276 tons out of the total consignments of 6,826 tons sent abroad. South America was next with 1,400 tons. To Europe 487 tons were shipped. Practically all of this went to British ports.

The wire nail exports last month aggregated 2,578 tons, as compared with 1,443 tons for September. The shipments to Great Britain and the far east were the heaviest. To British ports 728 tons were forwarded.

To China and Japan 622 tons in four lots were shipped. Three hundred and eighteen tons went to Australia. South Africa was exported 206 tons in seven lots.

South America was a purchaser to the extent of 177 tons. Chili took 147 tons and the Argentine republic the balance. One hundred and sixty-five tons went to Alexandria, Egypt. Shipments of wire nails were sent last month.

The pipe exports aggregated 2,396 tons, as against 1,448 tons for September. Europe was the biggest buyer in October, 1,022 tons going to that part of the world. Continental Europe took 931 tons. To British ports 691 were forwarded. Two hundred and sixty-eight tons went to Sydney, Cape Breton. Japan was sent 171 tons in three lots. One hundred and eight tons went in a single shipment to Australia. Mexico was forwarded 118 tons.

PIE WAR DECLARED.

New York Lunchroom Proprietors Will Not Sell Those Made by Pie Concern.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—(Special.)—The Pie company has the fight of its life on its hand now. The United Lunchroom Keepers' association has declared war and rather than sell baked pies baked by that concern declare their customers will have to go pieless. This is the cause as stated by President Roberts of the new association:

"The rule that no pies shall be returned after delivery is unbearable. In warm weather the pies also become unbearable, and 10,000 lunchroom owners in this city have determined that the rule shall be wiped out, even as the pies were thrown out."

Mr. Roberts explained that the lunchroom keepers pay four cents for a pie and make a profit of one cent—if they sell the pie. Under the old rule they could return a pie if it turned bad. But the pie company now refuses to take back pies. A meeting is to be held Sunday and then the association hopes to devise some means to get the better of the pie concern.

"If we find it necessary to build cooperative bakeries and supply ourselves with pies, we will do so," concluded Mr. Roberts. "The people of New York are with us."

PLATT'S EFFORT WAS SUCCESSFUL

St. Louis Contractor Dies from Self-Inflicted Bullet Wounds.

GAS EXPLOSION KILLS TWO

Aged Woman Commits Suicide from Grief Over Son's Death and Loss of Eyesight—Italian Held for Murder. Other Morgue Cases.

Elroy S. Platt of St. Louis, who shot himself in his room at the Duquesne hotel Wednesday, died from his wounds in the Homeopathic hospital at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Death was due to blood poisoning. Platt died before his wife and relatives reached this city. It was thought yesterday that he might survive the wound he inflicted on himself. He rested well during the night, but an hour before he died he became unconscious. The physicians administered stimulants, but they proved useless.

Platt shot himself because of financial and domestic troubles. He was a member of his father's contracting firm in St. Louis and a dispatch received from that city states Platt was short in his accounts with the firm to the extent of $20,000. One of the stockholders filed a petition in court asking for a receiver, alleging Platt had embarrassed the firm by this shortage. The applicant for the receiver states that Platt exhausted the money to satisfy extravagant habits.

Wife Suing for Divorce.

In addition to this Platt's wife has entered suit for divorce and the case was set for trial November 12. A. B. Platt, a brother of the dead man, is expected in the city this morning. It is said Platt confessed judgment for the first shortage of $12,000 and made an assignment of his furniture to cover the amount.

J. M. Belleville, freight agent of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, of No. 6336 Aurelia street formally identified the remains and gave the dead man's age as 30 years and his occupation that of a contractor. Belleville said he had known Platt for five years, and had met him on the street on Tuesday, but had merely exchanged greetings as they passed. Platt's residence was at No. 4132 West Pine street, St. Louis. Belleville had the body taken in charge by Undertaker Samson. The inquest will be held this morning.

Gas Explosion Kills Two.

As a result of the explosion of gas in a pit of the repair shops of the Pennsylvania railroad at Twenty-eighth street, two men were burned to death yesterday morning shortly after 8 o'clock. One of the victims lost his life while trying to save his companions from the flames. The dead are William Skiles, aged 18 years, a machinist, of No. 2010 Penn avenue, and Stewart R. Brett, aged 30 years, a machinist, of Clearfield, Pa.

The men were cleaning an engine when the explosion occurred. Skiles was assisting Brett to operate a hydraulic jack in the pit of the repair shop. The jack is operated by chemicals which form a gas, and is used to shift the engines when undergoing repair. The pit is 5 feet deep, 9 feet wide and 12 feet long. Skiles was in the pit and Brett is said to have handed him a lighted torch. An explosion followed. Whether it was caused by the sewer gas or the gas generated from the chemicals in the jack is not known. Skiles' clothing caught fire instantly.

Tried to Save Companion.

Seeing his companion was unable to help himself, Brett jumped down in the pit to save him. Brett's clothing caught fire and he climbed out of the pit. Brett called to the other workmen to save Skiles, and walking a few yards fell on the ground unconscious. He was taken to the West Penn hospital, where he died. The workmen extinguished the flames in the pit, but when Skiles was taken out he was dead.

Grieving over the death of her son and loss of her sight, Mrs. Mary Schiverkolt, 65 years old, committed suicide early yesterday morning by hanging herself in the attic of her home in Irvin street, near Marion junction, Hazelwood. The body of the woman was found by her daughter, Sarah. A few years ago the woman came to this country from Austria with her son Adolf and her daughter.

The son secured employment in the mills and four months ago he was injured and died in the Homeopathic hospital. The shock almost distracted the mother. When the body was about to be lowered into his grave the aged woman received a second shock. This rendered her totally blind. Since that time she has tried to end her life twice. Both times she was prevented by her daughter.

Found By Daughter.

During Thursday night she got up and went to the attic. Fastening the end of a clothesline about a rafter, she placed the other end around her neck and slowly strangled herself to death. Her daughter went to call her for breakfast, and being unable to find her, went to the attic. There she found her mother hanging to a rafter, dead.

Barcanus Carnine, an Italian of Braddock, was yesterday afternoon held on a charge of murder by the coroner's jury at the inquest into the death of Nicola Rossa, an Italian of McKeesport, who was shot and killed about a week ago. The inquest was conducted by Coroner Jesse M. McGeary, before whom a number of witnesses testified that they had seen Carnine shoot Rossa. The shooting was provoked by a quarrel between the two men two days before Rossa was killed. Carnine lay in wait for Rossa when the latter returned from work and shot him from an alley way, near his boarding house.

Bridge Worker Is Killed.

Working on the bridge construction in Jones & Laughlin's mills, South Twenty-ninth street, William W. Brice, 30 years old, fell 40 feet to the ground and was instantly killed yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock. Brice was working in the raising gang, and the cause of his fall is not known. He lived in Hazelton, Ind., and while in this city was boarding at No. 2335 Sarah street, South Side. His body was taken to the morgue and this morning it will be shipped to his home.

Loretto Zucchero, 30 years old, of McKees Rocks, was killed by an engine on the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad near Nimick station yesterday morning. He was working with the track gang and stepped in front of a train which he did not see approaching.

A coroner's jury yesterday returned a verdict that George H. Neal, who died Wednesday night at his home, No. 48 West Robinson street, Allegheny, under supposedly suspicious circumstances, had come to his death by a stroke of apoplexy. John W. Day, Charles Dumosa and Garfield Glenn, who had been held as witnesses, were released from custody.

CLINTON R. WOODRUFF SELECTED BY BONAPARTE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—Clinton R. Woodruff of Philadelphia, who has been appointed to assist Mr. Bonaparte in the investigation of irregularities in the Indian territory, was selected at the instance of Mr. Bonaparte, who will be allowed all the assistance he may wish in prosecuting the inquiry. It is understood that Mr. Woodruff will soon proceed to the Indian territory to begin his investigation on the ground.

Wilkinsburg Wants a Curfew Law.

At the meeting of Wilkinsburg council next Monday an effort will be made to put through a curfew ordinance. The ordinance has already been formally recommended. Burgess John A. Keys is anxious to have a curfew law as is Chief of Police Harry Irwin. During the past few weeks several gangs of small boys have been annoying merchants and the police, and their only relief appears to be the curfew law.

Civic Improvement Crusade.

Miss Kate C. McKnight, president of the Federation of Women's clubs, will be at the Presbyterian parsonage, Lincoln avenue, Millvale, at 8 o'clock Monday evening. All who are interested in the subject of civic improvement are invited to be present.

ISTHMIAN REVOLT AS VIEWED FROM LONDON

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

LONDON, Nov. 7.—The weekly papers comment in an ironclad vein on the situation on the isthmus of Panama. The editorial articles, though necessarily written in ignorance of the latest developments forcast the recognition of the new republic by the government of the United States.

The speaker characterizes the revolt as "very opportune" and says "It would be still more opportune should the United States government feel justified in recognizing the independence of the republic of Panama and in negotiating a canal treaty with the new government."

The paper cites the case of Texas as a close precedent and says: Manifest destiny is not in practice the fatalistic creed that it somtimes seems in theory. It is possible to help destiny by a surreptitious shove from behind."

The Saturday Review confidently expects that the United States will discover in the new republic of Panama a nation justified in its aspirations.

The Outlook thinks the situation is one of great delicacy, the developments of which may lead to a serious modification of that part of the Monroe doctrine which constitutes the United States the natural protector of the South American republic.

The Spectator considers the completion of the isthmian canal under a treaty with the new republic of Panama a foregone conclusion.

PIONEERS STRIKE OIL NEAR ESCANABA, MICH.

Peninsula Oil Company of Pittsburgh Drilling Wells in New Field.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 6.—The bringing in of a big gusher by Milwaukee men at Rapid River, near Escanaba, Mich., has caused an oil boom in that part of the country which threatens to eclipse that at Beaumont, Tex., when the great finds were made there. The Milwaukee company tapped a 10-barrel well a few weeks ago and the rock promises more of the same. Natural gas and smaller oil wells are being brought in throughout the upper Peninsula. The Peninsula Oil Company of Pittsburgh is one of the first to get on the ground and begin work. It has taken up 70 options on property in the vicinity of the Rapid River find, and is already drilling in several places. The Standard Oil Company has agents on the ground and is trying to secure control of the Milwaukee men's gusher, but the local men refuse to sell. An offer has been made for the Milwaukee well by the Pittsburgh people, but while negotiations are still in progress it is probable that the men will try to operate their own find.

Last week a man digging a cellar in Marinette found natural gas coming from the hole he made and he is now piping down to the pocket in an effort to conserve the fuel and use it for household purposes.

BOUGHT B. & O. BONDS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—(Special.)—It was announced today that Kuhn, Loeb & Company and Speyer & Company have purchased $9,600,000 worth of Baltimore & Ohio bonds. The bonds were $3,000,000 of 3½ per cent, $5,000,000 of Baltimore & Ohio four per cent, and $1,660,000 of Baltimore & Ohio Southwestern 3½ per cent.

It is explained that under the reorganization plan of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad provision was made that the company should receive from time to time from the trustee of the mortgage bonds to reimburse the company's treasury for expenditures made for improvements and betterments. It is authoritatively stated that the 3½ per cent and 4 per cent bonds sold to Speyer & Company and Kuhn, Loeb are bonds under this provision. It is pointed out that the company has allowed the bonds to accumulate that were due it under this provision and that the sale is not especially significant.

BUYING SOUTHERN PIG.

Prices of Birmingham Iron Low Enough to Attract Heavy Purchases.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—(Special.)—In their weekly summary of the pig iron trade, Rogers, Brown & Company say:

"The weak spot of the pig iron market for the moment is in Alabama. The action of the association in holding prices above the market during the summer and fall resulted in accumulation of heavy stocks on the yards of the association members. The wants of the trade were supplied from other furnaces, which kept their yards clear. The breaking up of the association was accompanied with evidence of much ill-feeling—the result naturally follows. Prices of Birmingham iron are so much below the parity of other markets that practically all current business is being turned in that direction. Shipments from Alabama are reported to be the heaviest this year."

Will Fill Unexpired Term, Too.

HARRISBURG, Nov. 6.—Gov. Pennypacker today appointed Robert Vonmoschzisker to be judge of common pleas court No. 3 of Philadelphia to fill the vacancy created by the death of Judge Michael Arnold until the first Monday of January, 1904, when he will be recommissioned for the full term of 10 years to which he was elected on Tuesday.

Physicians' Protective Organization.

The physicians of the South Side and the Hilltops have formed an organization known as the Physicians' Protective association. Dr. A. D. Husted is president and Dr. C. C. Long secretary. The purpose of the organization is to establish uniform rates and also provide for the consideration of professional subjects.

President Receives Mission Board.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—President Roosevelt today received the members of the executive board of the Womens Foreign Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal church, which has just concluded its annual convention in Baltimore.

GERMANS FOUGHT TO THE FINISH

VILLAGE WAS DESTROYED

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

CAPE TOWN, Nov. 6.—Official advices received here fully confirm the massacre at Warmbad, Damaraland, German Southwest Africa, by the Bondelzwar tribesmen. The Germans gallantly fought to the end, but were overwhelmed. It is believed that none of them escaped. Warmbad was burned. Reports of isolated murders of German traders are also coming in. The rebellion in Damaraland is officially attributed to distress caused by the drought.

BERLIN, Nov. 6.—A dispatch from the governor of German Southwest Africa, dated from Windhoek, November 5, says: "The majority of the colonial troops, including a mounted battery, together with 300 men, Witbeis and other native troops, have started for Warmbad. No further news has been received from the scene of the fighting."

It is semi-officially announced that Keetmanshoop, which is about half way between Warmbad and Windhoek, is garrisoned by one field company, consisting of three officers, 15 non-commissioned officers and 90 men, including 15 natives.

The mountain battery which has left Windhoek consists of four six-centimeter guns of the latest pattern. The marching time between Windhoek and Keetmanshoop is about three weeks.

It is said by those acquainted with the country that the Bondelzwar tribe, which massacred the garrison of the fort at Warmbad and the German inhabitants of a neighboring village and took the English families prisoners, number about 500 fighting men.

CENSOR IS NEEDED.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—The general staff of the army is considering the question of establishing a press censorship. It is conceived as a proper measure of protecting the interests of the government that there shall be no indiscriminate publicity and that such record of the transactions of the general staff and the events transpiring within the domain of that advisory body shall become of public record through one channel.

It is believed that the system will at least free officers from unwarranted or unnecessary demands upon their time. It is understood that the proposition enjoining officers to reticence will include the chiefs of bureaus and officers attached to the respected bureaus.

BULLET WENT THROUGH LAPEL OF CAIN'S COAT

Alleging he was insulted by James Cain of Brownstown, South Side, John Gorleays, 45 years old, a Hungarian living at No. 28 Waterworks alley, South Side, last evening made a human target of Cain and narrowly missed seriously wounding him. When Cain made the alleged insulting remark Gorleays pulled a 38-caliber American bulldog revolver and fired point blank at Cain, the ball pasing through the left lapel of Cain's coat. Gorleays, when arrested, put up a fight, but was overcome.

Former Employes Are Suspected.

Monongahela valley towns were in darkness for over three hours last night and an investigation showed that 18 wires near the Rankin power plant were cut. The lights were out for five hours on Friday night from the same cause. The Allegheny County Light Company supplies the power from the Rankin plant for the arc and incandescent lamps throughout the valley, and the company has asked the police to endeavor to locate the men who are cutting wires. It is believed that the cutting is being done by men who were recently discharged at the Rankin plant.

Woman Stabbed Companion.

Albert Turner of Kentucky avenue is in Passavant hospital with a long gash in his neck and Maggie Oxford is locked up charged with cutting him. The two, with some companions, were in No. 1401 Poplar alley. All were drinking and in a dispute that arose between Turner and another man the former was cut, it is said, by the Oxford woman. The man who was quarrelling with Turner escaped.

Held Up by Highwaymen.

Henry Lauer, 22 years old, employed at the Duquesne foundry at Coraopolis, at the point of a revolver was held up and robbed of $8 and a gold watch yesterday morning by two negroes while on his way to his home near Shousetown.

Horse Tired of Waiting, Makes Bed of Sidewalk

Becoming tired of waiting for his master to return, a horse belonging to John Brokosky, an expressman, of Bingham and South Sixteenth streets, walked up on the sidewalk in South Twenty-fifth street, near Sidney street, last evening, and laid down and went to sleep. As the horse was blocking the sidewalk Officer John McArdle was called and took it to the police station, where it was claimed by Brokosky shortly afterward.

TAR AND FEATHERS MAKE COAT FOR HOTEL CLERK

Mob at Charlotte, Mich., Takes Vengeance Upon Man Whom Prosecuting Attorney Said Is Beyond the Reach of Law.

CHARLOTTE, MICH., Nov. 6.—Shortly after 8 o'clock tonight a mob surrounded the Williams house and demanded J. W. Copeland, the day clerk of the house, who, it is alleged, is responsible for the condition of Mabel Sturdevant, the Gillett (Pa.) woman who hanged herself in her room at the Phoenix house last Sunday night.

Prosecuting Attorney Dann issued a statement in a local paper this afternoon saying that he could not issue a warrant because of lack of evidence to convict, although in his statement he openly accused Copeland of the crime. The prosecutor's statement added to an already bitter sentiment against Copeland and this afternoon a petition was circulated and signed by hundreds volunteering to join the party to tar and feather him. The mob gathered about a block away and when they reached the house, Copeland ran upstairs to his room. The crowd followed and knocked down the door finding the fellow under the bed. He was dragged out and taken out in the middle of Main street in front of the house, where his clothing was torn in shreds, the mob wearing small bits of his apparel in their lapels for souvenirs.

After applying the tar and feathers in large quantities, the ringleader, a well-known citizen, made a speech in which he told Copeland he must leave the town within 24 hours, and failing, he would receive a second coat. Copeland went back to the house and the mob disappeared. Extra police have been sworn in.

IS BUSY ORGANIZING THE PATTERNMAKERS

James Wilson.

James Wilson, general president of the Pattern Makers' League of North America, arrived in the city yesterday from an extended tour of the western states. During his trip he organized several locals of the organization. He is now on his way to attend annual convention of the American Federation of Labor which commences at Boston next Monday.

FINED FOR SELLING ADULTERATED BRANDY

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., Nov. 6.—(Special.)—State Pure Food Commissioner W. Hutchinson of Jeannette today caused the arrest of Louis F. Schultz, proprietor of the Trans-Allegheny hotel; John Feher, of the Hotel Kelley, and Mrs. Mary O'Hara of the Baltimore House, charged with selling adulterated blackberry brandy. They appeared before Magistrate Frank Miller and were fined $50 and costs amounting to $56.25 each. The hotel proprietors stated at the hearing that they had purchased the brandy from a Pittsburgh firm and had paid an extra high price for it, and believed it was above the ordinary in quality.

BALTIMORE & OHIO STOCK NOT LISTED BY BERLIN BANK

BERLIN, Nov. 6.—The Deutsche bank's intended listing of Baltimore & Ohio stock on the boerse has been countermanded, owing to the premature publication here of its intention to do so, which caused speculators to buy ahead, with the design of selling as soon as the stock was listed.

Production for Each Turn.

In giving the record of finished steel turned out at the Edgar Thomson plant of the United States Steel Corporation at Braddock in Friday's issue, it should have been stated that the number of tons of finished steel given were made on each turn of 12 hours. The converting mill turned out 780 tons a turn, the blooming mill 725 tons a turn and the rail mill 724 tons a turn.

Mifflin Township Man Missing.

William Cronk of Lincoln place, Mifflin township, is missing, and the police throughout Western Pennsylvania have been asked to assist in locating him. His wife reported yesterday that he left home three weeks ago to search for work, and has not yet returned and nothing is known of his whereabouts. His family fear he has met with foul play.

FARRIS CASE WITH JURY.

JEFFERSON CITY, MO., Nov. 6.—The bribery case of Senator Frank H. Farris went to the jury tonight. The features of the closing of the case was the severe arraignment of former Lieut. Gov. John A. Lee by Attorney Jourdan, for the defense, and the speech of Attorney General Crow, who defended Lee and denounced Daniel J. Kelly as a fugitive from justice under indictment in this state on the charge of bribery, who sent letters in an endeavor to break down the testimony of the prosecuting witness.

He strongly supported Lee's contention that the letter of March 2, regarding sending back $7,000 to Kelly, was not written by Lee, and was a forgery.

At 10 o'clock tonight the jury had not been heard from and was believed to have retired for the night.

Shut Down for Repairs.

Notices were posted in the Carnegie mills at Homestead yesterday that the 10-inch, 28-inch and 33-inch mills at the plant will be shut down today for an indefinite period for repairs. About 500 men are employed in the three mills and after noon today they will be out of work.

JOHN W. GATES WILL TAKE A VACATION

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—(Special.)—John W. Gates, former steel magnate, will lay aside the cares of business tomorrow and, as one of his associates puts it, become a Robinson Crusoe for a month or longer in quest of health. His son Charles will act as his man Friday. The raft on which these two will embark is the new Gates 17-knot twin-screw steam yacht Roxana. The start will be made from La Salle. The trip down the Illinois and Mississippi rivers will be covered in 10 days. The point of destination is Port Arthur, Tex.

WORDS USED LURE ON PUBLIC is Nixon Admits Shipyards ompany Had an Erroneous Prospectus.

TRUSTED HIS ASSOCIATES

ng of the Bethlehem Deal and the mation of the Shipbuilding Corpor- n Caused a Lively Till Between Counsel.

[Associated Press to The Gazette.]

EW YORK, Nov. 6.—Lewis Nixon was n the sole occupant of the stand at the hearings this afternoon of the application to make permanent, the receivership of the United States Shipbuilding company, the session being marked by frequent tilts between counsel at times verging on personalities, Mr. Guthrie and Mr. Untermyer each making the flattest of denials of statements made by the other and Mr. Guthrie speaking in addition of the "impertinence" of Mr. Untermyer.

Mr. Schwab was not reached as a witness, Mr. Untermyer spending the afternoon in examining Mr. Nixon about the alleged false statements and misrepresentations to the public during the preliminaries to organization.

Mr. Untermyer took up the redirect examination of the witness, asking first, about the agreement made between Nixon, Dresser and Schwab for the purchase of the Bethelehm plant. Max Pam, Nixon said, had charge of the negotiations thereafter and Charles M. Schwab, whose personal counsel Pam is, was regarded as the dominant figure in the negotiations. Pam prepared most of the papers drawn up, a few being prepared by Alexander and Green.

Didn't Read Mortagage.

Mr Nixon declared that when the mortgage covering the plants of the Shipbuilding company outside the Bethlehem plant, was drawn up at the time of the organization, he had merely glanced at it, but had not read it through carefully, having confidence in the men who prepared it and being without expert knowledge of mortgage forms. The second mortgage, covering the Bethlehem plant and as a second mortgage the other plants, was merely glanced through by him and he had only general knowledge of its provisions, knowing, however, of the provision that the bonds provided for by it, should have equal voting power with the stock.

The two mortgages, he believed, were presented to him for execution the first by Alexander & Green and the second by Max Pam, in each case, he thought, by the men who executed them.

During a long examination as to the ownership of stock and certain alleged statements of fact, Mr. Untermyer referred to the change of front made by Mr. Guthrie in cross examination yesterday, causing a sharp verbal interchange. Mr. Untermyer remarked that it was charged in the complaint that the company was insolvent and yet that "the real counsel for the Shipbuilding company" had been endeavoring to demonstrate this.

Prospectus Was False.

Mr. Untermyer embarked in a long course of questioning about the working capital of the company, finally making Mr. Nixon admit that the company had not on hand at its office on July 31, 1902, working capital of $1,503,000, as stated in the application for listing the Shipbuilding company stocks. Instead it had but $3,000 and that borrowed, and that the $1,500,000 was not deposited to the credit of the company until September 5 and was then raised on personal notes signed by Nixon and Dresser. The cash was deposited by the Trust Company of the Republic, half with Harris, Gates & Company and half with other concerns, and by these concerns loaned to Nixon and Dresser on notes indorsed by the Trust Company of the Republic.

Mr. Untermyer endeavored unsuccessfully to get from Mr. Nixon something to show who suggested Harris, Gates & Company in connection with the transaction and the marketing of the stock, but Mr. Nixon said he did not know personally, having left these details to Mr. Dresser. The suggestion that Mr. Schwab's stock should be marketed first, came first from Mr. Schwab he said:

The statements in the prospectus of June 14 were then taken up and Mr. Untermyer extracted from the witness acknowledgements that a number of them were false. The capitalization of the company, the names of the directors, the amounts of earnings of the constitinent companies and other details were acknowledged to have been erroneously stated to the public, but Mr. Nixon disclaimed all responsibility of its preparation.

He had at the time critisized the statement in it that the companies were then earning $2,225,000 per annum because it was not actual earnings, but estimated earning capacity in combination. Former attempts to form a shipbuilding combnation were then made the subject of inquiry, Mr. Nixon stating, in answer to a question as to the number of such attempts:

"Three, two unsuccessful and one successful."

"Which do you consider the successful one, the last?" Mr. Untermyer asked. The hearing was adjourned until Tuesday next.

TWO MEN HELD UP.

A MEMORIAL FOR MRS. SCHENLEY

BIG SCHENLEY ESTATE MAY GO INTO MARKET

Son Expected to Take Up His Residence in This City—His Policy Outlined.

No event that has transpired for years has been so significant in Pittsburgh in a real estate way as the death of Mrs. Mary E. Schenley. Two reasons may be ascribed for this interest. One is that she had been for years the largest individual property-holder in Pittsburgh and probably the largest also in Allegheny. The other is that, although a Pittsburgh woman to the last, as shown by her princely benefactions, she had resided so long abroad that the needs and growth of the city were matters of which she was largely ignorant. Hence her death has stirred up a considerable amount of discussion as to whether her policy of managing her Allegheny county holdings will be continued, or whether the legatees will dispose of their several interests in the $50,000,000 worth of real estate and thus change the complexion of Greater Pittsburgh.

Until the terms of Mrs. Schenley's will are made known, Pittsburghers can only speculate on what will be done with the property, as the method of disposing of it may have been outlined in the will. Many think that Mrs. Schenley's daughters will favor an immediate sale of their holdings here, as they are strangers in the city and have no particular interest in its development. Others believe that the English pride in large landed possessions with long and profitable leaseholds will cause them to keep their holdings and follow out the general policy of their mother.

Capt. Schenley's Policy.

With regard to Mrs. Schenley's son, Capt. W. E. H. Schenley, there is a more definite opinion expressed. When he last visited this city in 1890 Mr. Capt. Schenley expressed his dissatisfaction with the condition of his mother's holdings, and said that he would urge her to either sell or improve the hundreds of lots on which the buildings were hardly worth the taxes paid on them. He also favored erecting blocks of buildings of the same kind and dimensions, instead of allowing tenants to put up whatever style of building they chose on their leased sites. At that time Capt. Schenley also said that if he survived his mother he would take up his residence in Pittsburgh and see to the carrying out of some of the improvements he suggested. As Capt. Schenley is now only about 53 years of age, the possibility of his moving to Pittsburgh on such a pilgrimage may mean a tremendous change in many parts of both cities.

It is well known that Mrs. Schenley's policy was to sell nothing and to make improvements only where absolutely necessary to keep tenants. For years her property was managed by the old firm of W. A. Herron & Sons and John W. Herron, president of the Commonwealth Real Estate & Trust Company still looks after her real estate here. Their management of the vast estate was eminently satisfactory to her, but she never recommended them to spend more than a small part of the enormous revenues derived from her city holdings in new buildings. Hence there are today large plots of the Schenley estate which are really a barrier to the city's growth. The most valuable of these, the Point holdings, was finally sold by Mrs. Schenley to H. C. Frick, who in turn conveyed it to the Pennsylvania Railroad Company thus insuring a complete change in that district which has long been an eyesore to business men.

Farm in City's Center.

Today the most conspicuous example of Schenley property that is holding back the growth of the city is the farm in the Fourteenth ward, occupying the Herron Hill slope and extending down to and out Fifth avenue. Visitors to the city are prone to express their amazement at the old farm house and dairy barn that stand near the middle of the plot in the very heart of one of the best residence districts of the city. Here is room for hundreds of high class houses, which would no doubt have been built long ago if the property had been released. If this were graded and put on the market today it would make the most notable addition to Pittsburgh's residence sites ever opened.

The long line of Schenley leaseholds in East Ohio street, Allegheny, could also be greatly improved to make that thoroughfare a first-class business street. Back of this street are dozens of old houses near to the business center, but undesirable because of their condition. Another valuable parcel of the estate is at Seventh avenue and New Grant street, where a modern business building would be a good investment. In all the other wards where the Schenley holdings form a large part of the taxable property, lots can be found which have hindered the growth of the community by not having their improvements kept up to the needs of the city.

Very little of the Schenley property is poorly located. Most of it if put on the market today would find ready sale at prevailing values. For years large and small investors have tried to buy parcels of the estate for sites for business blocks, warehouses or tasty dwellings. Such investors are still in the market, and if Mrs. Schenley's estate is offered for sale, Pittsburgh will witness a wonderful improvement in two years in her "dead districts."

A Good Style Chiffonier

The first requisite of a good chiffonier is that it shall be commodious. The designer of the chiffonier shown above did not forget this important fact. It is really astonishing what an effect of elegance and daintiness he has succeeded in producing without any sacrifice of room. The result has been attained by an art so subtle and elusive as to defy analysis, and yet even a glance at this graceful furniture creation reveals the presence of that art.

There is just sufficient ornamentation to produce the effect of luxuriousness usually desired in such furniture, and yet not enough to detract from the richness and beauty of the wood. For this chiffonier is made of solid mahogany—38 inches wide, 22 inches deep, with a splendid French oval plate mirror, 30 by 32 inches, 3 large drawers, 4 small drawers, large hat box.

The price is consistently moderate, as prices always are at have toward Mrs. Mary E. Schenley, and that the advance of time will intensify that feeling in the hearts of the people for their benefactress, and that the name of Mary E. Schenley will be coupled with the blessings of thousands who, now and in the future, will enjoy her noble gift."

In addition to this one great and lasting benefaction, the memory of Mrs. Schenley is revered for other gifts of land to public and private institutions in this city, including the Western Pennsylvania hospital, the Western Pennsylvania Institute for the Blind and the Newsboys' home.

In 1894 she gave to the Pittsburgh Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution the land on which stands the old block house, built near Fort Pitt in 1764, the only remaining relic of colonial times at the forks of the Ohio. Mrs. Schenley is also remembered for many kindly acts in behalf of religious and benevolent societies, and for her private charities in numerous directions. As the owner of vast tenant properties, she was ever careful that they should be so leased and managed as to add the smallest possible portion to the burdens of the humbler class.

Mrs. Schenley was spared to a good old age. For many years she was blessed with a happy domestic life in the land of her adoption. Many Pittsburghers remember with pleasure her hospitality in her English home.

Select and common councils of the city of Pittsburgh, in joint session assembled, hereby renew their sentiment of gratitude to this kindly and noble woman, with sympathy and condolence to her kindred and friends here and abroad.

It is ordered that this minute be entered of record in the proceedings of councils.

Sketch of Mrs. Schenley.

While the committee was preparing the above resolutions President C. S. Crawford read the following sketch of Mrs. Schenley and her ancestors, which was ordered recorded on the minutes:

In the death of Mrs. Mary E. Schenley Pittsburgh loses a loyal, cherished friend. What she has done for Pittsburgh will never be forgotten, and as time rolls by her munificent gifts will be appreciated more and more. The people of Pittsburgh have become so accustomed to using her name in connection with benevolent donations from her, and in particular in connection with the beautiful pleasure ground in our city, that it almost seemed as though she were one of Pittsburgh's citizens. On account of her loyalty to her native city and her bounteous gifts to us, it is indeed appropriate that we should convene today in honor of her memory.

Her maternal grandfather, Gen. James O'Hara, in 1773 came to Ft. Pitt and was an Indian trader before the Revolution. He entered the Revolutionary army as a private and became captain of the Ninth Virginia regiment. He was assigned to the quartermaster's department and became assistant quartermaster. After the Revolution he became purchasing agent for the government. He located in Pittsburgh and purchased much land in and around the city. In 1788 Gen. O'Hara was a presidential elector and cast his vote for George Washington.

In 1792 he was appointed quartermaster general of the United States army and continued as such during the whisky insurrection of 1794 and Anthony Wayne's Indian campaign in the northwest in 1795. He erected the first glass works west of the Allegheny mountains and was a director in the first bank in Pittsburgh in 1804. He died in Pittsburgh December 15, 1819, leaving three children—James O'Hara, Jr., Elizabeth F., who married Harmar Denny, and Mary, the mother of Mrs. Schenley, who married William Croghan, Jr. Gen. O'Hara during his lifetime accumulated a vast estate, the principal part of which was in and around Pittsburgh.

Ancestors of the Revolution.

Mrs. Schenley's maternal grandfather was Maj. William Croghan, a native of Ireland, and born in 1750. He came to America when young and settled in Virginia in 1776 he was a captain in the Fourth regiment, Virginia line, under Col. John Neville, afterward becoming major of the regular regiment. He was with Washington at Trenton and Princeton, at Monmouth, Brandywine, Germantown and Valley Forge. He was a prisoner in the Carolines and was present at the Yorktown surrender. He came to Ft. Pitt with Col. John Neville in 1782. In 1784 he moved to Locust Grove, near Louisville, Ky., and remained there until he died in 1822. While in Kentucky he married a sister of Gen. George Rodgers Clarke of Revolutionary fame.

Mrs. Schenley's father, William Croghan, Jr., was born in Kentucky, but after he married Mary O'Hara in 1821 he settled in Pittsburgh and remained there the balance of his life. He was an attorney and was admitted to practice at the Allegheny county bar in May, 1835. He built and occupied that beautiful country seat called "Picnic," in the Eighteenth ward, Pittsburgh, where he died September 22, 1850.

Mrs. Schenley married, when quite young, Capt. Edward W. H. Schenley of the British army and lived in London ever since. She inherited through her mother one-third of the O'Hara estate. In 1846 she gave the ground now owned by the West Penn hospital, Mrs. Schenley giving one-half and Mrs. Denny one-half. In 1889 she gave 300 acres to Schenley park. In 1806 she gave five acres to the blind asylum. In 18[illegible] she gave a lot to the Newsboys' home. In 1895 she gave the blockhouse to the Pittsburgh Chapter of Daughters of the American Revolution.

The councils voted to send an engrossed copy of the minutes of the memorial exercises to the family of Mrs. Schenley in London.

MRS. SCHENLEY WILL BE BURIED IN LONDON TODAY

Her Testament Is on Its Way to Pittsburgh and Will Be Filed Here.

The Gazette's correspondent in London, Curtis Brown, yesterday cabled The Gazette that Mrs. Schenley's death was due to acute congestion of the lungs, the result of a severe cold, and that she had been ill for about one week. Mr. Brown states that up to the time she was taken ill Mrs. Schenley had been enjoying good health and had been out in her carriage daily for 10 weeks previously. She had intended to spend the winter at her Riviera home, "Villa Montfleury," Cannes, France, and she intended to leave for there from London today. Mrs. Schenley had spent each winter for 25 years at that place. The cablegram from The Gazette's correspondent continues:

"Mrs. Schenley's funeral will take place tomorrow at the All Saints church, Ennismore gardens, London, where she had attended for many years. Her will is on the way over to Pittsburgh, and will be filed in the register's office of Allegheny county by her attorney, John W. Herron. Her children will be her principal heirs, and her son, George Alfred Schenley, and her only unmarried daughter, Miss Hermoine Schenley, will visit Pittsburgh next summer to see their mother's old home.

To the last Mrs. Schenley was deeply interested in Pittsburgh affairs, and she was especially gratified by a cablegram from Mayor William B. Hays of this city on July 4 regarding the number of persons who attended the celebration at Schenley park. Mrs. Schenley was a very wealthy woman, but all her property was in Pittsburgh, except her two homes abroad."

John W. Herron, attorney in fact for Mrs. Schenley in this country, yesterday received a cablegram from Mrs. Schenley's London solicitor, making the statement that the will has been sent to him. Mr. Herron said yesterday that Mrs. Schenley was a very remarkable woman in many ways. She looked after her own affairs a great deal and was an excellent business woman. It is likely Mr. Herron will look after the Schenley estate.

WILKINSBURG DRAMATIST.

His Comedy to Be Given Its First Presentation in Braddock by Local Talent.

Braddock is to be given the honor of a first presentation of a comedy, "My Uncle, the Colonel." The author is Alfred H. Goodby, formerly of Braddock, now a resident of Wilkinsburg, a department superintendent of the Westinghouse electric works in East Pittsburgh.

The comedy will receive its first presentation next Thursday evening at the Carnegie Music hall, Braddock, and on Friday evening it will be given as one of the numbers in the Carnegie Free Library entertainment course in the same hall. It will be produced by the Carnegie Dramatic society of Braddock. The play has been rehearsed under the direction of Harry J. Bird, manager of the Carnegie club, who was formerly a member of Sir Henry Irving's London stock company.

Charles Eggley Heard From.

After a silence of almost 10 years, Charles Eggley, a former resident of McKeesport but now of Clinton, O., yesterday communicated with friends in McKeesport and dispelled the supposition that he was dead. The letter was received by Chief of Police Louis E. Rotzsch. Eggley is a bookkeeper and left McKeesport in 1894. Since that time he had not been heard from, although he has a brother, Henry Eggley, still living in McKeesport. He inquired about his father, who has been dead for several years.

Marines for Sub-Station Arrive.

Lieut. J. G. Muir, in charge of the United States marine corps recruiting stations in Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio, has established sub-stations in Canton and Youngstown, O., and in McKeesport. A squad of marines arrived in Pittsburgh yesterday and will be sent to these stations. Sergeant G. P. Johnson and Private J. A. Wilhelm will be sent to Canton, O.; Sergeant W. S. Hubbell and Private J. Czolba will be stationed at McKeesport, and Sergeant J. Hegter and Private W. Thomas will be stationed at Youngstown, O.

WEEK'S SERVICES FOR THE Y. M. C. A.

Pittsburgh Association to Celebrate Its Thirty-Seventh Anniversary Tomorrow.

THE DAILY PRAYER MEETINGS

The 37th anniversary services of the Young Men's Christian association of Pittsburgh will be observed tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock in the First Presbyterian church, at the Alvin theater, Sixth street. The address will be delivered by the Rev. James M. Thoburn, Jr., D. D., pastor of the Calvary Methodist Episcopal church of Allegheny.

The afternoon services in the association's building, Penn avenue and Seventh street, will be addressed by William K. Jennings. The meeting will begin at 4 o'clock and is in observance of the day of prayer for associations throughout the world. Next week will be observed by every Young Men's Christian association as the week of prayer, and services will be held every day in the association's chapel.

Following is the program for the week's services, between 12 and 12:45 o'clock: Monday, the Rev. Warren C. Partridge, D. D., "The Hearer of Prayer;" Tuesday, the Rev. Ernest M. Paddock, "The Hour of Prayer;" Wednesday, the Rev. Thomas J. Leak, D. D., "The House of Prayer;" Thursday, the Rev. Samuel A. Hunter, D. D., "The Habit of Prayer;" Friday, the Rev. Alonzo J. Turkle, "The Helper of Prayer;" Saturday, the Rev. William J. Reid, Sabbath school lesson. Every night from 9 o'clock till 9:45 services for young men only will be conducted by the general secretary, J. B. Griggs, and the North Avenue male quartet will furnish music.

Services in Lawrenceville.

The Lawrenceville branch will hold similar services during the week. H. Walton Mitchell will address the gathering tomorrow afternoon in the association's building, Butler and Forty-third streets. Services will be held each evening at 8 o'clock except Wednesday. The Rev. J. B. McIsaac will speak Monday and Tuesday, C. C. Vincent Thursday and the Rev. C. P. Wiles Friday and Saturday.

The Bijou theater meetings for the coming winter will begin tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. Prof. Tali Esen Morgan will make his first appearance at these meetings and will conduct the chorus of about 100 voices. Mrs. Gay Snyder Brown and M. Adolph Rosen, violinist, and Miss Helen H. Wickersham, accompanist, will also participate in the services. "Ben Hur" will be presented by stereopticon and the Rev. S. Edward Young will make the address.

The annual sermon to the nurses of St. Barnabas' guild will be delivered by Bishop Leigh Richmond Brewer of Montana in the Trinity Protestant Episcopal church, Sixth street, tomorrow evening. Nurses and their friends are invited to attend the exercises.

The Rev. Wilbur R. Crafts, D. D., superintendent of the international reform bureau at Washington, D. C., will speak at the morning services in the Park Avenue Presbyterian church, the Rev. H. B. Hummel, D. D., pastor. Dr. Crafts will speak on "Victories Won and Waiting at Washington," which should prove interesting in view of the fact that congress convenes day after tomorrow.

Invited to Address Collegians.

The Rev. Z. E. Bates, pastor of the Shady Avenue Christian church, Allegheny, has been asked to deliver the annual anniversary address to the Neotrophians of Bethany College, W. Va., on the evening of November 26. Bethany college is Mr. Bates' alma mater, and he will probably accept the invitation. Mr. Bates is conducting revival services nightly in his church.

Union services commemorating the birth of Martin Luther will be held in the Trinity Lutheran church, Allegheny, Tuesday night. The Rev. M. Rhodes, D. D., of St. Louis, will deliver an address on "Our Protestantism."

The Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, in Baldwin township, which was dedicated last September, will apply for a charter from common pleas court No. 2 the latter part of this month. The new congregation is in a flourishing condition. The church, which was started by members of the Grace church, South Side, now numbers 100 and has a house of worship valued at $10,000.

The Rev. D. Rhoslyn Davies, pastor of the Homestead Baptist church, has accepted a call to the Welsh Baptist church of Plymouth, Pa. Mr. Davies was pastor of the Chatham Street Welsh church for 15 years and is perhaps the best known Welsh Baptist minister in Western Pennsylvania and Ohio. A farewell reception will be given him next Tuesday evening in the Chatham street church and invitations have been sent to congregations of other Welsh churches to attend.

The Most Charming Novel of the Year.

MAMZELLE FIFINE

By Eleanor Atkinson.

Into this picture of the girlhood days of the Empress Josephine Mrs. Atkinson has brought all the tropical richness of vegetation and the blending of vivid colors that are so elemental a part of the life of Martinique and its sister islands. She has invested the character with a new and delightful light, and has caught the spell of the fascination that was always an attribute of this celebrated woman.

The World's Best Clothing for Men.

Here it is, in variety so great, so comprehensive that descriptions, at the best, are utterly inadequate to do it justice. Style, quality, workmanship enough to please every taste—FIT and service enough to meet every demand—and prices low enough to suit every purse. Hints of some:

Men's Popular Business Suits

Every day sees increased sales in these handsome, up-to-date twelve dollar suits. Already we've been compelled to replenish our stock with several generous shipments. Suits are really extraordinary values, being as artistically designed, made and finished as garments your tailors ask $20 for. In fine quality of materials, such as cassimeres, cheviots, etc., in blues, blacks and fancy mixtures; single and double-breasted effects; elegant, perfect-fitting suits with as much character and individuality as you could desire, priced $12

Men's Suits for Dress

Of course, it's natural that men require their "best" suits to be faultless. Nothing irritates a person so much as a poorly-made, ill-fitting suit. These new fifteen dollar garments are guaranteed to please most exacting tastes. Transaction isn't closed until they do. Can be had in thibets, worsteds, tweeds, cassimeres and cheviots, in blacks, blues, fancy stripes, checks, plaids and overplaids; coats three and four button; single or double-breasted styles; padded shoulders; correct in fit—and marked only $15

Men's Finest Suits

Garments, ranging in price from $20 to $35, and embracing the best productions of the finest and most exclusive manufacturers in the country. Come in newest domestic and foreign fabrics—silk mixed worsteds, fancy striped and checked overplaids, etc., in all the latest shades and combinations; coats three and four-button—in either single or double breasted effects; unexcelled in fit, make and wearing capacity—priced here at $35 and down by easy steps to $20

Men's Comfortable Top Coats

Musn't let the small prices on these new, well-tailored garments make you think coats are unreliable; fact is, no store in town could duplicate our figures, with SUCH style, workmanship and fit. Coats come in wanted fabrics, in box or three-quarter lengths; lined throughout with best materials—right up to the minute in every detail, our prices $25 and down to $7.50

Men's New Rain Coats

Best possible protection against catching colds, rheumatism—and other ills associated with cold, damp weather. THE thing, too, for wear in bright, sunny days. Well made and guaranteed to fit perfectly—roomy, comfortable garments, allowing great freedom and ease of movement—come in meltons, vicunas, etc., in all newest colors—very cheap at our prices, only $25 and down to $10

Men's Winter Overcoats

An assortment here that well verifies our matchless reputation for quality and quantity in Men's O'Coats. An almost infinite variety of new styles to choose from, including the popular "Belted Back"—an ideal winter coat—long, loose, generous, the very acme of winter warmth and comfort. Other more conservative modes as well. In vicunas, meltons, thibets, etc., in all the fashionable colors and combinations—made for good, hard service by men who "know how." Decidedly big values at our prices, $42 and down to $10

Selling Complete Livery Outfits

Correct ideas in Dress or Undress effects, in blacks, blues, greens or wine shades; also Double-Breasted Stable O'Coats, Ties, Gloves, Hats, etc.

EACH COUNTY HAS SUSTAINED LOSS

HURTS THE NEXT CONVENTION

Philadelphia and Allegheny Counties Suffer by Small Vote Polled by Party. Representation is Based on Number of Votes Polled by Each District.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
HARRISBURG, PA., Nov. 6.

The miserable showing made by the Democratic state ticket at Tuesday's election, will reduce the representation in the next state convention to considerably less than the number of delegates in the convention held in this city, in September. Philadelphia and Allegheny counties naturally sustain the heaviest loss by reason of their size, although nearly every county entitled to more than one delegate will have smaller representation in the convention.

The representation is based on the number of votes cast for the Democratic state ticket at the preceding election, one delegate for each 1,000 votes or a majority fraction of 1,000 votes. Each representative district, however, is entitled to one delegate.

Following shows the reperesentation by counties in the next convention: Adams, 2; Allegheny, 21; Armstrong, 2; Beaver, 1; Bedford, 2; Berks, 8; Blair, 4; Bradford, 2; Bucks, 7; Butler, 1; Cambria, 8; Cameron, 1; Carbon, 3; Centre, 2; Chester, 2; Clarion, 2; Clearfield, 5; Clinton, 2; Columbia, 2; Crawford, 2; Cumberland, 4; Dauphin, 4; Delaware, 2; Elk, 3; Erie, 3; Fayette, 2; Forest, 1; Franklin, 2; Fulton, 1; Greene, 2; Huntingdon, 1; Indiana, 1; Jefferson, 1; Juniata, 1; Lackawanna, 6; Lancaster, 8; Lawrence, 1; Lebanon, ; Lehigh, 10; Luzerne, 14; Lycoming, 4; McKean, 1; Mercer, 2; Mifflin, 1; Monroe, 2; Montgomery, 2; Montour, 1; Northampton, 7; Northumberland, 5; Perry, 1; Philadelphia, 40; Pike, 1; Potter, 1; Schuylkill, 10; Snyder, 1; Somersent, 1; Sullivan, 1; Susquehanna, 2; Tioga, 1; Unio, 1; Venango, 1; Warren, 1; Washington, 3; Wayne, 1; Westmoreland, 5; Wyoming, 1; York, 6.

EXPLOSION AT COLLEGE

Engineer Killed and a Number of Students Injured at Ohio State University.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 6.—While students of the agricultural college at the Ohio State university were witnessing the harvesting of a field of corn by a machine operated by an old traction engine today, the boiler blew up and pieces of iron tore through the crowd of students. The force of the explosion was terrific and was felt through all the university buildings. The most intense excitement was caused and the students came running in all directions from class rooms and dormitories.

Charles Pepper, the engineer, was killed and John Delgarn, assistant engineer, fatally injured. The others injured are: Vernon H. Davis, assistant professor of horticulture, hand badly cut and mangled; Edgar Burt, Bethel, O., student, shocked and bruised; N. E. Shaw, student, scratched and shocked; George Denny, janitor, shocked and bruised; Mrs. F. L. Mintor, shocked and bruised; Sherman Hawley, teamster, burned and bruised; H. B. Shephard, spectator, slightly hurt.

SIGNAL SERVICE PIERCES ALASKA

Gen. Greely Tells of Hardships Encountered in Laying Telegraph Lines.

THE MEN WERE OVERWORKED

Enterprise Encountered Numerous Obstacles, Many of Them Said to Be Insurmountable, and Conquered Them All—1,740 Miles of Wire Laid.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—Gen. Greely, chief signal officer of the United States army, in his annual report to the secretary of war, shows that during the year the system of military telegraph lines and cables in Alaska authorized by congress has been completed and consists of 1,740 miles. Gen. Greely commends very highly Capt. Burnell, who was in charge of telegraph construction work in Alaska, and his assistants, Capts. Mitchell and Gibbs. In speaking of the extreme difficulties encountered in running telegraph lines in the far north Gen. Greely says:

"Very early springs, late autumns, enormous snowfalls, summer floods, impassable canons, and last of all, a gold fever which stripped one officer of every civilian employe save one, have alternately impeded progress, but the energy and resourcefulness of the officers in charge of the work have met and overcome difficulties, which seemed insurmountable."

It is stated that one line was pushed along a route pronounced impracticable and another across a country that never before had been trodden by the foot of a white man. Attention is called to the fact that not 20 miles of constructed wagon road exists in the country traversed, and that as a rule all material was sledded into the interior in midwinter or carried by pack animals over the roughest trail. Of the enlisted men of the signal corps who made up the construction parties, Gen. Greely says:

"It is doubted whether in the peaceful annals of the army there have been met with nobler fortitude by the enlisted men equal conditions of hardship and privation."

Tribute also is paid to the line of the army for its service in connection with telegraph construction in Alaska. Gen. Greely says efforts are being made, with prospects of success in 1904, to establish communication by wireless telegraph between St. Michael and Nome, across North sound, a distance of 108 miles. The general says the maintenance of the Alaskan telegraph lines will necessarily entail a heavy burden on the signal corps and on the garrisons in Alaska, and he recommends that the four companies of the line stationed at Forts Liscum, Egbert, Gibbon and St. Michael be increased to 100 men at the earliest practicable date.

The connection by submarine cable of the detached system in southeast Alaska with that of the Yukon district is recommended, also an increase in the enlisted crops in order that unduly prolonged service on foreign stations may not be necessary as now, and further that an additional colonel be authorized for the corps. The value of the telegraph and telephone business transacted by the corps in the Philippines is estimated at $1,500,000, and in this connection it is stated:

"The entire cost of the signal corps, including pay, clothing, rations, transportation, cable ship expenses, etc., are believed to be well within $400,000, so that the signal corps of the army has rendered services in the Philippines, whose pecuniary value exceeds by more than $1,000,000 the entire expenses connected with the corps. This has simply been done by overworking the men of the signal corps, and by their underpayment, as elsewhere stated."

Gen. Greely recommends the purchase of surplus submarine cable among other war materials. Adherents to the international telegraph union is urged. It is stated to be a matter of the utmost importance that signalling apparatus be installed so as to permit of intercommunication between the army and navy on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts.

BOY CLAIMS WOMAN KILLED HER HUSBAND

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

STEUBENVILLE, O., Nov. 6.—The preliminary hearing of Mrs. Jennie Owens and Joseph Davis, aged 19, who are charged with the murder of the woman's husband, Calvin Owens, at his lonely cabin in Dungeon Hollow, on Island creek, was commenced in Mayor Scott's court this morning. The hearing had been in progress less than half an hour when the attorneys for the state sprung a surprise in the form of a confession made to Sheriff Gilson by Davis in the jail a few hours after he had been arrested.

According to the testimony of Sheriff Gilsn young Davis told him that he had given Mrs. Owens a 22-caliber rifle on the day before the murder and that Mrs. Owens told him she intended to kill her husband with it, because she did not love him, but loved Davis.

While the sheriff was testifying as to what young Davis had told him, Mrs. Owens turned deathly pale.

MAY CAUSE SLASHING OF PRICES FOR COKE

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., Nov. 6.—(Special.)—The announcement that the H. C. Frick Company would again enter the coke market has caused general uneasiness among all the independent operators. They fear that the move of this big concern to sell its surplus coke will mean a suspension of business for them. The independents have been endeavoring to form a combination to maintain prices, but should the Frick company come into the market a general slashing of prices will undoubtedly result. Notwithstanding the general slump in the coke business, the Frick company has endeavored to keep as many of its plants going as possible.

Wants $10,000 for Injuries.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Nov. 6.—(Special.)—Another suit to recover $10,000 damages from the New Castle & Sharon interurban trolley line has been filed, as a result of the wreck near Hubbard on August 6, when three persons were killed and more than 30 injured by the collision of a special and a regular car. The latest suit brought is by Grace E. Turner. Suits aggregating nearly $150,000 have been filed as a result of the wreck.

Killed by Train at Seward.

GREENSBURG, PA., Nov. 6.—(Special.)—Michael H. Sproch was struck by a train east of Seward last evening and instantly killed. The letters in his pockets were addressed to Sproch at No. 79 Water street, Cleveland, O. A mercantile license for Cambria county was also found in his pockets. He was about 30 years old and well dressed. The body is awaiting claimants in New Florence.

IRA S. FULKERSON,

Elected Member of the Board of Education of New Castle, Pa.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Nov. 6.—(Special.)—Ira S. Fulkerson, who has just accepted the position on the New Castle board of education, to which he was elected Monday evening, is one of the best known of the younger business men of the city. He is also prominent in society and church circles, as well as through his Masonic connections. The new director of education was born and raised in this city, where he has been in the grocery business for several years. He is also interested in many other enterprises with well known local capitalists and is recognized as one of the most solid and conservative of the younger business element. Mr. Fulkerson is a member of one of the original families that settled in New Castle and his election is pleasing to many and varied interests.

PRINCE AND PRINCESS ORDERED OUT OF THEATER

Hawiian Delegate to Congress and His Wife Humiliated at Columbus, O.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 6.—Prince J. K. Kalanianaolo, Hawaiian delegate to the congress of United States, and his princess, were unceremoniously ordered out of a box at the Great Southern theater last evening because of their color. The fact that they left the box was noted by many in the audience, but the reason for their retirement did not become known until today.

The prince and princess had been invited to attend the theater as members of Gen. Dick's box party. This invitation the prince declined, thinking that the presence of the dark-skinned couple might be offensive to some Columbus people. They engaged seats in another box, however, and were visited during the intermission by Gen. Dick, with several of his friends.

Harry Ketcham, owner of the theater, ordered the Hawaiians to leave the box. Later Mr. Ketcham, at the request of Gen. Dick, called upon the prince and tendered his apologies. The prince took the incident with good nature.

Pittsburghers in Attendance.

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., Nov. 6.—(Special.)—The eleventh anniversary of the German Beneficial Union in the Fifteenth district was held in Mercantile hall, last night. Peter Rutsek delivered the address of welcome. The following supreme officers of Pittsburgh were in attendance: Louis Voltz, president; G. A. Newzemaier, vice president; Louis Thumm, secretary; A. F. Wedmeyer, Joseph Klauss and G. W. Leppig. All responded to toasts.

MRS. GILPIN'S JEWELRY CANNOT BE FOUND

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

UNIONTOWN, PA., Nov. 6.—Several diamond rings, a gold watch and other jewelry belonging to Mrs. L. W. Gilpin, whom the coroner's jury found committed suicide at the stone house, near Uniontown, October 29, are missing and Mr. Gilpin, the husband, has put the matter in the hands of County Detective McBeth. The most valuable ring was taken in charge by the undertaker and given to Mr. Gilpin, but there are others not accounted for. Mr. Gilpin left this afternoon for Richwood, O.

BROTHERS AND SISTERS MARRIED AT STEUBENVILLE

STEUBENVILLE, O., Nov. 6.—(Special.)—The record for Gretna Green weddings occurred today, when Leroy Ogden and Grace E. Barcus and J. Everett Ogden and Maud E. Barcus, brothers and sisters, of Oakland, Pa., were married here by Justice Peck. Others granted licenses and married were Anthony W. McKinney and Lizzie Hellsenger, George M. Price and Amelia Trenbauser of Pittsburgh, Charles Dosch and Sadie Bennett of Allegheny, Edward Morey and Elvin Rees of Carnegie.

Church Conference Opened.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Nov. 6.—(Special.)—The annual quarterly conference of the Primitive Methodist church was opened here today in the Dewey avenue church with a large attendance of ministers and lay delegates. The Rev. M. T. Miller of Franklin, district elder, is in charge. Special religious services were held today. The missionary conference will be held tomorrow.

STATE AND NEIGHBORHOOD.

STEUBENVILLE, O.—Reed Huff, aged 22, a car tender at the Wayne coal works, west of here, fell off a loaded car of slate and was killed.

ASHTABULA, O.—Mike Lukacs, a laborer on the docks, while going aboard the steamer Wilkinson at this port, fell into the river and was drowned.

MONONGAHELA, PA.—Constable William Ridball is unconscious as a result of a paralytic stroke. His recovery is doubtful. He is 77 years old and has served as constable for about 10 years.

YOUNGSTOWN, O.—Hugh Jones of Sharon is making a desperate struggle for life. He was struck by a street car here last Friday and his neck broken. The doctors gave him up at once, but despite their predictions he is still living.

SHARON, PA.—Charles Callagan, a steel worker, was robbed while on his way home. When entering his gate a footpad dealt him a blow on the head. He was rendered unconscious and when he recovered his money, amounting to $9, was gone.

CLARKSBURG, W. VA.—Fire causing a loss of $20,000 occurred at Sutton. The postoffice building, Weidenheimer's general merchandise store, Lee Bland's drug store and several smaller buildings were totally destroyed. The larger buildings valued at $8,000 were owned by Jacob Hyer and were partially insured.

YOUNGSTOWN, O.—Mike Schiller, who has been convicted of the murder of his wife and has been sentenced to electrocution next Tuesday will not be executed on that day. The circuit court handed down a decision giving him a new trial on the ground of error in the charge of the judge of the common pleas court.

YOUNGSTOWN, O.—Mitchell Irwin, coachman, who has brought suit against Mrs. George B. Sennett for breach of promise, $5,000 damages, has been arrested the second time in two days. The first time he was charged with petit larceny. Now he has been arrested on a charge of grand larceny and locked up.

MONESSEN, PA.—A company of local capitalists have organized with a capital stock of $50,000 for the purpose of erecting an opera house. A site for the new building was bought today at Donner avenue and Second street. The company is composed of Mayor Albert B. Shuster, City Treasurer Edward M. Frye, Councilman William S. Bumbaugh, ex-Postmaster John W. Manown and George Myford, proprietor of the Commercial hotel.

TO INCORPOR HUMANE SO

National Organization to Chartered and Have Its He quarters at Washington.

OLD OFFICERS ARE RE-ELE

New Incorporation Plans an Ele Work for the Prevention of C but Has So Mapped Out Its W Not to Interfere With Local Bo

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZ

CINCINNATI, Nov. 6.—The tw seventh annual meeting of the A can Humane association closed to The time and place for the next ing will be fixed by the new directory. The incumbent officers were continued in office until articles of incorporation are filed with the recorder of the District of Columbia.

It was voted that all of the records, papers, seal and personal property of the old national organization should be turned over to the new incorporation as soon as a charter was received from the recorder of deeds at Washington.

Secretary Sidney R. Tabor of Chicago, Mrs. Mary Howe Totten and Henry B. M. McFarland of Washington, were elected as the incorporators with instructions to adopt by-laws that were approved, and instructions were also giv as to the organization of the new in corporation, including the following officers: President, James M. Brown, Toledo, O.; secretary, Sidney R. Tabor, Chicago; treasurer, Walter Butler, Chicago. Directors—James M. Brown, Sidney R. Tabor, Walter Butler, John C. Shortall, Chicago; Albert Leffingwell, New York; Caroline Earle White, Philadelphia; Mary F. Lovell, Philadelphia; Mary Howe Totten, Washington; Sarah J. Eddy, Providence; William O. Stillman, Albany, N. Y.

There was a long discussion over the articles of incorporation and they were finally adopted so as not to conflict with any state or local incorporation. The national incorporation is for the "prevention and suppression of cruelty, especially of cruelty to children and animals," and for the enforcement of national, state and local laws. It is proposed to operate in localities where there are no local organizations and to have the same scope as the interstate commerce law so as to prosecute certain cases in the transportation of live stock where it is proposed to change the period of watering and feeding from 28 to 40 hours. It is also proposed to regulate vivisection.

One of the resolutions expressed regret for the resignation of Eldridge T. Gerry, as one of the vice presidents of the association, and the eulogy on him was adopted by a rising vote.

FORMER CONGRESSMAN'S SON CHARGED WITH BURGLARY

YONKERS, N. Y., Nov. 6.—(Special.)—Languishing in prison is William G. Stahlnecker, Jr., son of former Mayor and Congressman Stahlnecker of this city, who this morning was held in $300 bail on the charge of burglary in the third degree. William G. Stahlnecker, father of the prisoner, served two terms as mayor of Yonkers and four terms as congressman. He was known as father of the congressional library. He died a couple of years ago and today his widow is impoverished. Young Stahlnecker is married and has a family.

KAUFMANN'S

"THE BIG STORE"

A clothing discussion based on merit always results in our favor

Better goods for the same money, or the same goods for less money than offered anywhere.

Sometimes it's in the weave of the material; some times it's in the style expression; sometimes it's in the high-class tailor work; sometimes it's in the perfection of fit; sometimes it's in the matter of price; more often, however, it's in ALL these points combined that our clothing derives its superiority.

Suits and overcoats worth $10 and $12, at 8.50

Suits and overcoats worth $18 and $20, at 15.00

The suits at 8.50—correct style, clever tailoring, dependable materials—you have them all in these suits. Single or double-breasted styles with three or four buttons, just as you prefer. And a perfect fit and satisfying wear goes with every suit.

The overcoats at 8.50—slip on one of these, and if you're not pleased with the effect we very much miss our guess. Long coats, short coats and medium lengths—they're all to be found in this line in a big variety of materials—silk yoke top raincoats are also included.

The suits at 15.00—the most skilled craftsmen were employed in fashioning these garments—we're justly proud of them, and you'll be the same. The assortment? It's limited only by the confines imposed by fashion. The fit? Perfect, of course.

The overcoats at 15.00—any belted-backs? Yes, plenty of them. As well as all the other swell and swagger styles. Rough or smooth finished materials—made very full with the broad shoulders—each coat possessing character and individuality.

No tailor can produce sweller garments

Than the superb suits and overcoats that we lay before you at 20.00 to 33.00. No tailor can give you a more perfect fit. No tailor can please you as well regarding fabric, pattern and color. Fastidious dressers have only words of praise to bestow upon this—the finest attire that's made. Our showing of Prince Alberts, tuxedos, opera capes, and full dress suits and opera coats is likewise the subject of favorable comment. Prices: 20.00 to 33.00

HARVARD PROTESTS TWO QUAKER STARS

ELEVENS WILL MEET TODAY

The calm which precedes the final football struggles of the year will be in evidence today, there being but one big game in either the east or the west. While Yale and Princeton are both playing what should prove little more than practice games, the elevens of Harvard and Pennsylvania will clash in their annual contest.

This year the scene of the gridiron battle will be Franklin Field, at Philadelphia. Here the players that wear the Crimson of Harvard and the Red and Blue of Pennsylvania will meet in their seventeenth game, the series having begun in 1881 and continued with but the lapse of an occasional year since that time.

During this period of play, covering 21 years, the Harvard teams have won 11 of the 16 games played. A peculiar feature of the Harvard-Pennsylvania series is that, barring the first three games, the contests have been won and lost in blocks of four and five games as the series progressed. Beginning in 1886, Harvard won four straight by overwhelming scores from the Red and Blue. In 1894 the Quakers turned the tables and scored four times for their university, but all were close contests, and the Crimson never failed to cross the Pennsylvania line. The pendulum swung back in 1898, and since that the Harvard elevens have been victorious in the games to date.

Many close followers of football think the time is due for a return of the Red and Blue prowess on the gridiron. Many indications point that way, and but for the disastrous defeat administered to the Quakers by the Columbia eleven, the Pennsylvania aggregation would be a decided favorite in tomorrow's game.

Protests Two Players.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Nov. 6.—The Harvard football team, consisting of 33 players and substitutes, arrived here today. Capt. Marshall stated that he had made a formal protest against the playing of Fullback Smith and Left Tackle Zeigler of the Pennsylvania eleven, as the Harvard officials considered the men eligible under the University of Pennsylvania ruling.

When asked what the outcome would be if Pennsylvania insisted on playing the men, Coach Lewis said:

"Of course, the game will be played, and so far as the duties of the coaches are concerned we have nothing more to do with the matter. Further action may be taken after the game, or it may not. That is up to those who have the matter in charge."

Dr. J. William White of the University of Pennsylvania said:

"I do not know of any rule at which Pennsylvania can possibly keep these players out of the game. The subject has been fully discussed and the alumna association has finally settled that the men are eligible to compete in this game."

Regarding the rumor that this would be the last game between Harvard and Pennsylvania, Coach Lewis said:

"It is the old rumor revived. We hear it every year. As far as I am aware, games will be played next year and succeeding years."

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 6.—(Special.)—The Tigers will meet the Lafayette football eleven tomorrow with a team greatly weakened on account of injuries. Berry will be unable to play his position at end, and, according to the official lineup, Kafer and Miller will not be in the game, owing to injuries received in recent practices. Although none of the men is seriously hurt, the complaint in each case is sufficient to greatly endanger additional injury if active work is entered into. Upon the eve of such a struggle as the coaches are anticipating a week from tomorrow with Yale, no precaution is unheeded to have the Tigers in the best condition possible. There is not a man on the team in as good condition as a week ago, and a surprise from the Pennsylvanians tomorrow is feared. The lightest kind of work was given the men today in order that they may be fresh for tomorrow's game. Signal practice was indulged in by the scrub players and varsity substitutes.

ANNAPOLIS, MD., Nov. 6.—(Special.)—The Naval academy football team will play the eleven of Washington and Jefferson college here tomorrow afternoon, and if the visitors are anywhere near the standard of two years ago the Navy may expect a hard tussle.

In preparation for the game the middies got in some good work in this afternoon's practice. In the lineup the varsity scored one touchdown, Jones breaking through the scrubs for 20 yards.

FOOTBALL NOTES.

The Smithvale Tigers will play the Pittsburgh College Fifth team today on the former's grounds.

The Bryant A. C. and the W. R. Blacks will line up today on the former's grounds, and a good game is expected.

Any good 80 to 85-pound team desiring a game with Maplewood A. C. today call up 1953 Court and ask for Kinley.

The Emsworth First team will have the Duquesne team as their opponents on Robb's field at Emsworth this afternoon.

The Arsenal A. C. is without a game for Thanksgiving day and would like to arrange a game with some 50-pound out-of-town team.

All East End Lyceum players are requested to report at the club house this afternoon at 1 o'clock sharp, at which time they will leave for Crafton.

Owing to cancellation the Emsworth Juniors are without a game for this afternoon and any Junior team desiring to play at Emsworth call John V. Sevin, 658 Grant.

The Geneva A. C. will play the Brushton Mohawks this afternoon on the latter's grounds. All Geneva players will report at Homewood and Hamilton avenues at 2 o'clock.

The Pennsylvania Company has organized a team and would like to hear from the Bellevue Tigers for Thanksgiving morning. Address Jerry Sullivan, Union station, Pittsburgh.

The Flavels will line up against the undefeated Independents of Homestead this afternoon on the Baum field. All Flavel players are requested to report as early as possible.

One of the most interesting games of the season will be played today at Hartman's park, when the Linwood A. C. lines up against the Hillside Tigers for the 80-pound championship.

The Pequots of Allegheny would like to arrange a game with the Library A. C. for November 14, to be played on Pequot grounds. Address William B. McVicker, 411 Union station, city.

Oakdale H. S. is without a game for today, and would like to hear from all 70 to 80-pound teams. Call up Oakdale Central and ask for Lowry, or address Lee L. Lowry, manager O. H. S., Oakdale.

The Crescent A. C. of Wilkinsburg and Belmar A. C. of Homewood will clash today at D. C. and A. C. park, Wilkinsburg. Crescent A. C. have not been scored on this year, and Belmar's record is good.

Allentown plays the strong New Kensington team on the latter's grounds today. All players, including Slicker, Prosser, Campbell and Moyer are requested to report at the Union depot at 1 o'clock sharp.

The Pequots of Allegheny will journey to Sewickley and try to take a fall out of the Y. M. C. A. third team of that place. The Pequots will meet at the Ft. Wayne station, Allegheny, not later than 1:15 p. m.

The Pequots of Allegheny have a good show for the 70-pound championship, with six games won and none lost, and believe certain other teams of their weight are a little previous in claiming the title before defeating the Pequots.

The Sycamores will have the Sterlings of Wilkinsburg as the attraction this afternoon on the Phipps playground. The game will start at 3:30 o'clock, and all Sycamore players are requested to report at the Phipps gymnasium at 2:30 o'clock.

The North Sides and the Clipper A. C. will meet on the Etna grounds this afternoon. The Clippers have played the Valley A. C. of McKees Rocks and the Brushton Tigers each a no score game, and they will endeavor to keep the North Side boys from crossing their goal line today. All the North Side players are to report at the grounds not later than 2:30.

The Pastime Reserves wish to make public that they are not an 80-pound team, as has been stated, but they are out for the 75-pound championship. Pastime Reserves defeated Library, strengthened by a few Flavels, by the score of 12 to 6. The Reserves would like to hear from any team disputing their claim for the 75-pound championship for tomorrow on their grounds. Call up 3424 Court and ask for F. Block, between 9 and 10 a. m.

WRANGLING GAME PLAYED AT FRIENDSHIP PARK

Pittsburgh High School and Pittsburgh College Reserves Have a Merry Time in the Cold.

The Pittsburgh High School and Pittsburgh College Reserve football teams engaged in an old-fashioned wrangling game yesterday afternoon at Friendship park while a small crowd of students and followers of the sport shivered in the cold on a very heavy field.

Bialas, High School's speedy half back, crossed the Reserves' goal line in the second half for a touch down after which Bauer kicked goal, but the score of 6 to 6 is denied by the collegians. The Reserves claim that Bialas went out of bounds when he got around the end for the touchdown, and after some discussion Referee McCambridge of Pittsburgh college ruled in their favor.

The lines on the field were not distinct and McKallister of High School who was a linesman, said Bialas was in fair territory by at least four feet, while Hays of the college, who was the other linesman, said he could not see the play on account of the crowd which followed up the run. Spectators close to the play thought Bialas did not leave fair ground. There was not one policeman at the park and the spectators continually crowded on the field. Once in the second half the players on both teams joined hands and swept over the field, rounding up the spectators, chasing them to the side lines.

High School began the game minus Bauer, Spuhler, Schmidt and Wallace Johns. Luty was at quarter back instead of Bauer. The first half was even, both teams finding the going very hard because of the muddy field. In the middle of the half Coach James took off Leff and started to play himself. James looks somewhat like Bauer in a uniform and the Reserves did not discover it was James in the game until he hit the line. Charlie Duffy said he thought an engine was coming through. James made but one tackle. At the close of the half the Reserves kicked and refused to play unless James retired. High School also entered a protest, claiming the Reserves were playing men from the first team and also teachers. The dispute lasted one half hour. In the meantime the spectators yelled for the game to go on. James quit and the second half began.

The Reserves kicked off to Will Orr, who got back from the 10-yard line 15 yards. High School rushed the ball to the 45-yard line where Orr booted it to the five yard line over Gaynor's head. Gaynor was tackled on the spot. Duffy got three yards on an end run and Neilan one yard. Gaynor kicked to Orr 25 yards, and from this place High School began to travel with the ball. Worrell, Orr and Bialas took turns at advancing it.

On the journey down Duffy loomed up as the star for the Reserves by making some very pretty tackles when the runners were in a clear field. From the 5-yard line Bialas was started with the ball and apparently got over the line for a touchdown. While High School was lining up to kick goal the Reserves entered their objection to the touchdown. The teams lined up as follows:

P. H. S.		P. C. R.
E. Harrison	L.E.	Arens
Garr	L.T.	Whalen
Woods	L.G.	Bryan
Campbell	C.	Staib
Leff	R.G.	McLaughlin
Dawling	R.T.	Rankin
C. Harrison	R.E.	Duffy
Luty, James, Bauer	Q.B.	Retihan
Bialas	L.H.	Keating
Warrell	R.H.	Neilan
W. Orr	F.B.	Gaynor

CONFIDENT OF VICTORY.

Miner Munroe in Fine Shape for Fight With Maher.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—(Special.)—Jack Munroe, the Butte miner, who is to meet Peter Maher tomorrow in a six round engagement before the National Sporting club of Philadelphia, went over to the Quaker City this afternoon. The miner has been training at Bath Beach for the contest and is in splendid shape. He is very confident that he can beat Maher.

Will Shoot This Afternoon.

The shoot which was to have taken place yesterday between H. Vandergrift and Alex King on the grounds of the Herron Hill Gun club on Davis island, was postponed until this afternoon on account of business which called Mr. Vandergrift to the city. The pigeons for the shoot had already been caught and it was not until the last minute that the match was called off. This afternoon several other members of the club will be in attendance and practice will be indulged in for the merchandise shoot on November 9.

An Echo of the Election.

The Brushton Tigers are without a game for today owing to the H. L. Goehrings disbanding. Any good 85 to 90-pound team desiring a game call up James Bacon, invoice department, Crucible Steel Company, between 8:30 and 12 o'clock.

BASEBALL NOTES.

It is said that McGraw wants Deerfoot Barclay from St. Louis. Barclay performed poorly last season.

It is said that Griffith will give Anderson, Williams and Unglaub to Comiskey for Jones and Davis. Good trade either way.

Your Uncle Jim Collins knows where he is going to get his meals from this winter. His income from the Boston Americans, including the championship velvet, netted him just $7,682.

Lauder is still under the care of a physician. He may never fully recover from that awful shock received last spring a year ago when, in the morning practice, Mathewson hit him in the temple with one of his speediest inshoots.

Dr. G. Harris White has joined Fielder Jones in his request to be taken into the Portland (Oregon) fold. Fred Ely, the ex-Pirate, will retain the management of the team, and hopes to make terms with both of Comiskey's rebels.

Harry Cashman says that the tales told by most of the players threatening to desert to the Pacific Coast are simply "pipe." He adds: "The players in question are probably using the Coast League as a lever to avoid a cut in salaries or force an increase. The presence of Jay Hughes, Frank Dillon, Charlie Irwin, Joe Corbett and "Doc" Newton in this country, and the fact that they have drawn as great or greater salaries than ever before in their lives, has made the lever idea possible."

HARD TIME FOR FORM PLAYERS

Track Conditions Made the Guessing Hard, but Three Favorites Managed to Win.

THANE'S VICTORY COSTLY

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CINCINNATI, Nov. 6.—Owing to the track conditions at Latonia, today, the form students had trouble figuring out the winners, but nevertheless they managed to put three favorites over the plate. The other three races were taken by well backed horses, none of them being over 5 to 1 in the betting. Steve L'Hommedieu plunged on his gelding Thane to win the fourth race, a selling affair at a mile, and won nearly $5,000 on the horse's victory, but had to protect the winner to the extent of $2,400. John Howard, Sam Hildreth's betting commissioner, ran the horse up from $1,000. Weather clear, track heavy and holding.

First race, 6 furlongs—Louise Collier, 104, Mountain, 5 to 1, won; Lowly, 96, H. Phillips, 3 to 1, second; Jet, 98, D. Austin, 8 to 1, third. Time 1:20½.

Second race, 1 mile—Bugle Horn, 102, Crawford, 3 to 1, won; Overhand, 93, W. Robbins, 7 to 1, second; Banwell, 96, H. Phillips, 6 to 5, third. Time 1:49½.

Third race, 7 furlongs—Coruscate, 103, H. Phillips, 9 to 20, won; Sanctissima, 100, W. Robbins, 15 to 1, second; Goo Goo, 104, Minder, 8 to 1, third. Time 1:34.

Fourth race, 1 mile—Thane, 107, S. Bonner, 1 to 2, won; Neversuch, 101, A. W. Booker, 11 to 5, second; Sister Lillian, 87, Hyams, 15 to 1, third. Time 1:49.

Fifth race, 5 furlongs—Vella, 107, Williams, 3 to 1, won; Woodlawn Belle, 107, T. Knight, 9 to 5, second; Vallarambia, 110, Minder, 9 to 1, third. Time 1:06½.

Sixth race, 6 furlongs—Red Raven, 96, H. Phillips, 7 to 10, won; The Gold Finder, 107, Minder, 13 to 5, second; Dave Sommers, 107, A. W. Booker, 6 to 1, third. Time 1:18¾.

AQUEDUCT WINDUP.

Namtor Won the Final Handicap Event from Carbuncle.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—The Aqueduct meeting came to a close today, a fair crowd being in attendance, despite the cold weather. Namtor, at 3 to 1, won the Stonybrook handicap by a neck from the favorite, Carbuncle. Summaries:

First race, handicap, 6 furlongs—Mamie Worth, 126, Fuller, 6 to 5 and 1 to 3, won; Ascension, 111, Hicks, 11 to 5 and 1 to 2, second; Young Henry, 125, Redfern, 11 to 5 and 3 to 5, third. Time, 1:14 1-5.

Second race, selling, mile—Cottage Maid, 105, Bolesen, 15 to 1 and 6 to 1, won; Alpaca, 104, O'Brien, 12 to 1 and 5 to 1, second; Widows Mite, 92, W. Fisher, 10 to 1 and 4 to 1, third. Time, 1:43.

Third race, 6½ furlongs—Raider, 107, Romanelli, 10 to 1 and 4 to 1, won; Flag Officer, 110, Cochran, 9 to 2 and 2 to 1, second; Belle of Portland, 107, Bolesen, 7 to 1 and 5 to 2, third. Time, 1:22 3-5.

PIRATES GOT CORBETT.

Ned Hanlon Has Waived Claim to Pitcher Who Will Come to Pittsburgh.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—(Special.)—It is reported that George Davis, who created a sensation by playing with the Giants a few days last summer in violation of the peace contract, will hold down third base for the local Americans next season.

Comiskey of Chicago is said to have released him, and will take one of Griffith's men in exchange. It looks now as if Fred Clarke of the champion Pittsburghs will get Joe Corbett.

Ned Hanlon had a claim on Corbett, but, realizing that the young pitcher would not, under any circumstances, consent to pitch for his team, has waived this claim in favor of Pittsburgh. It is believed that Manager Clarke has already made Corbett an offer, which he has accepted.

Neither Team Could Score.

GROVE CITY, PA., Nov. 6.—(Special.)—The football game today between Mercer and Grove City High school teams was close and interesting and resulted in a tie, neither side scoring. Grove City had the ball near Mercer's line several times, but could not force it over.

Salty Dose for Horsemen.

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—At a meeting of the board of stewards of the Western Jockey club today, D. J. Lynch, owner, C. Lind, trainer, and J. Treanor, jockey, were ruled off the turf.

BASKETBALL GOSSIP.

The South Side Stars have been organized and would like to hear from all 10 and 11-year-old teams having halls. Address A. H. Jackson, 1822 Frick building, Pittsburgh. The lineup is: King, center; A. Goshesky, forward; C. B. Freund, forward; S. Smith, left guard; Jackson or C. Freund, right guard.

Last night Capt. Rumbaugh of the Carnegie High school, issued a call for basketball candidates and the following men reported: Gregg, Cole, Dushane, Martin, McMillen, Foster, Matthews, Duff, Kerr, Haudenshield, Ticker, Lea and Harriett. Games are desired with strictly school teams. Address D. P. Foster, 537 Washington avenue, Carnegie.

GERMAN EMPEROR WILL ENTER HIS YACHT METEOR

American Built Boat Will Be Sent Over to Take Part in First Ocean Race.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

BERLIN, Nov. 6.—Emperor William's schooner yacht Meteor will go to the United States in the spring to take part in the ocean yacht race for the emperor's cup. Several changes have been ordered in the Meteor's rig, the most important of which is a reduction of her sail area, so as to avoid being heavily handicapped. The Meteor was sailed by an all-English crew two seasons ago, and was handled by a crew about half English and half German during the races of June last. She will sail in the trans-Atlantic race with an all-German crew.

The emperor's views regarding the advantages of the race, as they have been outlined to naval officers here, are that yachts of the cruiser type are of greater utility than racing models and that the strength of construction, discipline of the crews, varieties of weather and skill in sailing under what may be called service conditions are best tested in trans-oceanic race. The Meteor was constructed partially to that end.

Emperor William is said to have likened a racing yacht to a race horse, as "no good for every day pleasure."

SUSPENDED FOR LIFE.

Western Jockey Club Takes Action and Defies Strong Political Power.

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—(Special.)—Life suspensions from the turf were meted out this afternoon by the Western Jockey club to Dennis J. Lynch, owner, C. Lind, trainer, and Jockey Treanor. The sensational action was taken behind closed doors and the announcement made to the newspaper reporters without a word of explanation from the stewards.

Lynch and Lind are, or were, California turfmen of prominence, and the decision is of great importance, not only on account of the sensational events leading up to it, but the high standing of the backers.

The organization that controls racing west of the Alleghanies in this way defied the mysterious political influence that was so powerful that the Harlem Jockey club recently reinstated Lynch and his associates, with the announcement that the pressure that prompted them to take the action was so powerful that to antagonize it would mean the end of the club and probably the finale of the sport in Illinois.

Frankie Neil Criticises Corbett, McGovern and Joe Gans.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 6.—(Special.)—Frankie Neil has bitter words for his fellow champions who claim titles without regard to weight. Listen to Frankie:

"When he was calling himself a champion in the bantamweight and later in the featherweight class it is doubtful if McGovern ever weighed in and fought at what is generally conceded to be the proper weight for those classes—105 for bantams and 115 for feathers.

"Young Corbett won the so-called featherweight championship at an announced weight of 127 pounds, and the weight was made several hours before the contest, and both he and McGovern must have been close to the lightweight limit of 133 pounds when they faced each other in the ring.

"Gans claims the lightweight championship, although it is pretty good betting that he cannot make the weight at the ringside and be strong enough to fight for any length of time."

FAILED TO GET HORSE.

George Ketcham Failed to Land Peter Black.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 6.—(Special.)—The Blair-Baker sale of horses closed today and the sale constitutes a record-breaker for this city, many of the animals disposed of bringing fancy prices.

George Ketcham, owner of Cresceus, registered bids for Peter Black, but failed to get him. He is a promising black colt and is eligible for entry in the next Kentucky Futurity, and predictions are made that he will win in a walk. He is a half-brother to Robert Mack, the winner of the $10,000 M. and M. stake at Detroit last July. He has been worked but 35 days, and has stepped a quarter in the fast time of :36¼.

Among the sales were: Kate Wilkes, b. m., 2:19¼, to John Penter, Johnstown, Pa., $500; Nellie Gordon, pacer, trial 2:05¼, to John Penter, Johnstown, Pa., $550.

INTO WINTER QUARTERS.

Many Fine Horses Reached Lexington Yesterday.

LEXINGTON, KY., Nov. 6.—(Special.)—Nine head of horses of Millionaire A. Featherstone's racing stable arrived here today from the Aqueduct race track to go into winter quarters at Kenmore farm.

Todays Tips at Jamaica.

The Journal and American selections at Jamaica:

First race—Gay Boy, Ascension.
Second race—Unmasked, Ethics.
Third race—Dolly Spanker, Lady Amelia.
Fourth race—Hurstbourne, Lux Casta.
Fifth race—Silver Dream, Mordella.
Sixth race—Nevermore, Ella Snyder.

Girls Will Play the Game.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Nov. 6.—(Special.)—Women teachers of this city have organized a basketball and gymnasium club. The officers are Miss Bessie Creed, president, and Mrs. L. A. Woodward, secretary. Prof. E. A. Stocker of Rayen school will be instructor. The club which has 90 members has leased the old armory.

RIOT OCCURS ON HOMESTEAD FIELD

STEEL TOWN TEAM LOSES

After defeating the Homestead High School football team at Steel Works park yesterday, 5 to 0, the Braddock High School players had to be escorted from the park under protection of the Homestead police. So incensed were the Homestead rooters at seeing their team lose, and which was aggravated by a dispute as to the length of the second half, that they attempted to do violence to the victorious team. No serious trouble resulted, but had it not been for the action of the police a riot might have been enacted.

It was Homestead's first defeat of this season, and the trick was turned right at the beginning of the contest between these two rival institutions. Homestead began the game by kicking off to Braddock. Fauker, Braddock's fast right half, took the ball and started through the broken field. He dodged through the broken lines and succeeded in going almost the entire length of the field, planting the ball behind the goal bars for a touchdown. This proved to be the winning score. Neither side was able to score in the first half, although honors were even.

In the second half Braddock, toward the end of the game, had the ball in their territory and began to travel down the field at a merry clip, hitting Homestead's line for big gains. On the 12-yard line the ball was fumbled and a Homestead player fell upon it. Homestead then began to hammer its way down the field, aided by an occasional end run, while the big crowd yelled lustily. The four-yard line was reached when the Braddock timekeeper said the game was over. The man who held the watch for Homestead said there was yet 40 seconds to play, whereupon the Braddock timekeeper declared the game had been concluded two minutes before.

There was a long dispute, in which Profs. Little and Bonner of Braddock and Homestead high schools respectively, who were officiating, got together and agreed on a compromise of the teams playing 20 seconds.

When Braddock lined up but nine of her men were in line, but they succeeded in beating back Homestead's fierce attack. When the time was up the Homestead partisans made a demonstration, crowding around the players. Before many blows were struck the police were on the scene and safely took the visiting players off the field. The lineup:

Braddock H. S.—5.		Homestead—0.
Hannon	L.E.	James
McCulley	L.T.	Conner
W. Well	L.G.	Gopples
Speicher	C.	Gordon

FIGHT IS STOPPED BY OMAHA POLICE

OMAHA, NEB., Nov. 6.—(Special.)—"Philadelphia" Tommy Ryan-Rhodes fight tonight was stopped in the sixth round. The principals were arrested on the charge of fake fight.

Curfew Silenced Because of Poverty

Because the borough has not the money to pay a boy to ring the curfew bell at 8 o'clock each evening, the Swissvale school board has decided that the bell remain silent till the borough council takes up the matter. Yesterday the children of the borough learned why the curfew failed to ring on Thursday evening, and last evening the children who for the last six months have been compelled to leave the streets at dark took advantage of the knowledge gained and many were abroad long after the curfew hour.

COVERS NEW COAL LANDS.

Supplemental Mortgage to That of 1899 Filed by River Company at Uniontown.

The Monongahela River Consolidated Coal and Coke Company has filed in the register and recorder's office of Fayette county a supplementary mortgage to that of September 30, 1899, to the Union Trust Company of Pittsburgh for $10,000,000. The original mortgage was for this amount, but the supplemental mortgage embraces more coal lands than the first.

The directors and stockholders in 1899 decided to make an issue of bonds for $10,000,000 in denominations of $1,000 each, payable in 50 years and bearing 6 per cent interest, payable semi-annually. The issue was to be secured by a mortgage on the coal lands held by the company in Allegheny, Washington, Westmoreland and Fayette counties. By the terms of the mortgage it was to cover not only the holdings of the company at that time, but any property it might hereafter acquire.

The directors of the coal company met October 28, 1903, and authorized the execution and delivery of such an indenture to cover properties acquired since.

BERGER IS IDENTIFIED.

Farmer Says He's the Man Who Attempted to Dymanite an Express Train.

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—(Special.)—Gus Berger, brother of Alfred and Hattie Berger, the latter of whom is alleged to have robbed many Milwaukee homes while in male attire, was today identified as one of the men who a week ago attempted to dynamite a Chicago & Northwestern express near Jefferson Park, and shot Louis Ernst, a fireman.

A truck farmer by the name of Mitchell, who lives near the scene of the attempted hold-up, positively identified the prisoner as a man he saw concealed near the tracks just before the crime.

"I also saw this man in the vicinity three days before," said Mitchell. "He appeared to be inspecting the locality."

HAD HIM EXAMINED.

Frank Selee Particular About His Players.

BOSTON, Nov. 6.—(Special.)—Frank Selee, the Chicago manager, ran up from his home in Melrose today to talk business with Frank Coridon. The player was taken to a leading physician for examination as Mr. Selee didn't care to take chances after Coridon's severe sickness that kept him out of the business all of last season. The doctor said the player would no doubt be in good health next season, so that Mr. Selee had very little trouble in coming to terms for next year. Coridon thought he was entitled to a little more than he received from Chicago last year.

Mr. Selee said he intended trading Jack Taylor for an outfielder. The Boston club has about decided to release Pitcher Pittenger.

One More Football Fatality.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 6.—Frank Shanklin, captain of the Hanover College football team last year, died this morning at a hospital here from injuries received in a practice scrimmage on Hanover field five weeks ago. He lived at Franklin, Ind.

OPERATOR TO BLAME.

Coroner in the Big Four Wreck Inquisition Says Instructions Were Disobeyed.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., Nov. 6.—(Special.)—Coroner Tutewiler today fixed the responsibility for the Big Four wreck upon I. H. Bishop, the operator at Shelby street, because he had neglected to carry out instructions to clear the track for the Purdue special. Bishop has fled the city and cannot be found.

The coroner's report has not been completed but it will be exhaustive and show that Bishop had received orders from Kankakee in ample time to have had the yards cleared for the special.

"Dude" Castle's Liberty Short.

PROPOSALS.

Department of Public Safety,
City of Allegheny, Nov. 4, 1903.

SEALED PROPOSALS will be received at the office of the city comptroller until 2 o'clock p. m., Friday, November 13, 1903, for furnishing supplies for the department of public safety for one year from date of contract. Supplies to consist of feed, disinfectants, ice, hose, electrical supplies, battery materials, fire alarm boxes, police boxes, gongs, indicators, tappers, inking registers, wires, cables, etc.

A list containing approximate quantities can be had and all information obtained at this office. Each proposal must be accompanied by a bond with two sureties probated before the city comptroller, or the bond of a surety trust company, which has complied with the ordinance of councils for furnishing bonds for the city contracts, bonds to be in the sum of one-half the estimated cost of said work or supplies.

The mayor and said director of the department of public safety reserves the right to reject any or all bids. Proposals will be opened publicly in the office of the mayor at 3 o'clock p. m., on November 13, 1903.

JAMES G. WYMAN,
Mayor.
THOMAS B. SCANDRETT,
Director Dept. Public Safety.

PROPOSALS—Sealed proposals will be received by the high school committee, room 12, high school, Allegheny, Pa., until 2:30 p. m. Monday, November 16, for furnishing 400 seats, more or less, for the assembly room of the high school annex. Seats must be plain, strong oak opera chairs. Plans and specifications may be seen at the above address. Each bid must be accompanied by a sample chair of the kind proposed and by a surety company bid for the full amount of the bid. The committee reserves the right to reject any or all bids. High school committee, G. W. GERWIG, secretary.

CHANGE OF NAME IS DISCUSSED

VOTE ON QUESTION IN 1904

The twenty-third annual convention of the national congress of the Protestant Episcopal church of the United States, in session here since last Tuesday, came to a close at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The closing sessions were held in Carnegie music hall, Schenley park. The most important discussion of the day arose over the advisability of changing the name of the Episcopal church to the Catholic Church of America.

This is a question which is being freely discussed by the Episcopalian churches in the United States today, and will be voted on at the convention to be held in Boston next year. The trouble appears to be that those favoring a change in the name are not prepared to submit a substitute for it, some favoring the dropping of the word Protestant, others the word Episcopal, and still others the more radical change of dropping the entire cognomen and calling the denomination the Catholic Church of America.

Bishop Cortlandt C. Whitehead of this city presided at the morning session, and the Rev. William R. Huntington, D. D., of New York, was the first to talk on changing the name. In his paper Dr. Huntington maintained the following:

Opposed Change of Name.

That the present name of the church is unsatisfactory; that the name, though unsatisfactory, is as good a one, as under ordinary conditions, we desire; that no change of name is either likely or desirable until back of it there shall be a discernible change of heart.

The paper was freely discussed by the Rev. F. N. Clendenin of New York, the Rev. Paul Matthews of Cincinnati and the Rev. H. M. Hart, D. D., of Denver. The first speaker desired the name changed, while the others were non-committal.

At the close of the morning session officers were elected as follows: Vice presidents, the bishops of Albany, Missouri, South Dakota, New York, Southern Ohio, West Virginia, Louisiana, Texas, Tennessee, Massachusetts, Vermont, Michigan City, Los Angeles, Washington, Connecticut, Rhode Island, Sacramento, Long Island; Bishops Lines C. T. Olmstead, Mann, Vinton; coadjutor, bishops of Southern Ohio and Pennsylvania. The president ex-officio is the bishop of the diocese in which the congress meets.

The members of the executive committee whose terms expire in 1903, were re-elected for four years with the exception of the Rev. Dr. J. S. Shipman, who was replaced by the Rev. Dr. W. T. Manning.

Active Officers Re-Elected.

The election of active officers resulted in the re-election of the present incumbents, as follows: General chairman, the Rev. Dr. C. C. Tiffany; general secretary, the Rev. Dr. Thomas R. Harris, treasurer Thomas Whitaker.

The subject discussed in the afternoon was "The Life in the World to Come." Papers were read by Bishop Boyd Vincent of Cincinnati, and the Rev. Pascal Harrower of New York. Addresses on the same subject were made by the Rev. Edward Osborne of Boston, and the Rev. H. B. Washburn of Worcester, Mass.

Next year being conference year, it is hardly probable that a congress will be held. On this account, a place of meeting was not discussed. This matter has not ben definitely settled, however, and will be taken up later. Many of the visiting clergymen will remain in Pittsburgh over Sunday and some of them will occupy local pulpits for the day.

The Three Rivers

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CINCINNATI, Nov. 6.—River 5 feet and falling. The new shaft of the Queen City of the Cincinnati & Pittsburgh Packet Company will be placed aboard her tomorrow. The Lucy Marmet, which was formerly the Mt. Clare, which has been rebuilt, was towed to the Marmet landing for the finishing touches. She is practically a new boat and will be ready for the autumn rise. The Bonanza has had her boilers repaired and will take the place of the City of Cincinnati in the Louisville trade temporarily. The only craft movement here today were the local packets. Business rather dull.

GREENSBORO—River 6 feet. Woodward down Saturday and Columbia up.

LOUISVILLE—River stationary, 3 feet in the canal, 9 inches on the falls, 4 feet below the locks.

STEUBENVILLE—River 2 feet 8 inches and stationary. Cricket up.

GALLIPOLIS—River 8 feet and falling.

WARREN—River .8 foot. Light snow.

WHEELING—River 3 feet and rising. Down, Bessie Smith, Parkersburg, 7 p. m.

OIL CITY—River 1 foot 2 inches and rising.

PARKERSBURG—River 3.5 feet and stationary. The steamer H. K. Bedford, which sank near New Matamoras Wednesday evening, arrived here today under her own steam to go on the docks.

HUNTINGTON—River 4 feet and falling. Lizzie Bay for Pomeroy at 10 a. m.

Arrivals.

I. C. Woodward, Williams, Morgantown.

Departures.

I. C. Woodward, Williams, Morgantown.

The stage of water at Davis island dam at 6 o'clock last night was 2.7 feet, and the river was stationary.

NEW BOAT IN LOCAL RIVERS.

Andrew Axton's First First Appearance Here—Water Low in Pool No. 5.

The new Andrew Axton, Capt. E. B. Gribbold's new pool boat, made her first appearance at Pittsburgh yesterday and received the customary salutations from the steamers in the harbor. She was built at Brownsville by Andrew Axton for Capt. Gribbold, and she will bear the name of her builder. Several rivermen visited the boat yesterday before she made her return trip up the river. The Axton works well despite her newness. She is of the low type of towboat. Capt. Gribbold will be her master and she will be used in the jobbing trade.

The water in pool No. of the Monongahela river is very low and the Morgantown packets have barely enough water there to navigate. The splash boards have been taken off dam No. 4 so as to facilitate the work of extending the dam to the Westmoreland county shore and this is believed to be the cause of the water getting lower in No. 5.

AID WAS REFUSED.

Tilt in Church Extension Committee Over Oberlin M. E. Church Situation.

KANSAS CITY, MO., Nov. 6.—Another effort made today before the general committee on church extension of the Methodist Episcopal church to secure assistance for the Methodists of Oblin, O., in the erection of a $25,000 church failed. The discussion brough about several pointed tilts and at one time Bishop Cranston objected to a statement made by Bishop Goodsell and the chair was forced to call for order.

A plan to give the North Ohio conference in which Oberlin is located, $5,000 to be used on the Oberlin church also failed. The North Ohio conference was then asked to subscribe $5,500 to the church extension fund, and it was promised one-fifth of that amount.

SOCIETY.

Bridge whist promises to be as popular a game this season as it was last. One of the first social gatherings of this fall devoted to bridge whist was the card party which Mrs. George W. Jackson Bissell gave yesterday afternoon at her home in Linden avenue, Point Breeze. Mrs. Bissell is entertaining as her house guest Mrs. James H. Childs of New Haven, and Mrs. Childs, with Miss Hogg of the Kenmawr, shared the honors of the occasion. The eight tables used were placed throughout the lower floor and prizes were offered at each table. They were captured by Mrs. Childs, one of the guests of honor; Mrs. William Nimick Frew, Mrs. Harmar D. Denny, Mrs. William H. Lippincott, Miss Bowman, Mrs. William H. Mercur, Miss Sellers and Mrs. James MacClurg Hays. The house was prettily decorated with potted plants and chrysanthemums; the mantels were banked with ferns, and a few palms were effectively placed in the hall and the various apartments. Mrs. Childs will remain with Mrs. Bissell for several weeks, and a number of pretty entertainments will be given in her honor.

Reception for Prof. Wilson.

Judge J. H. Reed gave a reception last evening at his home on Amberson avenue in honor of Prof. Woodrow Wilson, president of Princeton university, and over 200 of Pittsburgh's most prominent business and professional men were presented to the distinguished guest. The spacious house of Judge Reed was thrown open for the evening, being simply but tastefully decorated. Assisted by his son, D. A. Reed, the judge received his guests in the parlor on the first floor. J. H. Reed, Jr., Princeton, '04, presented the honor guest. Later in the evening light refreshments were served and the guests then divided between the parlor, halls and third floor, which was used as a smoking room. Among the more prominent out-of-town guests were James H. Gayley, George G. McMurtry and W. C. Graham, of New York.

Mrs. Jackman Entertained at Cards.

Mrs. D. E. Jackman was hostess yesterday afternoon at her home in Clyde honor of street, Shadyside. She entertained in honor of Mrs. William A. Jones of New York, who is her house guest, and her sister, Mrs. Edwin Z. Jackman of Chicago, who is now visiting another sister, Mrs. Ewart. Six-hand euchre was played the eight tables being placed in the parlors and library which were decorated in yellow and white with huge chrysanthemums arranged in clusters against a mass of ferns and groups of palms. The prize winners were: Mrs. A. Rook Carroll, Mrs. James A. Vincent, Mrs. J. G. Schreuder, Mrs. Vonderploeg, who is visiting Mrs. G. A. Samuels in South Negley avenue, Mrs. Richard G. Herron, Mrs. Clarence Wolfe and Mrs. Kennedy of Wilkinsburg. Among the out-of-town guests was Mrs. Thomas Wood of Wayne, Pa.

Patronesses of the Monday Cotillions.

The first of the Monday night cotillions this season will be held at the Pittsburgh club on Monday evening, December 7, the other dates being December 21 and January 4 and 11. The patronesses include Mrs. Charles C. Scaife, Mrs. J. D. Hays, Mrs. Louis W. Dalzell, Mrs. Harry Darlington, Mrs. William Nimick Frew, Mrs. James B. Oliver, Mrs. Henry Clay Bughman, Mrs. Harvey Childs, Jr., Mrs. John R. McGinley, Mrs. Harmar D. Denny, Mrs. Henry Chalfant, Mrs. Carroll H. Fitzhugh, Mrs. John H. Ricketson, Jr., Mrs. Douglass Stewart, Mrs. Frederick C. Perkins, Mrs. William Nimick Murray, Mrs. Frank Scott Willock and Mrs. James Harold Childs. The members of the committee in charge are Arthur W. Bell, Clinton L. Childs and George S. Oliver.

Mrs. Aiken's at Home.

Mrs. David Aiken, Jr., and her daughters, the Misses Aiken, were at home yesterday afternoon, Friday being their usual "at home" day. Special interest attached to the informal event of yesterday, however, because of the presence of Madame Louise Homer, who is visiting Mrs. James H. Reed while in Pittsburgh this week to sing at the Pittsburgh orchestra concerts. This afternoon Madame Homer will be present at the first of the musicale at homes which Mr. and Mrs. James Stephen Martin give this season, the hours of which are from 4 o'clock until 7.

Formal Dance and Reception.

The Keystone Bicycle club announces its first formal dance and reception which will be given on Wednesday evening, November 11, in the club house in Howe street, East End. Refreshments will be served and dancing will continue from 8:30 until 1:30. The committee in charge includes Charles A. Bruce, G. W. Glassburn and A. H. Behrenberg. An informal dance will be given every Wednesday evening during the winter unless the members are otherwise notified.

Miss Janette Brown's Debut.

Miss Janette Brown, daughter of George Brown, will make her debut at an afternoon tea which Mrs. Marcellin Cote Adams will give on Tuesday, November 17, at her home in Fifth avenue, East End. Miss Brown has for a number of years made her home with her aunt, Mrs. George Balmaine. A number of entertainments will be given for her, among them a card party which Mrs. Charles Wolfe will give the latter part of the week of her debut.

Hearts for the Shadyside Boys.

Mrs. David E. Jackman will entertain a number of the Shadyside academy boys this afternoon at her home in Clyde street. They are friends of her son, Edward Jackman, who is in the second form and the majority of the guests will be classmates. There will be seven tables for the game of hearts.

A Philanthropic Entertainment.

The Home and Hospital club of Bellevue will give a bazar and dance on Friday evening, November 20, in the Masonic hall, Lincoln avenue, Bellevue. The dance will be preceded by an interesting comedietta, "A Case of Suspension."

WANT A SCHOOL OF DETENTION

Pittsburgh Principals Appoint a Committee to Confer With the Central Board.

LESSON OF JUVENILE COURT

Miss Nannie Mackrell Says Most of the Youthful Criminals Are Under Thirteen Years of Age—Plans for the Coming Teachers' Institute.

A school of detention will likely be established in Pittsburgh soon. The establishment of such an institution was discussed at a meeting of the Pittsburgh principals' association yesterday and a committee was appointed to confer with the Central Board of Education. The matter was brought before the principals by Miss Nannie Mackrell, who with G. W. Kraiz, Francis Slatterly and City Superintendent Samuel Andrews, will comprise the conference committee.

The principals met in the Fifth avenue high school building yesterday afternoon. Heretofore the meetings of the association have been held on Saturday, but the day was changed to Friday that a larger attendance be secured. There were 25 principals present yesterday. Miss Mackrell, in bringing the school of detention matter before the association, stated she had attended the juvenile court during the day and that 15 or 16 school children, none of them over 13 years of age, were given hearings before Judge J. D. Shafer for various offenses.

Miss Mackrell said that one boy, only 10 years of age, was tried for the third time for larceny, and a girl not 13 years old was tried for drunkenness. She said Judge Shafer had remarked during the trials that the crimes of most children date from the time they began playing truant. Miss Mackrell said also that principals and teachers as a rule do not consider how great are their responsibilities for the morals of the children under their care. A. C. McLean and Thomas C. Blaisdell, author of "Steps in English," gave brief talks on how to best use the new text book, after which the report of the committee appointed to revise the course of study was presented, read and approved.

A committee consisting of Mrs. W. B. Redman, Miss E. M. Craig and Miss Margaret Hunter was appointed to draft a suitable minute over the retirement of Miss M. E. Hare from the profession.

Superintendent Andrews announced that the teachers institute will be held in Syrian Temple on November 27 and 28, sessions being held morning and afternoon of each day. He also announced that he had secured James L. Hughs, inspector of schools of Toronto, Canada, and W. W. Stetson, state superintendent of schools of Maine, to lecture during the institute.

MOTHERS ELECT OFFICERS.

Mrs. Richard R. Quay of Sewickley Chosen Vice President at Scranton.

SCRANTON, PA., Nov. 6.—The fifth annual convention of the Pennsylvania Congress of Mothers, which is in session in this city, today elected the following officers:

President, Mrs. Howard Lippincott, Philadelphia; vice presidents, Mrs. Isaac L. Miller, Media; Mrs. Richard R. Quay, Sewickley; Mrs. Joseph C. Guetinzy, Philadelphia; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Edward V. McCaulley; recording secretary, Miss Mary S. Garrett, Philadelphia; treasurer, Mrs. John B. Otto, Williamsport; auditor, Mrs. Henry S. Mosser, Newberry; board of managers, Mrs. William T. Carter, Mrs. J. P. Mumford, Miss Annie H. Hall, Mrs. Robert T. Haines, Mrs. Herman H. Birney, Mrs. Annie R. Ramsay, Mrs. John B. Clement, all of Philadelphia, and Mrs. George K. Johnson, Langhorne; Mrs. A. R. Dayton, Bala; Mrs. Hugh White, Williamsport and Mrs. P. B. Leightner, Johnstown.

The convention will remain in session until Saturday. The servant girl problem was the principal topic of discussion this morning.

Curfew Bell for Munhall.

At a meeting of Munhall council Thursday evening a petition was presented by several residents asking for a curfew bell. The petition was referred back to the petitioners, to be presented in the shape of an ordinance.

PERSONALS

Richard Clover, proprietor of the Hotel Bentell, Punxsutawney, Pa., is in the city.

Brig. Gen. John A. Wiley of Franklin passed through the city last night on his way to Washington. There he will join the party which leaves this morning in a special train for Chattanooga, Tenn. On Monday a monument in honor of the Seventy-seventh Pennsylvania volunteers for the part they took in the battle of Shiloh, will be dedicated. On Tuesday the party will leave by boat for Pittsburgh Landing, where a monument will be dedicated in honor of the Seventy-third Pennsylvania volunteers. In the party will be Gov. Samuel W. Pennypacker and several state officials. The trip will be one of sightseeing. The special train at the disposal of the party will return to Washington next Saturday evening.

About 50 students from the electrical and mechanical engineering departments of the University of Wisconsin reached Pittsburgh yesterday, accompanied by four of their professors. They will remain in the city until Tuesday, visiting the industrial establishments in order to get a practical knowledge of the subjects which they are studying. Last evening they were entertained by the Westinghouse Electric club at Wilkinsburg. Dr. B. V. Swenson, assistant professor of electrical engineering, has charge of the party. They will also visit Buffalo and Niagara Falls before returning. They are staying at the Griswold.

F. W. Algeo of Chicago passed through the city last night on his way to Europe. He is a grain broker and is going to England and Germany on business. Speaking of Chicago, he said: "The recent money depression was less felt in Chicago than in any other city in proportion to the population. The reason St. Louis suffered so much was because the banks were called upon to furnish money with which to pay for the work being done in the World's fair grounds. Next year St. Louis will be the richest city in the United States."

Neighbors Visiting Pittsburgh.

UNITED STATES ABUSED BY A SPANISH SENATOR

MADRID, Nov. 6.—In the senate today Senor Gil. Robl, Carlist, interpellated the government regarding its recommendation to Spanish manufacturers that they participate in the St. Louis exposition and on the proposal to send the cruiser Rio de la Plata to represent Spain. The senator used the most violent language against the United States, causing Premier Villaverde to protest against the terms employed, which, the premier said, would not be justified even in time of war. Premier Villaverde agreed to discuss the question, but declined to fix a date.

Epworth League Group Meeting.

A group meeting of the Epworth leagues of the Allegheny valley was held at Springdale last evening and was attended by several hundred delegates. The devotional exercises were conducted by the Rev. Mr. Eavis of Springdale. The new constitution was read by the Rev. Mr. Walker of Center, and was discussed by the delegates. The Rev. Mr. Richards of Freeport read an address on how the league could help revival work.

Women's Clubs

The first of the Daughters of the American Revolution who will be in attendance at the Pennsylvania state conference next week, continuing Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, November 10, 11 and 12, will arrive in Pittsburgh on Monday evening. The majority are expected on Tuesday morning. The Schenley hotel will be the headquarters of the daughters, but the sessions of the conference will be conducted in the Pittsburgh Conservatory hall, in Dithridge street. The regent of the Pittsburgh chapter, Mrs. Samuel A. Ammon, has appointed committees of efficient women, who will take charge of the arrangements for the conference, which is expected to be one of the most interesting ever held in Pennsylvania, and probably the best attended. The Pittsburgh chapter is the largest in the state, and the local women are looking forward to the coming meeting with much interest and anticipation.

Mrs. Charles W. Fairbanks, the president general of the national society, will be here and on Wednesday morning will make an address on the Continental Memorial hall. Mrs. Fairbanks will be the guest of Mrs. James R. Mellon, who on Wednesday evening will give a large reception at the Schenley for Mrs. Fairbanks and the visiting Pennsylvania daughters. Wednesday will be a busy day socially. At 4 o'clock in the afternoon, following the meeting in the Conservatory hall, a tea will be given at the Twentieth Century club. At the same hour the block house will be open, and members of the reception committee will be at the club to pilot the visitors to Pittsburgh's famous historic site. This will be a specially interesting object at this time because of the death of its donor, Mrs. Mary E. Schenley, who was an honorary life member of the Pittsburgh chapter and also a Pennsylvania daughter. A resolution will be introduced at the conference touching on the death of Mrs. Schenley. Mrs. Samuel A. Ammon, the regent, issued invitations a few days ago for a luncheon for Mrs. Fairbanks, the state regent, and other visiting daughters. On Tuesday evening the only event will be the concert in Carnegie Music hall by the Pittsburgh orchestra.

Badges and registration—Mrs. William Baltzell, chairman; Mrs. Moses Atwood, Mrs. George T. Clarkson, Miss Mary O'Hara Darlington, Mrs. Samuel B. Griffith, Miss Elizabeth F. Hillman, Mrs. Frank B. Moore, Miss Sara McI. Seely, Mrs. John Reed Scott, Mrs. W. W. Wishart.

Committee on hall and decorations—Mrs. William D. Hamilton, chairman; Mrs. Edward B. Scull, vice chairman; Mrs. William F. Aull, Mrs. Edwin F. Earl, Mrs. William M. Hall, Mrs. William M. McKelvy.

Reception committee—Mrs. S. Jarvis Adams, chairman; Mrs. Marcellin C. Adams, Mrs. George P. Balmain, Miss M. Rens Beatty, Mrs. Robert Carson, Jr., Mrs. William H. Cassidy, Mrs. Alexander Dempster, Mrs. Thomas W. Fitch, Mrs. Franklin M. Gordon, Mrs. John Winslow Hubbard, Mrs. William S. Huselton, Mrs. Thomas C. Jenkins, Mrs. Alexander Jenkinson, Mrs. James M. Kenny, Mrs. Albert J. Logan, Mrs. F. T. F. Lovejoy, Mrs. William McConway, Mrs. Christian I. McKee, Mrs. Willis F. McCook, Mrs. William McKown, Mrs. Mortimer C. Miller, Mrs. D. C. Noble, Mrs. Henry L. Ringwalt, Mrs. Philip M. Shannon, Mrs. Otto Wuth.

Annual Ceramic Exhibit.

The annual exhibition of the Duquesne Ceramic club will be conducted next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday in the parlors on the second floor of the Hotel Schenley. On Monday evening the annual reception will be held, when the awarding of prizes will be made. The club in its work this fall has followed a different plan in previous years. This year the competitors took up the regular competitive plans of the National League of Mineral painters, of which it is a member.

MISS MYRA BOYD,
President of the Duquesne Ceramic Club.

The prize winners of the local club will thus be in line for competition with the work of other members of the league for the prizes which the league offers. This work will be placed on exhibition next summer at the Louisiana Purchase exposition in St. Louis.

The prizes offered by the Duquesne Ceramic club include a gold medal for figure work or miniature, a silver medal for vases and a bronze medal for plates, the last two classes following the plans of the National league.

The president of the club is Miss Myra Boyd, who has only waited until the annual exhibition before sailing for Europe, where she will spend the next year in study and travel. Miss Boyd will first go to Paris, where she will make definite plans for art study. She is one of the most talented and industrious of the members of the club.

President's Day.

The annual president's reception was given yesterday afternoon at the Twentieth Century clubhouse in Duquesne way. Mrs. George A. Gormly, the president of the club, was not present, and the vice president, Miss Julia M. Harding, received, assisted by the other officers and the members of the social committee. Miss Kate C. McKnight, recently elected president of the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women, was the guest of honor and made an interesting address on the "Influence of Women's Clubs—in Education and Civic Reforms."

A fine musical program was presented, consisting of songs by the Tourist club quartet, Miss Evelyn Day and Miss Emma Foltz, sopranos, and Miss Alice Stephens and Miss Ella Day, contraltos; with other numbers rendered by Miss Nellie Bender, violinist, and Miss Elizabeth Webster, pianist.

The club house was elaborately decorated with tropical plants. The fireplaces in the assembly room were banked with ferns, palms and low growing ferns were arangerd in pyramidal form on each side of the low platform and also in the four corners of the room. Chrysanthemums were the only flowers used throughout the club house. The library was prettily decorated with ferns and flowers, similar decorations appearing in the dining room where refreshments were served informally.

Little class work will be undertaken at present at the club house which received its annual opening yesterday, the current events class which will begin work next Monday morning, being the only one read to start. Lectures will be given during the winter as usual.

Meeting of the Epoch Club.

The Epoch club met yesterday at the home of Mrs. Francis D. Glover, in Craig street, Bellefield. Descriptions of the show places of England, particularly London, were given by members of the club. Mrs. Glover, the hostess, told of the London poor and the Peoples' Palace, while in sharp contrast was the bright picture presented by Mrs. Joseph Karth who described the London social season. "Royal Palaces and Palatial Residences" was the subject of a paper read by Mrs. Samuel Irvine. Mrs. E. E. Keller and Mrs. Phelps gave reminiscences of their visits to England. A program committee to arrange a course of study for next season was appointed. The committee includes Mrs. Frank Hogg, Mrs. Charles S. Howland and Mrs. Francis D. Glover. The next meeting will be on open one, conducted at the home of Mrs. Frank Taylor in Penn avenue.

Mlle. de Valliere's Recital.

Preparations are completed for the recital which Mlle. Florence de Valliere will give on Monday evening, November 9, in the Clarke studio, Oakland, under the auspices of the Art Student's league. A delightful program has been prepared and every effort will be made for the social and artistic success of the musicale. Mlle. de Valliere as a singer is a captivating interpretor of dainty French balladés. Her voice is a rich contralto. The proceeds of the recital will be used to fit up the studio with electric lights and to add to its furnishing a few other things deemed necessary. Miss Virginia Bughman is chairman of the committee of arrangements and is assisted by the different members of the league of which Mrs. Oscar A. Rogers is president; Mrs. Harry Palmer, vice president, and Miss Anna R. Craig, secretary.

Meeting of the Bath Committee.

The public baths committee met yesterday to further consider the scheme of founding a series of baths throughout the city. The success of the Thaw Free baths and the interest which is being taken in the new Public Wash house and baths in Lawrenceville, has spurred the women to greater efforts to increase the bathing facilities offered the poor throughout Pittsburgh.

Originality in Home Decoration.

In the furnishment of the homes of today we emphasize the importance and value of originality and exclusiveness in design and coloring to lift the home out of the every-day level.

Your home should be carpeted and draped as that individual house should be—and not as hundreds of others have been—Our aim is to aid you in the achievement of that end—Original and novel effects are a feature of our carpets and draperies—and our long years of experience enables us to combine them to best possible advantage. You will find things here that you cannot find elsewhere—and you will find also the ability to use them in decorative schemes to best possible advantage.

LEGAL NOTICES.

RECEIVERS' sale of the Duquesne Ice Company plant. A. M. Sunshine et al. vs. The Duquesne Ice Company. No. 627 October term, 1902. In equity. In the court of common pleas No. 2 of Allegheny county, Pa., the undersigned, receiver of the Duquesne Ice Company, by appointment of the court of common pleas No. 2 of Allegheny county, under and pursuant of an order of said court made on the 15th day of October, A. D. 1903, give notice: That on Tuesday, November 10, A. D. 1903, at 2 o'clock p. m., on the premises of said ice company, on South Sixteenth street, on the South Side of the city of Pittsburgh, Pa., near Muriel street, they will expose to public sale all and singular the real estate of the said Duquesne Ice Company, bounded and described as follows, to wit:

Beginning on the easterly side of South Sixteenth street at the distance of 114 feet northwardly from Muriel street, formerly Coal Hill street, and running thence north 1 degree 53 minutes east along the line of South Sixteenth street, 112.5 feet to line of land now or late of Mulvaney estate; thence by the last mentioned line south 88 degrees 7 minutes east 171.87 feet to the west line of South Seventeenth street, thence along said line of said street south 4 degrees 38 minutes west 112.68 feet to line of lands now or late of the Union Planing Mill Company, and thence by the line of said lands north 88 degrees 7 minutes west 165.65 feet to South Sixteenth street at the place of beginning. Together with all and singular the buildings, machinery, fixtures and equipment thereon used for the manufacture of ice.

Notice is also given that in the discretion of the said receivers said sale may be adjourned from time to time without further notice by advertisement or otherwise, except by notice given on the premises at the time or times of such adjournments, and attention of the prospective bidders is hereby called to the provisions of said order.

Said sale will be clear of all mortgages, liens, and other encumbrances whatsoever.

Notice is particularly given that out of the cash payment provided for in said order a certain mortgage which is a lien upon said premises, but which is now overdue made by George Rhey to the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York on the 23d day of May, A. D. 1892, recorded in the recorder's office of Allegheny county, in Mortgage Book 666, page 3, securing the sum of $3,500 and interest will be paid.

TERMS OF SALE—Two thousand ($2,000.00) dollars cash will be required to be paid by the purchaser on the date of the sale before the adjournment thereof. One-third (1-3) of the entire purchase money will be payable in cash on the date of the confirmation of the sale and the delivery of the deed by the undersigned by said purchaser, of the one-third, the two thousand ($2,000.00) dollars paid at the time of the sale will form a part. The remaining two-thirds (2-3) will be payable in two (2) equal annual payments from the date of the deed, with interest payable semi-annually, and the purchaser will be required to give for said payments a bond secured by a mortgage of the said premises containing clauses providing for the insurance of the said premises to the amount stated in said mortgage and bond, and further providing that in case of any default in the payment of the premiums, interest or principal for sixty (60) days, a scire facias may be entered for the collection of the said mortgage with interest, together with 5 per cent commission attorneys fees for collection. Fidelity Title & Trust Company, John D. Biggert, Receivers. J. S. & E. G. Ferguson, attorneys for receivers.

U. S. STEEL AGAIN WEAK, BUT RALLIED SLIGHTLY

The Rest of the Market Did Not Lose Much Ground--Bank Reserves Will Be Reduced. Local Stocks Averaged Lower.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

The eastern stock market again opened very weak yesterday, but as the day wore along the railroad list cut loose from the industrials, and at the close all the early losses had been recovered. Interest again centered in the Steel stocks, and the fact that London quotations were lower, prepared the street for a continuation of the decline in this department. All of the United States Steel issues opened lower than ever before, the common stock at 10¾, the preferred at 54½, and the new bonds at 66¾. A little support then appeared, the common rallying to 11⅛, and the preferred to 54⅝, but the heavy liquidation was resumed and prices again broke, this time to 10½ for the common, 52 for the preferred, and 65¾ for the bonds. These prices were recorded during the afternoon, and were the lowest in the history of the great corporation. The other industrials were affected, and Republic Iron and Steel preferred sold down to 48, a new low record. The next dividend on the common stock sold on the "curb" at 70 cents a share, while the regular quarterly rate is $1 a share. There were also some small sales of the January dividend on United States Steel common at 20 cents a share, but these transactions cannot be said to have had much influence upon the market. They were speculative sales pure and simple, for if any bona-fide holder of these stocks felt sure that the dividends would be reduced or passed entirely, he would sell his holdings. Pressed Steel Car declined to 26¼ and Tennessee Coal and Iron to 26⅜, but dealings were light.

United States Steel preferred was relatively weaker than the common, and in the final dealings the common recovered to the previous day's close, while the preferred rallied 1⅝ from the lowest, but closed at a net loss for the day of 1⅝. This was accounted for by rumors which very broadly hinted that the selling of the preferred stock, which reached 125,000 shares during the first hour and a half, was for account of a former prominent officer of the corporation whose public interviews regarding the outlook have been bullish, and who is credited with having backed his views by purchases on the decline during September and the early part of October. According to street gossip this interest liquidated large holdings of common stock last month, and the selling of the preferred yesterday and the day before was thought to be forced liquidation for the same account. A large part of the selling orders was executed by a house with foreign affiliations, but London's total transactions in the market yesterday probably did not exceed 25,000 shares of all kinds of stock, and these were equally divided between sales and purchases. The new bonds recovered ¾ per cent from the extreme low point and closed at 66⅝. Republic Iron and Steel preferred recovered all its early loss and closed unchanged for the day.

The railway list, after the early weakness, which was accompanied by comparatively slight declines, cut loose from the industrials and held fairly steady. In the final dealings they recovered all the early loss and closed steady to firm. Pennsylvania, which had declined to 116⅜, rallied to 117¾ and New York Central, after opening at 116¾, rallied to 117½. Both these standard stocks closed at net gains for the day. New York Central was helped by the publication of its earnings for October, showing an increase in gross of $367,000, and an increase since July 1 of $1,889,000. The fluctuations in Baltimore & Ohio were covered by ½ per cent, the stock selling down to 74¾ and recovering to and closing at 75¼. It was announced that the company had sold to a syndicate of bankers $10,000,000 of its bonds, the proceeds to be used for improvements. The Rockefeller-Gould stocks followed the course of the general market, and participated fully in the final rally. While the latter was in progress there was a falling off in the volume of trading, and the total sales reached only 610,000 shares, although nearly 400,000 shares were handled during the first two hours.

The advance was in the face of higher rates for call loans, which rose to 5½@6 per cent at the close. It is the general expectation that today's bank statement will make an unfavorable showing. Through their operations with the subtreasury the banks lost $7,031,000 during the week, and some estimates placed the net loss in cash through this source and the direct shipment of currency as high as $10,000,000. It was the expressed opinion that last week's bank statement did not reflect the full extent of the loss in currency up to that time, but that today's figures would include the difference as well as cover the operations of the past week, which were largest during the first three days. If these estimates should prove correct and there is no particular change in the loan item, the result will be a large reduction in cash reserves and the possible wiping out of the greater part of the surplus. Still, it cannot be said that any real apprehension is felt as to the future of the money market. It is estimated that there is between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000 gold in transit from Europe which will arrive in New York before the next bank statement is compiled, and there is little doubt that additional imports will be made if money continues to rule above the parity of foreign markets. The exports of wheat and flour for the week were 4,340,000 bushels, an increase of about 300,000 bushels over last week, but a decrease of 1,300,000 bushels compared with the corresponding week last year.

In Pittsburgh the stock market was moderately active and weak, being influenced entirely by the course of events in Wall street. The largest transactions were in United States Steel common, which sold down to 10¼, but recovered to 10⅜ at the close. The preferred sold off to 52¼, and closed at 53½ bid. Crucible Steel closed unchanged for the common and 1 per cent lower for the preferred, but the latter was in good demand at slight concessions. Manufacturers Light and Heat declined to 25, sold up to 25¾, and closed firm at 26 bid, on sales of about 1,500 shares. Philadelphia Company common declined to 35½. The coal stocks were weak and lower. Pittsburgh Coal common declined to 19 and recovered to 19¼ bid. The preferred declined to 60 and closed a shade above the lowest. A small lot of River Coal preferred sold at 27½, a decline of ½. Westinghouse Electric was dull and unchanged at 67, but closed at 67¼ bid. River Coal 6s sold down to 107, a loss of 1¾ from the last previous sale. The market closed with a little better tone.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

There was nothing in the way of rumor or actual development to disturb the local stock market yesterday, but prices were depressed by the weakness in the Steel stocks in Wall street. The Steel stocks were the greatest sufferers here, the decline in the United States issues keeping pace with the movement in the east, Pittsburgh at one time leading the decline in United States Steel common. Crucible Steel common remained unchanged, but the preferred declined to 30. Just before the close 29½ was bid for 500 shares.

Traders are already discussing the dividend prospects of Crucible Steel preferred, although the date for a consideration of the subject by the directors will not occur until December 10 next. The official announcement was made last month that the directors would not hesitate to suspend dividends on the preferred if the larger requirements of the company made such a step necessary. The regular rate of dividend requires $438,500 a quarter. If the dividend were reduced to 1 per cent quarterly the requirement would be $250,000, and the saving a year at this rate would be $7[illegible],000. Supposing the entire loan of $5,000,000 referred to in the annual report to be negotiated at 6 per cent, the annual interest charge would be $300,000, and this sum added to that required to pay 4 per cent on the preferred would be $1,050,000, or $700,000 a year less than the amount that has been annually paid out in dividends. With the market price of the stock at 30, the inference is that in the opinion of the street the next dividend will be entirely suspended. Dividends on the preferred stock, however, are cumulative, and all back dividends must be paid before the common stock gets anything.

Pittsburgh Brewing common advanced to 25½, but at the close was offered at 25¼. The preferred advanced to and closed at 41½.

Manufacturers Light & Heat was under some pressure in the early dealings and declined to 25, but it was well supported late in the day and finally closed at 26 bid.

Each day during the week there has been a steady increase in the volume of dealings on the local stock board. Last Monday the sales reached only 1,500 shares. Yesterday the total was nearly 7,500 shares, which is above the daily average for several months past.

The announcement was made yesterday that the Panhandle directors had allotted $4,750,000 preferred stock at par, to holders of both common and preferred stock as registered December 1. The proceeds of the sale are to be used for the purchase of real estate, and to reimburse the company for expenditures made out of net earnings during the current year for improvements along the line between Pittsburgh and Columbus. Subscriptions are payable December 15.

Two Italian laborers entered a Pittsburgh brokerage office yesterday and despite their meager English made known the fact that they each owned one share United States Steel preferred which they desired to sell. They volunteered the information that there were many others of their countrymen who desired to dissolve partnership with the corporation.

It was reported yesterday that the Baltimore & Ohio had sold $10,000,000 bonds to Speyer & Co. and Kuhn, Loeb & Co.

The net earnings of Southern Pacific for September decreased $121,000. The company is still putting an enormous amount of its earnings into improvements.

The Federal Trust & Savings bank of Chicago, which opened for business on October 15 last, started with $5,367,428 individual deposits and more than $886,000 bank deposits. It has a capital of $2,000,000, surplus of $500,000 and undivided profits of $217,727. E. H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel board, is president, and Charles S. Castle, cashier.

The recent cable announcements that the Bank of England has been buying gold in the open market, and had advanced the price of gold to near the coin value, are not very generally understood on this side. Anyone can take gold to the Bank of England and have it coined into gold sovereigns. This coinage is done free of charge. The Bank of England, however, does not state how long it will take to coin the gold bars into sovereigns. It may require several weeks or even several months. Meantime, the owner of the gold loses the interest on it. The result is that London bankers instead of taking their gold bars to the Bank of England to be coined, sell the gold bars in the open market. They have to take a smaller price than the coin value, but receive payment at once instead of having to wait possibly several months for it to be coined. The normal price for gold bars in London is 77 shillings and 9 pence. When there is a demand for gold bars for export, however, the Bank of England generally enters the open market and buys gold, thereby advancing the price. This advance in the price of gold bars checks the purchase of them for export. The price of gold bars was in this way recently advanced to 77 shillings 10½ pence, which is very close to the coin value. At this price London bankers find it profitable to sell their gold bars, allowing the Bank of England to absorb the floating supply of gold.

The net earnings of the Electric Company of America for the nine months ended September 30, increased 17 per cent over the same months of 1902.

Pere Marquette directors have declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1 per cent on the common stock, payable December 16.

American Cotton Oil directors have declared a 4 per cent dividend on the common, payable in two installments, and the regular semiannual dividend of 3 per cent on the preferred. The preferred dividend is payable December 1. The common dividends are payable December 1, 1903, and June 1, 1904.

ALL BUSINESS HINGING ON WEATHER CONDITIONS

Dun's Review Points Out Advantages and Disadvantages of the Present Season.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—R. G. Dun's Weekly Review of Trade will say tomorrow:

Unseasonably mild weather is making it possible for farmers to secure much late grain and cotton that seemed doomed by early frost, but, on the other hand, trade is dull in heavy wearing apparel, fuel and many lines that should now be vigorous. While in the long run this business may be made up and the nation will be benefited by the increased crops, the immediate effect is unfavorable. Manufacturing activity has increased at cotton mills and several minor industries, but in iron and steel there are more idle furnaces and mills. Building permits are decreasing, and structural work is not prosecuted with the vigor that was seen last year. Lumber is firm, despite the moderate demand. The railways continue prosperous, earnings for October surpassing last year's by 6.2 per cent.

Disappointment has been experienced by those who believed that quotations for iron and steel would go no lower. Bessemer pig at Pittsburgh holds fairly steady, but gray forge and southern foundry irons are off 25c to 50c a ton, while many forms of steel in finished condition or partly manufactured are weaker in price, although conditions improve in so far as the size of stocks is concerned. Sheets, plates, bars and cut nails are among the articles on which reductions are reported, and steel billets were put nearer a parity with pig iron, the pool price being reduced from $27 00 to $23 00. Rails are maintained at $28 00 for standard weight, the railroads constantly placing small orders. Reports of extensive export sales are heard and contradicted, but it is certain this branch of trade is reviving as prices become more attractive to foreign consumers.

With the extensive restriction of blast furnace activity there is reason to look for steadier markets in the near future, and throughout the industry it is believed that large contracts will be placed whenever buyers are satisfied that no better terms can be anticipated.

Less pronounced conservatism is shown by purchasers of cotton goods, and there is evidently more desire to secure deliveries without looking for concessions in prices.

Woolen goods are even more adversely affected by high temperatures. Many New England shoe factories have concluded fall business and are taking inventories. Hides have declined in a few isolated cases, but the general impression is that the market has reached bottom.

There were 246 failures this week in the United States, against 265 last week, 279 the preceding week and 188 the corresponding week last year. Failures in Canada this week number 22, against 15 last week, 29 the preceding week and 21 last year.

THE BANK CLEARINGS.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—The following table, compiled by Bradstreet, shows the bank clearings at the principal cities for the week ended November 5, with the percentage of increase and decrease as compared with the corresponding week last year:

Foreign Money Market.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—Bar silver steady at 27⅛d an ounce; money, 2½@3 per cent; the rate of discount for short bills is 3⅝@4 per cent; the rate of discount for three months' bills is 3 15-16@4 per cent; consols for money, 88⅝; consols for account, 88¾; money was fairly plentiful in the market today, though the considerable amount which was repaid to the Bank of England caused a hardening of rates; discounts were firmer owing to the fall in the rate of the New York exchange.

PARIS, Nov. 6.—Business on the bourse today opened indecisive and rather agitated; internationals were feeble, the market becoming heavy on the bad impression caused by the advices from New York; later there was a general improvement and at the close the market was firm. Rio Tintos lost 14 francs.

BERLIN, Nov. 6.—Stocks on the bourse today were weaker on New York advices.

SHORTS OVERWHELMED BY OFFERS OF STOCKS

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, Nov. 7.

The Herald will this (Saturday) morning say: At the close of business yesterday no doubt existed in anyone's mind as to the character of the day's selling of United States Steel stocks. On Wednesday, and also to a large degree on Thursday, most persons said that the movement was largely, if not wholly, professional. Yesterday it became clearly apparent that some very heavy liquidation had been forced by the declines, particularly in the preferred stock.

The short interest covered without difficulty and were in fact almost overwhelmed with the outpouring of long stock, which came from a dozen quarters at once. Whose loans were being forced out was a matter of conjecture, but brokers were practically unanimous that loans, and large ones, had been liquidated. Coincident with this enforced selling, there was ample professional short selling and re-purchases to take profits, but liquidation in steel stocks did not appear to be terminated at the close, even despite the late recovery.

The stock market of yesterday, for the greater portion of the day, was little more than a continuous of Thursday's session. Heavy liquidation of the steel stocks speedily established new low records for the common and preferred stock and for the "sinkings," as Wall street irreverently terms the sinking fund bonds. Under the influence of these declines the entire list wavered and went lower. But throughout the session and despite declines railroad properties showed a strong undertone and displayed quick recovering power, which changed the complexion of this division of the market before the close. Practically all the active railway stocks regained their early losses and in several conspicuous instances regained most of Thursday's loss. So far as the general list was concerned, however, widely variable changes reflected at the last and industrials lost ground.

LANGLEY PERSEVERES.

War Department Allows Him $60,000 More for Aerial Experiments.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—(Special.)—Prof. Langley is going to continue his attempts to fly through the air. He has informed the war department, which has furnished him with $50,000 for his experiment, that there will be a further trial at Widewater, Va., and he said that he expected that the next attempt would be made within the next four weeks.

He made no request for allotment of additional funds and gave no hint that he intended to solicit further financial aid. He said in his report to the board that he did not regard his efforts as a failure; on the contrary, he expressed every confidence of achieving something which would be accepted by the world as a substantial step toward mechanical flight.

Machias Reaches Beirut.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—Secretary Moody today received a dispatch announcing the arrival of the gunboat Machias at Beirut on her way to Jibuti, French Somaliland, with Consul General Skinner and the other members of the Abyssinian expedition. The Machias stopped at Beirut to take aboard a detachment of marines which is to escort the consul general's party into the interior of Abyssinia.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

Directors of United Verde Copper Company have declared a regular monthly dividend of 75 cents per share.

Twenty additional stamps have been ordered for the Jumbo for December delivery, and as the building is ready only a short time will elapse after the stamps are on the ground before they will be dropping.

Chris Knutson, superintendent of the Last Chance Mining Company, between six and seven miles from Northport, Wash., on Deep creek, reports a strike of five feet of shipping ore, when the 440 foot tunnel cut the ledge on Monday. The property is the old Silver Butte, over which there has been much litigation, and from which over 1,600 tons of ore has been shipped since 1900.

Salt Lake Tribune: H. H. Hunter, who is among the first to systematically undertake the development of lode claims in the interior of Alaska, left for Oregon last night to intercept one of his associates and with whom he will continue to Pittsburgh where plans will be arranged for further and more energetic work in the north. That the ledges of Alaska will be made even more productive than are its placers Mr. Hunter says he has no doubt whatever and, believing in it, he will return to camp as soon as the season makes it possible for him to do so.

The Daly West Mining Company has declared a regular dividend of 65 cents a share, payable November 16.

The Metal Market.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Tin was very weak in London, spot declining £1 12s 6d to £115 15s, while futures were £1 7s 6d lower at £116 15s. Locally tin was weak also, closing at $25 25@25 40. Copper declined 7s 6d for spot in London, that position closing at £57 17s, while futures were 10s lower at £57 5s. Locally copper is quiet. Lake is quoted at $13 75@14 00; electrolytic at $13 62½, and casting at $13 50. Lead remaining unchanged at $4 50 here, was 1s 3d lower in London at £11 2s 6d. Spelter closing at $6 00, was unchanged in the local market, as it was also in London, where the closing price was £21 2s 6d. Iron closed at 48s 9d in Glasgow and 42s 9d in Middlesboro. Locally iron was unsettled but showed no further change. No. 1 foundry northern is quoted at $15 00@16 00; No. 2 foundry northern at $14 25@15 00; No. 1 foundry southern and No. 1 foundry southern soft at $14 00@14 25.

HUSBAND AND WIFE CHARGE EACH OTHER WITH CRUELTY

SCRANTON, Nov. 6.—Alfred Payne of West Scranton, an officer of the Simpson Methodist Episcopal church, began proceedings today to secure a divorce. In 1890 his wife secured a divorce from him, but their mutual friends in the church, of which both were devout members, effected a reconciliation, and in June, 1900, they were remarried. A year later she again applied for divorce, on the ground of cruel treatment, but the court refused it. Now the husband is seeking divorce, alleging that Mrs. Payne has treated him cruelly.

NICOLA PROPERTY REPORTED SOLD

No. 819 Penn Avenue Goes to James K. Bennett for $50,000.

GOOD SALE IN WILKINSBURG

Four Belmar Houses Bring $24,000 and Five West Park Dwellings $17,500. Deal for Many Properties—Realty Owners Go to Court.

The latest deal for Penn avenue property reported is the sale of No. 819 for $50,000, the reported buyer being James K. Bennett, the wholesale liquor dealer. The property belonged to Mrs. Margaret L. C. Nicola, wife of Frank F. Nicola, she having owned it for several years. It is one of three similar lots directly across from the Westinghouse building and measures 20.75x60 feet, extending back to a 10-foot alley. The building is a two-story brick of little value and is occupied as an auction store. About 18 months ago it was reported that Mr. Nicola would erect a modern store and office building on this lot and the two above it, for which offers were made, but the deal never went through.

At the figure quoted, it stands at $2,891 a front foot, or $23 13 a square foot. Last summer the Vilsack lot at Penn avenue and Ninth street was sold for $85,000, or $4,250 a front foot, but, being a corner property, it is considerably more valuable. The last sale in this vicinity was that of the Samuel Hamilton holdings at Penn avenue and Barkers alley, two squares below, which were sold to Dr. R. H. M. McKenzie for $225,000. This lot measured 40x115, making the rate of sale $5,625 a front foot, or $50 22 a square foot.

New Values in Wilkinsburg.

Price records for Wood street realty in Wilkinsburg were again broken yesterday by the sale of No. 925, through the agency of R. S. Faris & Co., for $25,000. It belonged to L. K. St. Clair, general agent of the Equitable Life Insurance Company of Iowa, and the buyer is Wesley M. Holmes, a Wilkinsburg manufacturer. The lot measures 21x72 feet, is on the west side of Wood street, the second door from Penn avenue, and is a part of the old Horner property. The building is a two-story brick, which now brings a rental of $1,900 a year. The rate of sale is $1,190 a front foot, or $16 53 a square foot. The Wallace block, at Wood street and Penn avenue, was sold to A. J. Puffinburg for $100,000, or $1,515 a front foot; but the six-story building on the lot is valued at $35,000, which brings the price below that paid for the St. Clair lot. Another lot on the west side of Wood street, between Ross and South streets, brought $800 a front foot last year. The foundations of the building sold yesterday are strong enough for a six-story structure and Mr. Holmes has already had plans prepared for the addition of two more stories, which will cost, approximately, $10,000.

Four of the Frank Metcalf residences in Belmar place, Twenty-first ward, have been sold to a local investor for $24,000, or $6,000 each. The houses stand on lots 25x93 feet each on the north side of Hermitage street, near Homewood avenue. They were built two years ago by Mr. Metcalf and are nine-room reception hall dwellings with all modern conveniences, renting for $37 50 each per month. Two more similar houses at the corner of the two streets named were sold some time ago to East End parties.

Another deal in houses involving $17,500 has just been closed and is credited to the Freehold Real Estate Company. The property consists of five eight-room frame dwellings on lots 24x110 feet on the northeast side of Grove street, near Wayne avenue, West Park, McKees Rocks. They were built two years ago and were owned by J. Walter Hay. Albert H. Oyer was the buyer of three of the houses and the other two were sold to George Zitman and Theophilus Miley for homes.

A Money-Saving Deed.

A decided curiosity in the way of deeds was registered at the city hall yesterday. It was a closely written manuscript of seven pages conveying from Frank H. Scott of Braddock to John D. Stahl of Homestead 17 properties. The consideration named in the deed was $26,200, but the transfers were made subject to 25 mortgages which aggregated $78,375 more. The mortgages were placed at 5.5 and 6 per cent. As the regular rate for recording deeds and mortgages is $2.50 each, the total charge if they had been recorded singly would have been $105, and nearly one-half of that amount would have been charged if every sale and mortgage had been recorded together. Following is a list of the properties sold:

An improved lot, 22x182x171 feet, on the north side of Green street, near Trenton avenue, Third ward, Wilkinsburg; a vacant lot, 55x100 feet, at the northwest corner of the above-named streets; 66.5x67 feet at Chestnut street and Mifflin avenue, Wilkinsburg; 10 lots, 120x125 feet, in Duncan avenue, Wilkinsburg; a 16-room frame house in Wilmot street, near Frazier street, Fourteenth ward; a 20-room frame house, lot 22x77 feet, in Fairmount street, near Sandusky street, Third ward, Allegheny; six 10-room frame houses in Anderson street, Thirteenth ward; 60x80 feet in Ossipee street, 60x80 feet in Cherokee street, 30x100 feet in Carrie street, and 58x100 feet in Wadsworth street, all in the Thirteenth ward; an improved lot, 22x135 feet, in Stanton avenue, Millvale; 28x189 feet on the northwest side of Frankstown avenue, Twenty-first ward; 25x100 feet in Bristol street, Twenty-third ward; 90x160 feet on the east side of Cherokee street, Thirteenth ward; five 10-room houses, lot 60x160 feet, on the south side of Anderson street, Thirteenth ward, and 100x120 feet on the west side of South Negley avenue, near Woodmont street, Twenty-second ward.

Wilkinsburg Residents Fight Flats.

An odd realty case has been pending in court this week involving the right of an owner to build an apartment house out to the street line. The defendant is F. E. Johnson, who has the foundations in for a three-story apartment house, 63x141 feet, at the northwest corner of West and Biddle streets, Wilkinsburg. The contract price for the building was about $35,000. A 30-foot building line was established on the street some time ago and the property owners have sought to restrain Mr. Johnson from proceeding with his building, which is out to the street line. The peculiar feature in the suit is that of the eight residences in the block, all costing from $6,000 to $10,000 each, six are built only 20 feet back from the street, and the remaining two, built 30 feet back, are at the farther end of the square, where they would not be noticeably affected by the new project.

Jennie C. Childs, wife of S. W. Childs, has purchased from Harvey Childs, Jr., Anna D., A. H. and Annie T. Childs, 80x115 feet, on the west side of Amberson avenue, near Bayard street, Twentieth ward, for $22,792. The lot is improved with a large residence.

The East End Savings & Trust Company has closed the sale of the W. B. Bennett lot at the northwest corner of Collins avenue and Kirkwood street, Nineteenth ward, to W. R. Kuhn for $43,375. The lot is 67x104 feet and is improved with three two-story business blocks.

New Firm of Architects.

The firm of A. Dudgeon & Son, architects, has been enlarged by taking in Architect R. E. Hampton, and the firm name will be Dudgeon & Hampton. Besides their main office at Wood and Ross streets, Wilkinsburg, the firm has established a branch at Second and Hazelwood avenues, Twenty-third ward. They now have the following projects on the boards: Two brick houses to cost $7,000, for Mrs. Catherine Holman, in Monongahela avenue, Hazelwood; a $6,000 brick hotel for Augustus Engelman at Dorman and Broadway streets, McKees Rocks, and a three-story flat for Mrs. M. Muldoon at Second and Trenton avenues, Hazelwood.

Architects Milligan & Miller have let the contract to E. Z. Peffer for the three-story business block of A. F. Stoner in Penn avenue, Wilkinsburg, to cost $16,000.

Architect F. O. Scheibler, Jr., is preparing plans for a three-story flat for H. Nieman, to be erected in Hamilton avenue, Homewood, at a cost of $15,000.

Realty Agent Shifts Location.

W. McKee Kelley, who has been manager of the rent department of A. B. Hay, Jr., for two years, has accepted a position as salesman and renting agent with the Real Estate Trust Company.

Wilkinsburg: R. S. McDowell & Co. sold for William Everett to Mrs. Anna A. Tintsman a nine-room brick house, lot 26x120 feet, on the south side of Biddle avenue, near Mifflin avenue, Third ward, Wilkinsburg, for $6,200.

Mt. Vernon street: F. W. Haas & Co. sold for George J. Keller to a Bloomfield business man a new seven-room brick house, lot 24x100 feet, in Mt. Vernon street, near Murtland avenue, Twenty-first ward, for $3,200.

Reed street: The Aronson Realty Company sold for M. Schniroff to Mrs. Sarah Anderson, No. 79 Reed street, two brick houses, for $3,000.

Luella place: Josephine B. Fullwood sold to John Fite a 10-room frame house, lot 52x110 feet, in the Luella place plan, Nineteenth ward, for $6,500.

Sales in East End Wards.

Frankstown avenue: Minnie J. Ellis estate sold to Florence B. Keally a 10-room brick house, lot 35x135 feet, on the north side of Frankstown avenue, Twenty-first ward, for $6,200.

Coffee and Sugar.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—The coffee market opened quiet at unchanged prices to a decline of 10 points under heavy liquidation by recent buyers who were apparently discouraged by the rather more optimistic reports received concerning the crop. On the other hand the cables were fairly steady and with receipts for the day moderate the decline attracted fresh supporting orders from various sources and part of the loss was regained. Later, however, buying became less prominent and the market was finally steady at unchanged prices to a decline of 10 points. Sales were 91,000 bags, including December at 5.70@5.75c; January at 5.80c; March at 5.95@6.00c; May at 6.15@6.20c; July at 6.25@6.30c; and September at 6.35@6.45c; No. 7 Rio, 6 9-16c. Sugar—Raw quiet; fair refining, 3 5-16c; centrifugal 96 test, 3 13-16c; molasses sugar, 3 1-16c; refined quiet; crushed, 5.30c; powdered, 4.80c; granulated, 4.70c.

EASIER CONDITIONS RULE FLOUR MARKET

Few Changes Made in Grocery Prices—String Beans Scarce and Higher.

Weaker conditions prevailing at milling centers occasioned some uncertainty as to what should be done with flour quotations in the local market, resulting finally in a decline of 5 cents a barrel on the part of some of the jobbers, others contenting themselves with merely making a concession of that amount where orders were attractive. Wheat has been somewhat easier in the northwest, and for that reason a concession of 10 cents a barrel was made by mills. But as the output is not equal to the demand, though large, wholesale grocers are not all able to see the reason for putting down prices when supplies are not adequate to take care of the trade already ordering. The Northwestern Miller is authority for the statement that mills in Minnesota are doing a largely increased export business, in addition to a good domestic trade, and that most of the output is sold ahead. The product is not so heavy as it was a year ago, when the output was the greatest ever known, partly due to the fact that plants are not running quite so smoothly since the strike, and that the wheat is tougher and less flour can be made with a given amount of machinery. Nevertheless progress is being made, and supplies here, though short, are better than they were a week ago.

There was some talk of a change in sugar prices yesterday, but if the local association of wholesalers decided to do anything in this line it was carefully concealed, and has not been given to the public. Refiners are running on the smallest margin ever known, and are not likely to reduce prices, nor are they apparently anxious to make any immediate advances. Brokers argue that any change to be made just now would be of a local nature. Coffee is steady, and the demand is increasing. Few changes in prices are being made in grocery lines and price lists which reach the trade on Monday will be largely similar to those last sent out.

The only change made in produce prices yesterday was an advance in string beans, the market showing much more strength on account of the small quantity offered. Potatoes hold their own, and sell steadily but not in heavy quantities; while sweet potatoes are just about steady, with demand fair. Hothouse cucumbers are in demand, at quotations. Apples are selling fairly well, but the demand is not active, while grapes are moving just about rapidly enough to keep the balance between supply and demand even.

Receipts of hay were moderate, and prices are unchanged. There is still an unsatisfied call for rye straw, which dealers are unable to secure. A few customers will purchase no other kind of straw, and they are now in the market, but are unable to cover their requirements satisfactorily.

GRAINS ONCE MORE TAKE AN UPWARD TURN

Wheat, Corn and Oats All Closed at Advance in the Chicago Pits.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—Firm cables caused a better tone in wheat at the start, and December opened a shade to ⅛@¼ higher, at 78⅜ to 78½c. Confirmation of a report that a million bushels of No. 1 northern had been chartered at Duluth to come here, brought out quite general liquidation early in the session and the market turned weak. On the decline there was a good demand from shorts and commission houses and with lessened offerings prices again started upward. The strength in corn was a bull factor during the latter part of the day as were higher prices in outside markets with a fair advance at St. Louis. Reports of over 80 boatloads taken for export, caused a sharp demand from shorts during the last few minutes of trading, and closing prices were at the top notch of the day. Primary receipts were 1,342,000 bushels, against 1,860,000 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis, Chicago and Duluth reported receipts of 973 cars, against 884 cars last week and 1,084 cars a year ago.

The sentiment in the corn pit was bullish and the market ruled strong. There were reports from Nebraska and other sections of the corn belt showing a good deal of soft grain and the theory upon which the local crowd was working was that in another week or 10 days the pressure from the old corn would be over and this poor corn would then begin to come on the market. Commission houses were active buyers, but offerings were only moderate. Local receipts were 252 cars, with 29 of contract grade.

Oats were strong, particularly the December option, which was influenced largely by a strong cash situation and the strength of the nearby delivery helped the more distant ones. The bullish feeling in corn influenced a good deal of buying by the local crowd. Local receipts were 155 cars.

Provisions were dull and easier, along with a decline in the price of hogs. Packers were credited with moderate sales, but the buying was scattered. January pork closed 22½c lower at $12 65, January lard was down 20c at $6 75, and ribs were off [illegible] at $6 27½@6 30.

The Drygoods Market.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—The drygoods market has been restricted to a certain extent by the reluctance of buyers in accepting certain of the offers which have been made. But buyers are more willing to anticipate their requirements to a certain extent and are obliged to pay a firmer scale of prices than was the case a few days ago.

One Good Oil Well Was All That Relieved the Monatony

With a single exception all of the wells drilled in or completed in the Lower Southwest fields yesterday were light or dry. Northeast of the Pine Grove extension, on Morris run, Wetzel county, W. Va., the South Penn Oil Company drilled its test on the Anthony W. Showalter farm through the Gordon and has a duster. The outlook for extending this development is very discouraging. The duster just completed makes the sixth dry hole since the initial well was drilled in.

On Buffalo run, Center district, Wetzel county, the Kanawha Oil Company has completed and shot its No. 101 on the John Mills tract and the well produced 150 barrels the first 12 hours from the Gordon. This is the best producer completed on that tract for many months and headed the list of completed wells drilled in yesterday. Northwest of the Pine Grove field the Philadelphia Company's test on the E. D. Winning farm is a duster. In the same district and formation, the Tri-State Gas Company's test on the James Furbee farm is also a duster.

In the Fallen Timber Run district, Smith & Carnahan have completed the rig for a test on the J. B. Morris farm. The same company has a rig up on the J. R. Johnson farm.

Snyder & Co.'s test on the N. S. Snyder farm is holding up at 200 barrels a day. They are building the rig for No. 2 and have made the location for No. 3 on the same farm.

On Franks run, Doddridge county, the South Penn Oil Company has started a test on the M. A. Phillips farm. Near Center Point, in the same county, the Rush Oil Company has made the location for a test on the George Cumberledge farm.

In the Folsom district, Wetzel county, the South Penn Oil Company has shot its No. 3 on the P. G. Hall farm and will have a fair pumper. The same company has drilled its No. 18 on the Fairfield Peterson farm, 20 feet into the Gordon and the hole has filled up 1,500 feet with fluid. In the same district No. 47 on the Genine Robinson tract has been drilled into the Gordon a few feet and is showing some oil.

On Dudley Fork, Mannington district, Marion county, the South Penn Company has shot its second test on the T. B. Holbert farm in the Big Injun sand, and the well produced 25 barrels the ensuing 12 hours.

Near Salem, Harrison county, the South Penn Company drilled its test on the Hugh Romine farm 8 feet into the Gordon and found no oil. In the same district, the South Penn Company drilled its second test on the W. A. Ridgeway farm through the Gordon and the hole filled up 1,200 feet with fluid.

In the Turkey-foot extension, Hancock county, near the state line, Sutton Bros. have completed a test on the R. Freshwater farm and have a duster. In the same district, the Phoenix Oil Company has drilled its second test on the I. M. Young farm through the sand and has a small showing of oil.

Near West Union, Doddridge county, M. Murphy & Jennings Bros. have completed their No. 20 on the Porter Maxwell farm and have a show for a 15-barrel pumper. In the same district, the Southern Carbon Black Company has a rig completed for a test on the Charles Lonacre farm.

Developments on the Ohio side were very light. But one well was reported complete. It is the Carter Oil Company's No. 9 on the J. A. & A. J. Watson farm, located near Scottown, Washington county, and is good for 10 barrels a day to the Big Injun.

North of Undercliffe, Allegheny county, Pa., the American Natural Gas Company's well on the Leight farm has struck its gait and is producing 85 barrels a day with creditable regularity.

PANHANDLE ISSUES STOCK TO PAY FOR IMPROVEMENTS

The directors of the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis railroad have voted for an issue of $4,750,000 preferred stock, which will be offered to the holders of full shares of preferred and common stocks as registered December 1. They will have the privilege of subscribing at par value to 10 per cent of the number of full shares standing in their names.

The issue is to be applied to construction work during the year 1903 and real estate purchases, some of which have not yet been made known owing to undeveloped plans of the Panhandle. The construction work done during 1903 was paid for out of the net earnings of the company, and the treasury will be reimbursed to the full amount.

Secretary S. B. Liggett said last night that there is no other significance to the stock issue. The action was taken by the directors at a meeting held in Philadelphia October 28. The stock will be taken, it is thought, without any trouble. The subscription must be paid on or before December 12.

During the present year much double-track work has been done in the Pittsburgh district, which required the purchase of costly right of way. Vast improvements were also started at Columbus, which as yet have not been completed. Some of the real estate bought during the past year, it is said, will be used for improvements to be made during the coming year.

Scalpers Get a Decision.

If the decision of the supreme court of New York will have any bearing in St. Louis during the fair, the railroads will likely be up against it as far as scalpers are concerned. The decision referred to has just been given in an injunction case which was appealed by the railroads a year ago. It favors the scalpers in so far that the court held that the railroads were not entitled to an injunction (against the scalpers) inasmuch as they are mainly responsible for the brokers' existence by aiding and abetting them, and that the railroads are guilty of violating the laws as charged against the scalpers.

The appeal grew out of an injunction taken against the Buffalo brokers during the Pan-American fair. The railroads refused to grant low rates to the Buffalo show unless the scalping of tickets was prohibited, and the injunction was taken out for this purpose. Upon a hearing, however, it was dissolved, hence the appeal. The most prominent railroad officials of the east have been identified with the suit, and the ruling of the higher court, which has just been made known, comes as a hard blow.

A passenger official of the Pennsylvania lines west said yesterday that the citizens of St. Louis would likely be appealed to to support the railroads in fighting the scalpers, if not they are not requested to take steps to rid the city altogether of the ticket brokers. If this is not done, possibly the same course will be followed as in Buffalo. The Central and Western Passenger associations are up in arms against the illegitimate practice, and on the even of the large show there is a strong possibility of one of the most bitter fights being waged. The railroads have won out in Pennsylvania only to be harrassed in other states. The Pennsylvania system has been among the first to attack the scalpers, and if the fight comes up in St. Louis the officials of this system, particularly those of the lines west, may be counted on for much valuable advice. E. A. Ford, general passenger agent of the lines west at Pittsburgh, perhaps stands at the head of the list.

Losing Much Freight.

As a result of the shut-down of the Pencoyd works of the American Bridge Company, the Pennsylvania and Reading roads are losing a large tonnage. An official of the Pennsylvania said yesterday that the roads derived about $50,000 monthly in freight revenues from the Pencoyd plant, 40 per cent of which went to the Penny.

In speaking of the permanent closing of the plant or its removal to the Pittsburgh district, the official said: "While I am not in a position to speak of the affairs of the Steel Corporation, it seems to me and from what I have heard from other officials that the plant is closed only for a time. Labor troubles in various parts of the country are believed to be responsible for the shut-down. The Pennsylvania railroad has always got a good share of the business from Pencoyd, and previous to the close of the plant there was no perceptible decrease in the tonnage going and coming from Pencoyd."

Knell of Baggage Smashers.

The Michigan Central is conducting experiments with a self-loading baggage car which not only saves time but baggage. The car is fitted with a pneumatic elevator and carries with it a padded truck. The baggage is loaded on this and the truck is run on a steel platform, which, when unfolded, extends about three feet outside the car. This platform is raised and lowered by means of compressed air furnished from the train line. The air is controlled by a lever on the side of the car door. The truck carries from nine to 12 trunks. The car itself is also novel in construction, as its underframe practically prohibits it being telescoped.

Railroad Notes.

The Central Freight association will meet in Chicago next week, when east-bound grain rates from East St. Louis will be discussed.

A. A. Heard, general eastern agent of the Delaware & Hudson at New York, has been made assistant general passenger agent with headquarters at Albany.

On account of Thanksgiving day the Central Passenger association has authorized a round trip rate of one and one-third fares from points within a radius of 150 miles.

The transportation officials of the Pennsylvania railroad will meet with those of the Southern railway on Monday in Philadelphia to arrange the winter schedule of Florida trains.

The Wabash will have 15 tracks running from the main line to its new station at the entrance to the St. Louis fair. Arrangements are being made by that road to handle 50,000 people daily.

The advisability of fixing a limit to the membership of the Pennsylvania railroad Y. M. C. A. and the restoration of the membership fee to $5 are questions being considered by the committee of management.

The shipments of coal and coke originating on the Pennsylvania railroad lines east of Pittsburgh and Erie for the week ending October 31 amounted to 795,723 tons. Of this amount 77,212 tons were anthracite, 582,841 tons bituminous and 135,670 tons coke. For the 10 months of the calendar year the shipments amounted to 34,333,314, an increase of 2,959,969 tons.

The interstate commerce commission on Monday will resume its investigation in Chicago into the grain elevator system of the Union Pacific. The company is charged with paying higher rates for the services at certain elevators than other railroads, which is said to be method of giving rebates to the owners of the elevators.

SHOT HIM TO DEATH.

Kentucky Justice of Peace Turned on Man Who Threatened His Life.

BOWLING GREEN, KY., Nov. 6.—Magistrate Elijah Upton today shot and killed Tom Stewart, a well-to-do farmer at Richardsville. The shooting was the result of the issuing of a warrant by Squire Upton for Stewart's arrest upon the application of the latter's son, following a quarrel over politics.

The boy's father heard of the son's intention and sent word to the magistrate that if he issued a warrant he would kill him on sight. Stewart and Squire Upton met on the street today and after some words, the latter shot and killed Stewart.

CUT IN BILLETS CAUSES A SLUMP

AN EARLY BREAK IN LONDON

This Has Its Effect Also Upon the New York Stock Market—Steel Shares Are Dumped Into the Hopper in 1,000 Share Lots.

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau,
NEW YORK, Nov. 6.

Official admission by representatives of the United States Steel Corporation that there had been a reduction of $4 per ton in the price of steel billets to $23 a ton, and belief in many quarters that this meant corresponding reductions in many finished articles of steel, caused further demoralization in the steel shares today. New low records were reached at the opening in the steel stocks. The preferred was poured out in 1,000-share lots at the beginning, 6,000 shares changing hands simultaneously at 54¼ and 54⅜ as against 54⅝ yesterday's closing price. Of the common, 2,600 shares came out at 10¾ and 10⅝. The previous low records were 54⅛ yesterday for the preferred and 10⅞ for the common.

The market here was more or less demoralized by the break in these shares in London before the opening. Under heavy sales the preferred had sold as low as 53½ on the other side, and the common at 10½. Many selling orders in these stocks for London account were executed at the opening, it being reported that a well-known firm on the other side was closing out its holdings because it did not care to secure any further loans on them.

Other steel stocks opened at lower prices, including Tennessee Coal, which started ½ down at 27¼ and soon declined to 26¾, and Republic Steel. Another feature of weakness was Amalgamated Copper, but the general railroad list did not suffer much.

After some little steadiness in the steels due to covering of shorts, they broke violently again, and the sinking fund bonds, which were fairly steady at the opening, also reached a new low record.

Steel preferred under heavy offerings ran off to 52⅝ in a very few minutes, lots of 1,000 to 2,500 shares coming out on the way down. The common stock did not go below its early low price of 10⅝ on this movement, but the sinking fund bonds ran off to 65¾. There were intervals of ¼ to ⅝ between some of the sales of the bonds, showing anxiety to get out.

After this depression there was a rally shortly before noon. Steel preferred recovering to 54 and the common to yesterday's closing. At the close of the market common stood at 11 and the preferred was back at 53⅝.

CADETS DISMISSED FROM NAVAL ACADEMY

Commander Brownson Intends to Suppress Hazing at All Hazards.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—The secretary of the navy today ordered the dismissal from the naval academy of three first class cadets, J. D. Little of Ohio; J. H. Lofland of Iowa, and E. W. Chaffee of Wisconsin.

The three young men were tried by court-martial on the charge of hazing, the specifications stating that they forced several "plebes," or fourth class men, to perform the more rigorous parts of the setting up exercises.

Captain Brownson, superintendent of the naval academy, was at the navy department today conferring with Acting Secretary Darling in regard to these cases. He stated plainly that hazing would be stopped at the academy if drastic measures had to be adopted. The cases of these young men, who palpably infringed the regulations of the academy, he hoped, would be an example to the cadets.

LOOKING UP THE RECORDS OF TWO MEN FROM BOSTON

Harvey Woodside and J. G. Roach of Boston, who have been living on Mt. Washington for some time, were committed to jail yesterday for 10 days until the detectives can look up their records. They were arrested at the Hotel Metropole, in Fourth avenue, on Thursday on complaint of G. W. Swearinger of Wellsville, O., whose room was entered and robbed of a $100 watch and chain and a diamond pin. The watch was found in Woodside's shoe and the chain was found in the men's room on Mt. Washington.

P. R. R. Limited in a Collision.

HARRISBURG, Nov. 6.—The Chicago Limited collided with a Cumberland Valley railroad draft of cars in the Pennsylvania railroad yards in this city last night, slightly injuring Joseph Lehr, engineer, and Frank F. Schreck, fireman, of Harrisburg, and F. M. Atterholt of Akron, O., a passenger.

AMERICA'S CHARMING CONTRALTO.

CHARLOTTE GUYER GEORGE.

Miss George has also gained a great deal of favor as a composer, and her many Pittsburgh friends will be pleased to know that The Gazette will give a copy of her latest song, "Country" free with Sunday's issue.

THE GUDFELDER CASE IN HIGHER COURT

DR. RIDENOUR IS ACQUITTED

Sold Cocaine to a Policeman, but Jury Found No Law to Prevent It—Two Damage Suits Against American Guaranty Company.

The appeal of the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis Railroad company in the test damage suit brought by Edward A. Gudfelder was argued in the supreme court yesterday. Gudfelder was injured as a result of the naptha explosion on May 12, 1902, in the Sheraden yards. He brought suit in common pleas No. 3 and on the trial Judge S. A. McClung submitted to the jury the question whether or not the company's alleged negligence in hauling the broken naptha car past a lighted switch lamp was the proximate cause of Gudfelder's injuries at Cook's run, nearly a mile away. The jury found that it was. The verdict was taken, subject to the court's opinion on the question of law reserved, which was whether there was any evidence that the injuries to the plaintiff were the proximate result of the defendant's negligence. The court subsequently entered judgment for Gudfelder upon the ground that the question of proximate cause was for the jury. Gudfelder was given $11,416 damages.

The questions involved before the supreme court are: "Was the alleged negligence of the defendant in the Sheraden yard the proximate cause of the plaintiff's injuries?" and "was the question of proximity of cause for the jury?"

Tibbey Estate Case Argued.

An appeal from the orphans court in the estate of James Tibby, deceased, was heard, on petition of J. R. W. Tibby and W. C. Tibby. James Tibby died in 1879, leaving considerable property in Pittsburgh and Wilkins township. By his will he left his real estate to three sons with a remainder to their sons, his wife receiving her dower rights. In a codicil, written after the death of one of the sons the word children was used. The real estate was not divided until 24 years after Tibby's death and later the question was raised as to whether under the will and codicil the grandsons alone inherited, or whether the granddaughters did not also have an interest in the estate.

In the case of the school district of Munhall, appellant, vs. the school district of Mifflin township, a tangle over school debts and property is brought before the court.

The case of Irene S. Fry, et al, appellants, vs. the Mercantile Trust Company is an action over a trust given to the company. Later she filed a revocation and in the lower court a bill to sustain the revocation was dismissed. The case of Annie L. Kerlin, appellant, vs. John C. Knipp, is an action over a real estate transaction.

Dr. Ridenour Acquitted.

Dr. Samuel H. Ridenour was tried in criminal court before Judge Elliott Rodgers on a charge of selling cocaine without a prescription, made against him by Inspector of Police Bernard McStay. The jury returned a verdict of not guilty.

Three boxes of the drug were purchased from Dr. Ridenour by Policeman J. C. Muncey, who testified to this on the stand. The defense set up that Dr. Ridenour had a right to sell the drug and that he could not be held for the way people used it. The defendant admitted selling the drug, but said he did not know there was any law to prohibit him from doing so.

The United States circuit court will open on next Monday morning for its fall session, with the Hon. Marcus W. Acheson, circuit judge, and the Hon. Joseph Buffington, judge, on the bench. Clerk of Court H. D. Gamble said yesterday that it was doubtful if any of the cases would be tried Monday, as he thought the evidence would not be ready. Two cases are scheduled for the day, Lydia B. Arter versus the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company of Milwaukee and the Tennessee Coal, Iron & Railroad Company versus the American Foundry and Pipe Company.

Insurance Company Alleges Suicide.

Mrs. Arter sues for $5,000 damages alleged to be due on an insurance policy taken out by her husband. The insurance company refuses to pay the amount, as it claims Mrs. Arter's husband committed suicide by shooting himself and that they do not pay policies where the holder kills himself.

Albert and William Braun entered separate suits against the American Guaranty Company of Chicago to recover $500 each for alleged breach of contracts. The bills are similar. Albert avers that on October 22, 1902, E. H. Gardiner, an agent of the company, entered into a verbal contract by which the plaintiff, on the payment of $500 and subsequent payments of $500 in one year and $500 in two years, making a total sum of $1,500, was to receive a "policy contract" by which it was stipulated he would be entitled to and the company would pay $5,000 at the end of six years, or $10,000 at the end of 20 years. He says he paid $500, but the policy he was offered and refused to accept did not agree with the verbal contract he had made with Gardiner, but required him to pay $500 annually for five years and he would then receive $10,000 on September 5, 1922. He sues to recover the amount paid.

WILL PAY FOR ROAD.

County Commissioners Decide to Pay for Saltsburg Improvements.

The county commissioners yesterday decided to pay the final estimate on the contract for the improvement of the Saltsburg road. The action was taken on the report of the committee appointed to inquire into the charges made by a number of citizens along the road, who were given a hearing several weeks ago by the commissioners and testified under oath that the road had not been completed according to specification by Booth & Flinn, the contractors. The commissioners named F. W. Patterson, county engineer; F. W. Gordon and S. C. Alter to investigate the condition of the improvement, and with County Controller Cunningham the committee went over the road.

The commissioners decided to pay the entire amount due on receiving the following report from County Road Engineer F. W. Patterson:

"Your committee appointed to investigate the condition of this road has complied with your request and I desire to report as follows, which has been agreed upon and will be approved by the balance of the committee, if you desire to interview them.

"As chief engineer of this department and solely responsible for the condition of this—as all the roads—I would state that I have no reason to regret having sworn to the final estimate that was presented to you for your approval. This road is in first-class condition, and is, in fact, one of the finest roads that we have today. Any defects that may later occur in the road will, of course, be repaired and charged up to the contractors, Messrs. Booth & Flinn, which has been the custom from time to time.

"I wish further to state that, having gone over the freight bills of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company to ascertain the weights of material shipped and delivered to the road, as a check against our measurements of cars to ascertain the cubical contents of material delivered, I find that there is an excess of five tons above the requirements of the specifications of this department.

"In conclusion I have no reason whatever to change my former decision on the Saltsburg road which prompted me to make affidavit on the final estimate."

A postscript appended to the letter mentions a slight defect where the macadam has been washed away for a distance of 50 feet, which Mr. Gordon has offered to place in repair. The postscript was signed by Gordon.

An additional letter from J. H. Cook, engineer in charge, was referred to the commissioners, and he states the road is of the most perfect construction and refers to the persons who made the charges as persons "to whom I had refused favors in front of their property."

Controller Cunningham said that he had not decided what he shall do when the warrant is presented to him.

Haymaker's Busy Days.

District Attorney Haymaker has announced that he intends to clear the criminal court docket of all cases that came before him during his term, and would leave nothing as a legacy for his successor, Maj. Robert E. Stewart. This means busy times for Mr. Haymaker, as there are a number of important cases to be rushed through, including the Charles Cawley murder case and that of Private John Dowd and Lieut. Ralph Drury on a charge of manslaughter for the killing of William Crowley. The second trial of Mayor W. B. Hays for discharging old soldiers from office will also come up.

LEGAL BRIEFS.

A decree in divorce was made in the suit of Nellie May against Albert May.

The will of George Topham was filed and letters taken out by William J. B. Topham and Attorney George D. Riddle.

The following executions were issued yesterday: Dr. R. C. Beatty vs. Clara Tomer, $59; First National bank of Pittsburgh vs. William Peebles, trustee, $10,081 18; A. Pearce for use vs. H. Pickford, $123.

The congregation Ahavas Achim of McKees Rocks, has applied for a charter. The application is signed by Max Lebovitz, president; Max Friedman, vice president; Isaac B. Herring, secretary, and Isadore Greenberger, treasurer. Attorney Greenberger represents the congregation.

In the juvenile court the question was raised but not decided whether a Morganza parole, committed under the old act empowering magistrates to send children to the reform school upon being taken into custody, should be turned over to the probation officers of the juvenile court or taken in charge by the parole officers.

The will of Roseanna Doyle, late of Allegheny, has been probated. The estate is valued at $3,000 and she leaves her son, Leslie C., and daughter, Lida C., her real estate in the Sixth ward, Allegheny, for life, with the provision that it then reverts to the St. Francis hospital. She stipulates that the hospital shall care for another daughter, Anna Mary, who is a patient there, until the latter's death occurs.

Z. McD. Miller has entered a $5,000 damage suit against Perry G. Bailey for alleged false arrest on last Wednesday. On that date, he says, he was standing opposite his residence at No. 1600 Center avenue, when he was arrested without cause by Bailey and locked up in No. 2 police station for two hours. He is 60 years old and avers the officer squeezed his arm violently and threatened to strike him with a club when he begged to have the pressure on his arm released. He says he was discharged by the magistrate the next morning.

AUSTRIA, RUSSIA AND TURKEY STILL DICKERING

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 6.—In consequence of the porte's reply, pleading the superfluity of the new reform scheme for Macedonia on the ground that Turkey is carrying out the proposals previously agreed to, it is believed that Austria and Russia will send an ultimatum giving the Turkish government a fixed term within which to accept the proposals, and that in the event of another refusal the two powers will take steps to compel Turkish action.

CANADIANS HISSED THE AMERICAN AUTHOR

VANCOUVER, B. C., Nov. 6.—As showing the depth of resentment over the success of the United States in the Alaska boundary matter, during the performance of a minstrel troupe here the music of the American anthem was vigorously hissed. When the flag formed itself in the stage lights, the expressions of dissent became so loud that the curtain was hastily rung down.

BOLL WEEVIL IS FACTOR IN THE MARKET

INSECT IS UNCONQUERABLE

Secretary of Department of Agriculture at Dallas, Texas, Confessed Inability of Scientists to Cope With It—The Owners Hold for Higher Price.

(By Private Wire to The Gazette.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—The statistical position of cotton is responsible for the steady advance both of the spot product and the speculative options. The most important influence upon the market today was the statement made by Secretary Wilson, of the department of agriculture, at the Cotton convention, in Dallas, Texas, in which he said:

"As far as my observations and information go, we cannot exterminate the boll weevil pest and we cannot keep it this side."

As that statement was based on information which had been gathered by the government after years of experiments at great cost, it had the effect of increasing the purchase of spot cotton by American spinners, who have kept out of the market expecting lower prices for the staple.

There was plenty of excitement in the market as it was evident that the Wall street contingent, which had taken the short side on the theory that a reaction was due, were inclined to cover. The bull leaders were so confident of a short crop and large consumptive demand that they were not inclined to sell even at what must be a large profit at present quotations.

The demand for spot cotton for shipment to Europe is still very large. The great bulk of the crop is now being received at outports, but it is not sufficiently large to break the price for the actual staple. The New England mills, which have been holding off expecting lower prices, are now buying at fully ½ cent per pound above the price at which they could have secured a large amount of cotton some weeks ago.

CAMPAIGN TOO MUCH FOR COMPTROLLER GROUT

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—(Special.)—Comptroller Grout is almost on the verge of physical collapse. Today it was with difficulty he managed to reach his office where he sank into a chair with the remark: "I am utterly exhausted." He looked very pale. At 5 o'clock the comptroller left for his vacation. He will take a trip to Hot Springs, Va. He expects to be absent a week.

Boilermakers Will Meet Here.

A division in the ranks of the Brotherhood of Boilermakers and Iron Ship Builders is probable and the management will have to step down if the present plans materialize. A special convention is to be held in Pittsburgh, on November 30 which will have full power and this means they can elect national officers and discharge those serving. Thomas H. Flynn, national organizer for the American Federation of Labor, is a candidate for the presidency and the indications are he will be elected. He is a boilermaker.

A Lady's Lunch

Has been rudely defined by some cynic as "slops and sweets." And after all there's more truth than poetry in the definition. Ice cream and cake may satisfy the palate, but they are far from satisfying to the stomach, which requires that food be nutritious first and nice afterward. By careless eating women pave the way for stomach "trouble," and its kindred miseries.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is confidently commended as a cure for diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. By curing diseases which prevent the assimilation of food it enables the body to be built up and strengthened in the only way known to nature—by food digested and assimilated.

"For twelve long months I suffered untold misery," writes Mrs. Mollie Colgate, of Randolph, Charlotte Co., Va. "No tongue could express the pain that I endured before I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's medicine. I was not able to do anything at all. Could not eat anything except bread and tea—or if I did the top of my head hurt so it seemed it would kill me; with all that I could do it would burn like fire. But now, since using your 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Favorite Prescription,' I can eat a little of almost anything I want, and can do a good day's work as well as anybody can. Am better than I have been for years."

Terra alba is used in many candy factories to mix with the sugar because it adds weight and cheapens the product.

We make up a pound box every Saturday for your Sunday eating—half a pound of the most delicious Mixed Chocolates (not the cheap chocolate creams) and the other half pound a toothsome blending of Casino bonbons, [illegible], burnt almonds, orange jelly, fresh nut caramels, maple fudge, etc.

Try your first 25c box and we can count upon you as a steady customer forever afterward.

FRAMED PICTURES

You scarcely have too many pictures on your walls—providing they're good ones. "Good ones" does not necessarily mean pictures that cost a lot of money.

If the conception is a happy one, the execution correct and the colors lifelike and true to nature, the picture becomes a treasure, even though it be a 10c chromo.

(Moreover the framing counts for a lot.)

We have a superb new line of framed pictures in mezzotints and colors. Some of every size—landscapes, groups, heads, animals, etc.—an exhibit almost as interesting as the Loan Exhibition at Carnegie hall. You could almost buy our entire stock for the price some artists set upon a single painting.

Come and see them.

WELL-DRESSED MEN WEAR THESE

SWELL MEN WEAR SAVOY SHIRTS. If the correct thing in a colored dress shirt is what you want for Sunday, let us show you the new Savoys. We have a line of fall designs which patterns and colorings will meet the wants of the most fastidious. The Savoy is distinguished for its perfect-fitting qualities—for comfort, for durability. Laundrymen like the Savoy because it is easy to do up and will stand even the harshest usage successfully. Our prices $1 and $1.50.

THE HIGH STANDARD HEALTH UNDERWEAR. Men who wear Wright's Knit Undergarments know full well that they are unsurpassed in warmth, comfort and durability, non-irritating features and sanitary qualities. Our prices $1 and $1.50.

DO YOU WEAR BLACK STOCKINGS? Men's fine black double thread Cashmere Hose that will meet every expectation of satisfactory wear for 25c

CAN'T DO BUSINESS WITHOUT AN OVERCOAT. The man who deals with the outside world from now on will work under a serious handicap if he appears in public overcoatless. Might as well go hatless. Our new lines of men's fall and winter overcoats in oxford greys, fancy mixed cheviots and kerseys, either blue or black, start at $10 and stop at $25, with plenty of between prices.

FOR MEN WHO ARE PARTICULAR. We like to see a man come into our Clothing Department who cares how he looks—the sort of men who insist upon clothing whose style, fit and workmanship must be faultless. We are fitting out whole regiments of such men with fall and winter suits in Cheviots, Cassimeres, Clays, Thibets and Worsteds at $10, $12.50 and upward to $25.00.
